SUN DEVILS FOOTBALL 2000

OUTLOOK

Ryan Kealy

Entering the 2000 football season, Arizona State Head Coach Bruce Snyder has a number of reasons to be optimistic. With 47 returning letter-winners, including seven starters on offense and six on defense, an incoming recruiting class that has been ranked as high as eighth in the nation and a wide-open Pac-10 Conference field, the future looks bright for the Sun Devil football program heading into the fall.

But what doesn't show up on the depth chart or the statistics sheets is what could be called the X-factor for the Sun Devils, a quality that Snyder sees as one of the most exciting aspects of his team as he and his staff prepare for the upcoming season.

"We have a lot of returning players and if we do it right, that will work to our advantage. But one of the most exciting things about this season is that we have some really dynamic leadership on this team," said Snyder, who guided the Sun Devils to the team's third bowl appearance in four years last season with an invitation to the Jeep Aloha Bowl. "There is a real sense among this group coming up through this program that sees where we could be and where we haven't been. They are determined to not let that happen again.

"There are some really good young leaders on this team and the way they recruited for us this year is one of the signs of that young, emerging leadership. The nationally ranked class that we signed is squarely on the shoulders of our returning players," he said. "A lot of good things are happening with this team. Players like Brian Forth, Mike Aguirre, Todd Heap, Levi Jones, Scott Peters, Davaren Hightower, Craig Koontz and Willie Daniel are good, young leaders, good people and good students. There is not any extra baggage with those players that could hurt you."

While the Sun Devils have some areas to address and some roles to define, Snyder expects his team to be up to the challenge of becoming a championship football team. He knows reaching their goals will take hard work and patience, in other words, "One at a Time."

"Our objective has been to really put a premium on finding out our personnel situation, in terms of finding out where we are strong, where players playing the right position, where did we need help. Spring ball gave us an opportunity to see how many of those freshmen that we red-shirted last season can make an impact now into their first year of competing for playing time," Snyder, who is only second to the legendary Frank Kush in wins at ASU, said. "We also have two new coaches on offense in running backs coach Vincent White and offensive line coach George Yarno. That transition has been terrific – as good as it could be. I'm really pleased with Coach White and Coach Yarno, and I believe the players feel like it was a really smooth transition for them, too. On defense, we want to have a more attacking style. That's what we are hopefully striving for and want to continue heading into the season.

"In addition to our emerging leadership, this team has a very good work ethic. If all of this comes together, we will have a real advantage going into the season. One of our goals is going to be consistency. Every day we are going to be coming to work and concentrating on being as good as we can be."

Although the Sun Devils return seven starters, the biggest question mark that Snyder faces on offense is who will be the signal-caller for the Sun Devils this year. For Snyder and offensive coordinator John Pettas, who was promoted from quarterbacks coach this winter, that "complicated" situation rests squarely on the knees of senior Ryan Kealy.

Just 443 yards from becoming the second all-time passer in Arizona State history, Kealy would give the Sun Devils the most experienced quarterback in the nation. He has made 31 career starts and led the Devils to two bowl games in his three seasons at the helm, but knee injuries have kept the senior from playing in those postseason berths he helped ASU achieve. Kealy had the fifth knee surgery of his career after tearing the ACL in his right knee late in the third quarter of the Arizona game last year and missed the Aloha Bowl. There is no doubt that Kealy can excel as ASU's quarterback after completing 55.4 percent of his passes and throwing for 1,976 yards and 10 touchdowns last year, but what will have to be determined this fall is whether his knees will hold up for his final campaign.

"This is really complicated because we have these things we have to be concerned about from a purely humanistic standpoint about Ryan's well being," Snyder said. "Then on the flip side, if he's healthy, it's a huge asset. Experience, leadership, toughness, Ryan's been there, he's done that. Our plan is to head down the road that he's going to get healthy. He wants to try to play if given clearance by the medical staff.

"At the same time, we're going to develop another quarterback. Hopefully one of our candidates will really step up and become a starting quarterback."

Finding a second quarterback continues to be the task at hand for Snyder. Freshman Jeff Krohn, a walk-on who redshirted and ran the Sun Devil scout team last season, emerged from spring workouts as the leading candidate, while senior Griffin Goodman and sophomore Matt Cooper could also figure into the mix.

"We knew coming into spring practice that Jeff had some qualities that looked really intriguing to us, but we wanted to make sure that we gave our players a legitimate chance for all of them to compete. After the eighth practice, it became clearer to us that Jeff, with four years of eligibility remaining, had really an efficient throwing motion, good mobility and was bright. We felt like with more repetitions, he would make the kind of progress that was needed. Probably the one thing that he does not have – and we can't do anything about it right now – is experience. I think with more and more experience, we're going to find a really good quarterback."

When looking at the Sun Devil running game, what may jump out is that the team lost its top rusher from last season in first-team All-Pac-10 performer J.R. Redmond. Selected as the team's offensive Most Valuable Player last season by his peers, there is little doubt that the loss of Redmond, the team's top rusher in each of his last two seasons, will have an impact, but what may not be as obvious is that there is a wealth of talent at the tailback position for the Sun Devil squad which has consistently ranked at or near the top of the Pac-10 in rushing offense in recent years.

Richard Williams

Leading the way for Snyder and new running backs coach Vincent White will be senior Delvon Flowers, who may even have had a better season than Redmond last year. A talented playmaker who scored six touchdowns and rushed for 512 yards last year in his debut season, he averaged 6.4 yards per carry and 17.5 yards per catch, both of which led the team. Flowers made his first career start at Oregon and responded with 161 yards and one touchdown on 23 carries and followed that up a month later with his second 100-yard effort, rushing for 103 yards and two TDs in just 15 carries vs. Arizona. For Flowers, the 2000 campaign will be his turn to shine.

"This will be his year to step up and be the guy," Snyder said of the honorable mention All-Pac-10 tailback. "There's no question that Delvon is really talented, and if you look at our conference, he's the best returning tailback or one of two or three best returning tailbacks in our conference. However, I don't believe in our system one guy can do the job. We've always had two to three, so we need to develop another player."

Other players who will be looking to fit into the mix at tailback are junior Davaren Hightower, who was fourth on the team in rushing last year despite switching to wide receiver halfway through the season, and sophomore J.R. Peroulis. The Sun Devils will also look to a pair of highly touted freshmen who may have a chance to make an immediate impact in Derick Arnold, who was listed as the top running back out of the state of Texas, and Mike Williams, a USA Today honorable mention All-American who comes to ASU as the most decorated tailback the team has signed in recent memory.

"Davaren Hightower is a veteran player and we have two young tailbacks coming out of high school that are highly regarded in Derick Arnold and Mike Williams," Snyder said. "Then another one who I think has the ability to be very good after being in our program for two years is J.R. Peroulis. So in my way of thinking, as I lie down at night and dream about my team, I can imagine us being very good at the tailback position. I think we have not only talent, but we have a chance to be really, really deep."

FLYBACK DEPTH CHART

Darrel Turner	FB	6-0	237	So.*

Finding a flyback will be one of the main goals of the Sun Devil squad heading into spring football after losing Terrelle Smith, who started 11 games at the position after switching from the defensive side of the ball last year. Sophomore Darrel Turner is the only returning player listed on the depth chart, but senior Stephen Trejo, a five-game starter at inside line-backer last year who gained 1,478 yards and scored 19 touchdowns as a senior in high school, will move to the other side of the ball and looks to figure in the mix for the flyback position.

"We basically had one player at that position, but we need more than one and Stephen was the best choice. His transition to fullback has been really smooth, outstanding in fact. He's enjoyed it, he's taken right to it, and his teammates appreciate what he can do. I think that has been a really successful move."

Tempe, Ariz. (Tempe)
Mike Aguirre	WR	5-11	196	Sr.
Mesa, Ariz. (Mountain View)

Solidifying the receiving corps will also be another task at hand for the Sun Devils. While there are a number of players who have seen action at wide receiver in their careers, Snyder will be looking for someone to step up after losing its most experienced receiver in Tariq McDonald. McDonald finished third on the team with 33 catches and 386 yards but decided to leave school early for the NFL Draft.

Headlining that position is senior Richard Williams, who was the top wide receiver for the team last season after catching a pass in all 12 games for the Sun Devils last season. One of the fastest players on the team, he came on strong toward the end of the season, finishing second on the team with 37 catches for 608 yards and a team-high five touchdowns.

Other candidates who will be competing for playing time at wide receiver are senior Brian Forth, who has been a steady possession receiver, senior Mike Aguirre, who played in all 12 games last year, junior Ryan Dennard, who played in seven games before dislocating his ankle last year, and redshirt freshman Shaun

Todd Heap

McDonald, a small but dynamic speedster who is the younger brother of Tariq McDonald. Another player to consider will be junior Donnie O'Neal, a strong, athletic receiver who transferred to ASU from Coffeyville (Kansas) Community College in the spring, while sophomore Justin Taplin will also be a starting candidate as he comes off his one-year team suspension. ASU will also gain the services of a duo of true freshmen when Riccardo Stewart, a 5-11, 185-pound receiver out of Carson (Calif.) High School and Mike Smith, a 6-2, 184-pound receiver from Carson (Calif.) High School, arrive in the fall.

"I don't think we're really strong at wide receiver," Snyder said. "Rich Williams is the only real returner, the real veteran in terms of starting a lot. He was a bit inconsistent last year but showed flashes of being really good. Hightower started against Stanford and Arizona, but I'm moving him back to tailback, and we lost Tariq McDonald. So all of a sudden, we take 2-3 players away from the position and it doesn't look as strong. We did recruit a junior college player who's already in the system in Donnie O'Neal, we have Brian Forth coming up in his senior year, we will get Justin Taplin back in the fall and we red-shirted Shaun McDonald, so I think there's talent there. I think you could say that the cavalry's on its way, but it hasn't arrived yet at that position."

While other positions may be up in the air heading into spring ball, there is no question about who will be roaming the field at tight end. With his nose to the ball and hands of glue, junior Todd Heap has already established himself as one of the best tight ends in Arizona State history. After just two short seasons, the "Golden Retriever," as Snyder calls his star, is tied for third in ASU history with 67 catches and third with 1,041 yards. The first Sun Devil tight end to ever earn first-team All-Pac-10 honors, he rewrote the ASU history books last year with 55 catches and 832 yards, both school records for a tight end. A preseason selection on virtually every list, his goal for this season is to become Arizona State's first All-American tight end.

Backing up Heap will be a veteran tight end in senior Jason Moore. A tremendous big, mature blocker, Moore saw action in seven games last year. The Sun Devils will also be looking to a pair of young players to replace seniors Brian Jennings and honorable mention All-Pac-10 performer Kendrick Bates. Sophomore Mike Pinkard, who has made the move to tight end from the defensive front may be a factor, while another likely candidate is redshirt freshman Frank Maddox, a first team all-state performer from Celina (Texas) High School.

"We are set from our starters standpoint in Todd Heap," Snyder said. "Todd has proven that he's the best tight end in our league and probably the best in the United States, but we play an offense that uses that two and three tight ends. The other three players we have there are inexperienced at the college level, so I worry a little about our depth."

Entering spring practice, one area where the Sun Devils appear to be set is the offensive line. With a new offensive line coach at the helm in longtime coaching veteran and 13-year NFL performer George Yarno, ASU's group in the trenches could be the best in the league. Despite losing first-team All-Pac-10 left tackle Marvel Smith one year early to the NFL draft, Arizona State appears to be well-stocked on the offensive line.

"I really trust my instincts," Snyder said, "and my instincts tell me that we have a chance to be really pretty good on the offensive line. We have a new offensive line coach and we are all very excited about what he will bring. Losing Marvel will hurt because he would have probably been the best player in the league on the offensive line, but my instincts tell me our offensive line will be one of our strengths."

The trio of junior Levi Jones, junior Scott Peters and senior Victor Leyva will anchor ASU's starting front this season. Jones will move to left tackle after starting all 12 games at left guard last year. Peters will begin fall as the starter at center but is able to play all three inside positions well enough that he earned honorable mention all-conference honors last year after starting all 12 games at either center or right guard. Leyva, an All-Pac-10 selection who started all 12 games at right tackle in 1999, is a four-year starter.

Scott Peters

A trio of talented youngsters – redshirt freshman Regis Crawford, true freshman Brandon Macias, and redshirt-freshman Damien Niko – provide valuable depth.

"I think our tackles are going to be fine," Snyder said. "On the inside, Scott Peters is a veteran player who will play one of the three inside spots. We have a number of candidates for the other two inside positions, and I think we are going to find a nice combination in there this season."

THE DEFENSE

Like the Sun Devil offense, Snyder and his defensive coordinator Phil Snow face the task of cultivating a number of tried and true veterans at some positions and finding the right combination of talented but inexperienced players at the other spots. With experienced and fast veterans on its linebacking corps and in the secondary, the Sun Devils will be looking to develop a more attacking defense.

Arizona State returns 24 letterwinners and six starters on defense, including three linebackers and both of its starting safeties from last year. According to Snyder, that back seven will form the core of the Sun Devil defense this year.

"We are very deep at linebacker," Snyder said. "That will be the strength of our defense. Our safeties are also returning, so I like our linebackers and our safeties. We do need to replace two starting corners and we've got a lot of work to do on the defensive front, so I think the whole defensive scheme needs to be a little more attacking."

Shoring up the defensive line will be one of the main orders of business for the Sun Devils as they look to replace three key members from the team last year in first-team All-Pac-10 rush end Erik Flowers, honorable mention all-conference tackle Junior Ioane and 11-game starting tackle Ryan Reilly.

Fifth-year senior Quincy Yancy returns to the defensive front after starting all 12 games last year. He recorded 24 tackles, including four for a loss, and one sack, and according to Snyder, Yancy is ready to step up this season.

"I'd love to lay out a challenge to Quincy. He needs to play much better than he's been playing," Snyder said. "When you've played as much as he has and you've been around as much as he's been around, you need to start dominating your position."

Junior Kurt Wallin emerged from spring practice as the leading candidate to start at the other end position. Backing up Yancy and Wallin, who played in all 11 regular-season games last year before missing the Aloha Bowl due to injury, will be redshirt freshmen Brian Montesanto and Chad Howell and junior Jamall Anderson. Junior Paul Glass, an honorable mention All-American out of Bakersfield (Calif.) Community College, will also be competing for playing time at those spots.

Willie Daniel

Alfred Williams

At defensive tackle, juniors Tommie Townsend and Danny Masaniai, a transfer from Foothill College in Los Altos, Calif., also solidified their positions on the depth chart during spring workouts. Townsend will be looking to step up this season after playing in five games as a backup after honorable mention All-Pac-10 selection Junior Ioane suffered a season-ending knee injury. Also returning at defensive tackle is senior Che' Britton, a three-year veteran who stepped into the starting role after Ioane went down last year.

Four newcomers will also look to compete for playing time at defensive tackle including sophomore James Beal and redshirt freshmen Tony Aguilar and Ben Fox, who is moving to the defensive after starting his Sun Devil career as a tight end.

"We are really going to need our defensive line to step up," Snyder said. "We need Tommie Townsend to step up play. Three defensive linemen - Brian Montesanto, Tony Aguilar and Chad Howell - got a ton of reps this spring, which is really what they needed. They're not quite ready to start, but they're going to be good depth players this fall, and eventually will all end up starting. I think we have some pretty good players there, some really willing, coachable players. But they've got a lot of work ahead of them."

At linebacker, Snyder has a problem that any coach in the nation would envy. That cupboard is full of talented young players, so full in fact that he decided to move senior Stephen Trejo to fly-back.

Headlining that linebacking crew are three starters from last year in senior Adam Archuleta and sophomores Mason Unck and Solomon Bates. One of the preseason favorites for Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year, Archuleta has grown into one of the leaders on the Sun Devil defense after starting his career as a walk-on. A first-team All-Pac-10 honoree last season, became the first Sun Devil to register more than 100 tackles since Scott Von der Ahe had 106 in 1996. Archuleta finished the season with a team-best 111 stops and paced the Pac-10 with 21 tackles for a loss of 102 yards despite missing ASU's season opener with a hamstring injury.

In Bates and Unck, Snyder has some of the best young players in the conference. Winner of the team's most outstanding freshman award and a Sporting News All-Freshman Team selection, Bates finished eighth on the team in tackles with 42 as a true freshman despite not starting until the third game of the season and suffering a season-ending knee injury at Oregon. He will return to the team this year as a seasoned veteran but didn't even turn 18 until the end of spring football. He burst onto the conference scene in his first season, starting 10 of 12 games and finishing up as the fourth-leading tackler for the Sun Devils with 57 tackles en route to the team's most improved defensive player award and All-Pac-10 Freshman team honors.

Unck, however, will spend the 2000 season learning from the sidelines, after suffering a severe knee injury in spring workouts. Stepping into that starting spot will be junior Eric Fields, an explosive athlete who has started 11 games and collected 66 tackles, including 19 for loss, the last two years.

Snyder will also have the services of a quick, young linebacker in sophomore Josh Amobi. Amobi was one of four true freshmen to play last year, seeing action in 10 games, mostly on special teams. Other players that will figure into the mix include seniors Jamall Anderson and Adam Tanke. Snyder will also gain the services of three true freshmen this fall in Connor Banks out of St. Mary's High School in Richmond, Calif., Eric Keefner out of Chicago's De La Salle High School and Zack Mims out of Kingwood (Texas) High School.

"We need to use our linebackers' speed, mobility and experience," Snyder said. "It appears to me that we not only have good starters but good backups as well. In Archuleta we have one of the best players in the country, Mason and Solomon are awfully good players and Eric Fields is a great young player too. Then we have two junior college players who haven't really matured yet, so maybe this is their year, and we signed three really good-looking linebackers out of high school.

"I have a dilemma there with what to do with our depth. But that's a nicer problem than not having enough players. I am really confident about our linebackers. Our linebacker spot looks healthy and competitive, but we are going to have to get this thing solved, and this fall, because playing behind Archuleta is like playing behind Todd Heap. How much playing time are you really going to get?"

Experienced players also fill the ranks at both of the safety positions for the Sun Devils this year with all of the team's players from last year returning to the secondary. Snyder will have six tested veterans competing for the two starting spots.

Headlining that group are senior Craig Koontz, junior Willie Daniel and sophomore Alfred Williams. Those three players accounted for 20 of the 22 starts at safety last year, while Koontz finished second on the team with 76 tackles. All three players showed the ability to make things happen with Daniel snagging a team-leading two interceptions and forcing a fumble and Williams causing a pair of miscues and recovering one. Other players who look to make an impact and compete for playing time include junior Monte' Franks, who is returning from a season-ending liver injury last year, and sophomores Brandon Falkner and Patrick Wilson.

"Our safeties are all veterans who have played a lot of football," Snyder said. "They are going to play so much better this fall just by the nature of going through what they have. You learn by playing and they have made all of their errors. I feel confident that we are going to be very good at safety."

Another huge emphasis for Snyder is finding replacements for ASU's two starting cornerbacks from last year due to the graduation of All-Pac-10 performers Courtney Jackson and Kareem Clark. Jackson and Clark both started every game for the Sun Devils last year, while Jackson missed only one start in three seasons.

Despite losing its starters, Arizona State returns a lot of players who have received a lot of playing time over the past few years, including senior Nijrell Eason who played in all 12 games and led the team with two fumble recoveries last year. Other likely candidates include seniors Kenny Williams and Christon Rance, and sophomore Machtier Clay, who saw action last year as a true freshman.

"We are going to need to replace our two starting cornerbacks," Snyder said. "They both had played a lot of football and Courtney played in the Rose Bowl, so that's a lot of experience to replace. We have some players with some experience, but the question is going to be can they hold up at corner. We have some good young players, but they just don't have the same experience together from what we just lost, so that is a huge emphasis."

Another area that the Sun Devils seem pretty solid at heading into the season is their kicking game. Despite losing junior Stephen Baker, who handled the majority of the placekicking duties last year, the team returns a pair of kickers in junior Nick Murphy and sophomore Mike Barth and will feature even more depth when high school All-American Travis Cloyd joins the team in the fall.

Murphy handled the punting responsibilities last season, booting 68 punts for an average of 38.4 yards, while Barth was one of just four true freshmen to see action on the Sun Devil squad. He took over the kickoff duties for the team at UCLA and nailed all nine of his extra-point attempts throughout the season, including five against Arizona.

"I like the talent we have at punter and place-kicker," Snyder said. "Nick Murphy and Mike Barth are young, talented players, and we just signed Travis Cloyd and he can do both. We have three guys who make us two deep at both kicking positions. Right now, they're inconsistent, but I've just got to believe that they're going to get better and they're talented."

Nijrell Eason

The biggest concerns for the Sun Devil special teams unit are finding a long snapper and determining who will be returning the ball. Long snapper is of particular concern due to the graduation of Brian Jennings, who had handled both long and short snapping for the team for the past three years.

"It's a real talent to turn yourself upside down, throw the ball 15 yards and get hit, all at the same time. Not many people can do it," Snyder said. "Right now we have one walk-on candidate, so that's a big concern. We've got to find somebody else."

ASU will also be looking to find the right combination on its return teams after losing first-team all-conference selection J.R. Redmond. The kickoff return duties are solidly in the hands of senior Delvon Flowers, who handled 21 returns for an average of 22.3 yards each, but the Sun Devils will be searching for a punt returner. While Redmond handled most of the punts last year, junior Davaren Hightower returned nine punts for an average of 12.8 yards per return, including one for a touchdown against Stanford. Also competing for the position will be redshirt freshman Shaun McDonald.

"It's always easier to find kickoff return guys because of the nature of how the ball flies,"

Snyder said. "I think we're going to be all right on kickoff returns, but the tough one is the punt return. J.R. Redmond was terrific at it, and of course he's gone. Shaun McDonald is a good candidate, and Davaren Hightower did it a little bit. So the punt returning situation is a little bit more iffy than the kickoff return. Those are the two spots on kicking that I'm really concerned about and need to be addressed."

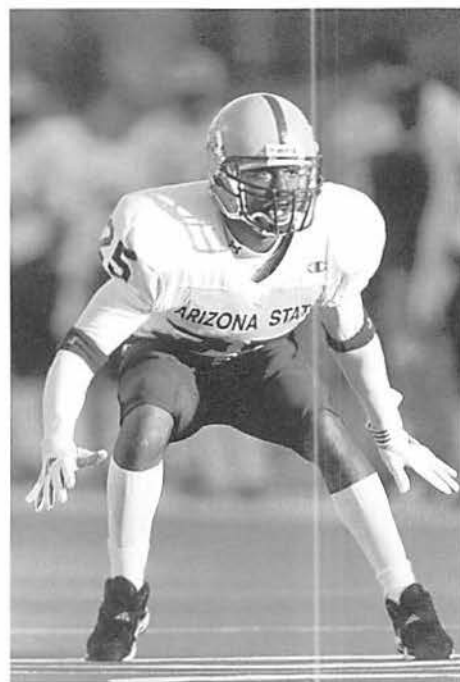

THE SCHEDULE AND PAC-10 CONFERENCE RACE

In 2000, the Sun Devils will face a favorable schedule that sees them play three nonconference games before opening the Pac-10 Conference slate. Arizona State will hit the road to open the season for the first time since the 1995, this year at San Diego State on Thursday, Aug. 31. The team will then return home for nonconference contests against Colorado State and Utah State before opening the Pac-10 season at UCLA on Sept. 30.

The winningest Pac-10 team (31-16 overall and 23-9 conference marks) over the last four seasons, Arizona State looks to figure into the wide-open Pac-10 Conference race. After the team's Pac-10 opener at UCLA, the Sun Devils will host Cal and Washington before heading to Washington State on Oct. 21. The team will then return to Sun Devil Stadium to host Oregon and USC before wrapping up the regular season with games at defending Pac-10 Champion Stanford and Arizona. The byes for the team fall after the season opener in San Diego and then between the Stanford and Arizona games. That means that the Sun Devils will have to play a stretch of nine games without a break through the middle of the season.

Mike Barth

"We proved last year that we prognosticators don't know what we're talking about," Snyder said. "You look at the teams picked at the top last year: UofA, UCLA, USC, and they didn't go to a bowl. Stanford was picked last and they went to the Rose Bowl. I think there's something in the water in the West because something has leveled the playing field so much that the conference race is wide open."

"There's not a clear-cut leader, nor is there an actual lock for last place in the Pac-10. We're all in there. In my opinion, it's the play of the quarterback and how healthy your team stays. If you can avoid the injury bug somehow, you're going to win a lot of your games from the middle of October to the middle of November. That's when the conference championship is won and lost. If we can stay healthy and play nine straight, we've got a shot at winning the whole thing. We've got as good a shot as anybody."

SUN DEVILS FOOTBALL 2000

STAFF

Coach Bruce Snyder

Arizona State University has enjoyed the leadership of 20 football coaches. There are those coaches who have been revered in Sun Devil history, most notably Frank Kush and Bill Kijikawa. There are those coaches who have gone into other facets of football, as Larry Marmie and Dan Devine did at the professional level. There are those, who have gone on to coach elsewhere as John Cooper has at Ohio State.

There have been 20 different men that have had the opportunity to lead the ASU football program. Several were at the helm during some of the Sun Devils' finest football hours, others were there when the going got tough.

ASU has had many successful coaches in its 103-year history. By understanding the Sun Devil football program's past and envisioning what it can and will be in the future, current head coach Bruce Snyder is already among the most experienced and successful ASU has ever had.

As Snyder enters his ninth year at ASU, his dedication to his players and the intense energy he brings to the program makes him the perfect example to lead the Sun Devils into the millennium.

This season may be only Snyder's ninth as a Sun Devil, but it marks his 14th year as a head coach in the Pacific-10 Conference. Before coming to ASU, Snyder spent five years in the top spot at the University of California-Berkeley. Among active coaches, only Arizona's Dick Tomey has as many years coaching in the Pac-10 (13).

In his years at ASU Snyder has strived to build the Sun Devils' brand of football into one of the most dominant programs at the collegiate level. With the success he has garnered while doing so, the respect he has earned from players, colleagues and fans is widespread.

One of the many reasons so many Sun Devil football players respect Snyder is because of his complete devotion to his student-athletes. At the 1996 football banquet, when quarterback Jake Plummer reflected back on his four years at ASU, he made a special point of noting that Snyder's trek through the snow in the middle of an Idaho winter to visit Plummer was a major deciding factor on whether he would become a Sun Devil. By the time Snyder got to the Plummer home, he was frozen and his shoes were ruined, but his determination and dedication showed Jake just a small part of his large desire to do whatever it takes to transform the ASU football program into one of the nation's finest.

Players also admire Snyder not only for how he treats them, but how he becomes actively involved in all issues related to ASU football. Although ASU has the best winning percentage in the Pac-10 over the last four years, winning games is not the only way Snyder goes about building pride in the Sun Devil football program. Currently, Snyder is involved in several projects that will improve and add to ASU's already fine football physical plant.

Among the projects was an AstroTurf practice field that was installed at the Kijikawa Practice Facility in 1998. Future additions and improvements include a new locker room, a new football meeting room facility and a new stadium dining club/student-athlete dining hall at Frank Kush Field. A new weight room is also in the works and will be available for all student-athletes. Construction on these projects begin in January, 2001.

Colleagues, including coaches from all conferences also respect Snyder, not only because he is the dean of the Pac-10, but because of the effort he puts into the Sun Devil program and the great lengths he goes to keep his assistants and staff in tact. Snyder's experience only filters down the line as he leads one of the most seasoned corps of coaches in the Pac-10 Conference.

However, it is not only the players and coaches that respect and admire Snyder. The University administration showed exactly how much confidence and pride it had in Snyder's leadership of the Sun Devils by presenting him with a contract extension through January, 2004.

So, while it is always nice to reflect and remember the successes ASU has enjoyed with its history with Snyder some of the Sun Devils' best football lies ahead. As the motto goes—the future has never looked brighter.

At the 1997 football banquet, former Sun Devil quarterback Danny White was named an honorary member of that season's squad. In his acceptance speech White said, "Being named as an honorary member of the 1997 Sun Devil team means a great deal to me. If I was asked if I would like to be an honorary member of this year's squad or last year's, I would have to choose this year's because they have accomplished so much more."

One may ask, "More? How does he figure?" Well, with the complete metamorphosis that took place between the 1996 season and the 1997 season, the Sun Devils surely have accomplished more than most had expected.

Head coach Bruce Snyder began his sixth year at ASU having lost a total of 24 players from the 1996 squad. Eight of which were drafted by the NFL. Those losses included such offensive leaders as quarterback sensation Jake Plummer, leading receiver Keith Poole, consensus All-American Juan Roque, and tailback phenom Terry Battle. The defensive losses were just as great with the departure of NFL third-round draft pick Derek Smith, sixth-round draft pick Scott Von Der Ahe and All-American rush end Derrick Rodgers.

If anything symbolized the preseason expectations of the defending Pac-10 champs, it was a question mark. Many thought the success of the 1996 squad was a flash in the pan, a one-year Cinderella story. Tabbed for fifth in the Pac-10 conference, Snyder had expected such an attitude and challenged his team.

"I'm going to keep the underdog mentality," he said prior to the season. "So I'm going to grab on to that and say, 'Look! They don't believe you can do it' And then, take on the challenge."

As the 1997 season progressed, observers began to play ASU's version of Jeopardy. Quarterback Ryan Kealy made people ask, "Jake Plummer who?" Victor Leyva and Marvel Smith - "Who are two redshirt freshmen who jelled on the offensive line?" Jeremy Staat - "Who is this year's winner of the Morris Trophy?"

What were questions entering the season, became answers. And the answer that stood above the rest was that Snyder had not built a shooting star - here now, gone at the blink of an eye - he had built a program. A program that had answers to others questions. A program that is here to stay.

Beginning with the 1996 season, Arizona State owns the Pac-10's best overall (31-16) and top conference record (23-9). The Sun Devils have finished in the upper-half of the conference in each of the four years and are one of only three Pac-10 teams to go to at least three bowl games in the last four years.

It is only the beginning.

So there stood Bruce Snyder the seventh night of September 1996, arms folded, jaw clenched tight as a drum, watching Corey Dillon scamper around the left side and into the south end zone of a suddenly disgruntled Sun Devil Stadium. This was supposed to be Snyder's night, a night in which his team would shed the worn-out rags of a pretender and slip into the duds of a national contender. But in what was billed as the biggest football contest in Tempe in a decade, a 21-point Arizona State lead had vanished clear into the desert air. A team that lost three conference games by eight points a season earlier was on the verge of yet another heartbreak.

Five minutes later, as Robert Nycz's kick fluttered through the north uprights, the Sun Devils ran off the field a winner in their first test of 1996. There were still 10 more to follow. But an exhausted, and perhaps relieved, Snyder liked what he saw those final five minutes. "We expected to win, we conditioned to win," he said after the game. "All this bodes well for us."

Indeed. Not many people took note of ASU's 45-42 win over Washington. The win over North Texas a week later mirrored a blip on a radar screen. But on September 21, with most of the college football world asleep, content that Florida's win at Tennessee was the biggest news of the day, the Sun Devils fitted themselves for the national title race. And at the foot of those duds was a glass slipper.

In one short week, the scope of ASU football ballooned before our very eyes. Little known before Nebraska came into town, the Sun Devils gained instant celebrity status via their Husker shutout. CNN, ESPN and Sports Illustrated descended where but the local media used to tread. Jake the Snake? Fright Night? One At A Time? Suddenly, the nicknames, catch phrases and anecdotes surrounding Sun Devil football were national news. But at the heart of it all was a coach who knew that a long road still lay ahead.

"There are just as many problems with success as with failure," Snyder said. "We have Oregon coming up and we've got to figure out a way to put this behind us."

Well, maybe not completely behind us. But Snyder's players never lost their focus. Distractions hovered around college football's newest Cinderella, yet each challenge was met, one at a time. Oregon. Boise State. UCLA. USC. Stanford. Oregon State. The wins kept piling up. It wasn't always pretty and it wasn't always easy. A few Snake scrambles, some kickoff returns and a timely fumble or two aided the cause. But to and behold, there stood Bruce Snyder opposite his old school, California, the ninth night of November, arms folded, smile as wide as the Grand Canyon, watching Jake Plummer drop to one knee in the south end zone of a delirious Frank Kush Field at Sun Devil Stadium.

ASU was heading to Pasadena. The circle was complete.

Funny how your life can change in one quick season. Four seasons ago Snyder was inconspicuously awaiting the fifth and most crucial year of a daunting rebuilding process at ASU. One Pac-10 title and three bowl berths later, Snyder is one of the most recognizable faces in the state. At the very least, he has become a household name in football circles, winner of nearly every Coach of the Year award for 1996.

The 1996 Sun Devils finished 11-1, 8-0 in the Pac-10 and fourth in the final polls, after rising as high as No. 2. They came within seconds of a national title. And Jake Plummer finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting, just one of numerous honors bestowed upon Snyder's troops.

Odds are that he will approach 2000 the same as he has approached each of his 20 years as a head coach. One task at a time, one drill at a time, one practice at a time, one game at a time.

Bruce Fletcher Snyder was born March 14, 1940, in Santa Monica, Calif., to Lyman and Ida Snyder. Lyman, a contractor, took his family where the work was, which meant moving often. The economy was bad and times were difficult.

Coach Bruce Snyder

Bruce and Linda Snyder

Perhaps therein lies the motivation of Arizona State's 20th football coach. The ability to overcome all odds, to persevere, and the sacrifice of human struggle.

"I see so many things that parallel what I do and that is where I gain a lot of satisfaction," says Snyder. "That's where I get a lot of my ideas and philosophies."

A voracious reader ("I always have five books in progress"), Snyder applies the knowledge gained from his favorite works to his instruction. Among them? The Quality Of Effort by Reggie Marra, Gai Jen ("Foreigner") by James Clavell, Profiles of Genius: 13 People Who Have Changed The World by Gene Landrum, The Art of Strategy by R.L. Wing, The World Rushed In: The California Gold Rush Experience by William Swain and J.S. Holliday, Seven Habits of Highly Effective People by Stephen R. Covey and Alexander of Macedon, 356-323 BC: A Historical Biography by Peter Green.

Snyder used the knowledge gleaned from his library to endure his first season at Arizona State in 1992. Due to off-the-field problems, ASU started three different redshirt freshmen quarterbacks in the first three games of the year. In addition, Snyder had 18 players miss 75 games, including 50 starts, with 20 different injuries.

But time and again, different heroes surfaced during the campaign. It was redshirt freshman quarterback Troy Rauer, who would later play special teams, wide receiver, outside linebacker and punter, that started at quarterback against defending national champion Washington. And it was fourth-string tailback Kevin Galbreath who filled in for the injured Mario Bates, George Montgomery and Jerone Davison and rushed for a school-record 44 carries and 184 yards in ASU's 20-0 shutout of UCLA, thus snapping the Bruins' NCAA record 245-game scoring streak. There were five true freshmen — Sam Santana, Harlen Rashada, Steve Bush, Chris Hopkins and Marcus Soward — who were forced into action due to a severe lack of depth and played brilliantly. And there was Galbreath again, who broke "The Run," a 51-yard touchdown sprint that won the game with in-state rival Arizona, 7-6, under seemingly impossible conditions.

That only scratches the surface of what Snyder and his coaching staff had to cope with in 1992. But with the "One At A Time" credo, a positive attitude and 24 seniors, Snyder fashioned a winning (6-5) record and earned loads of respect from the fans and the media.

Joe Gilmartin, a columnist with The Phoenix Gazette, wrote that if ASU lost the final game with Arizona that Snyder should be given a first-year coaching grade of A-. If he should win, wrote Gilmartin, then he should be given a "G" — for "genius!"

So, if Snyder is remembered for a miraculous 6-5 record in his initial Sun Devil season, he'll take it. "I believe as time passes," says Snyder, "that we'll look back and it'll be even more gratifying."

"Gratifying" is one way to describe ASU's surprising comeback in 1993.

Snyder's charges opened 2-4, only to win four of the last five games, including four in a row, to fashion a second-straight winning mark. The victories came against Top 25 teams Washington and UCLA and preseason Top 25 teams Stanford and California. The Stanford and UCLA wins came on the road.

And, in keeping with Snyder's forte — the running game, sophomore tailback Mario Bates became Arizona State's 13th 1,000-yard rusher, collecting 1,111 yards in 11 starts. Bates accomplished the feat on a knee that was less than 100-percent and still recovering from major reconstructive surgery.

In 1995, Snyder's three-headed rushing monster of Chris Hopkins, Terry Battle and Michael Martin gained a combined 1,686 yards. ASU finished third in the Pac-10 in rushing, behind only wishbone-dependent Oregon State and UCLA, which featured the conference's leading rusher, Karim Abdul-Jabbar.

In 1996 ASU led the Pacific-10 Conference in rushing, averaging 248.6 yards-per-game. Junior Terry Battle, who declared early for the NFL draft, became ASU's 14th 1,000-yard rusher with 1,043 yards. Battle also set a school record with 18 rushing touchdowns (including two more on kickoff returns). The Sun Devil running game was responsible for 30 touchdowns in '96.

Snyder hangs his hat on the running game. His passion for the running game runs deep. Wherever he has coached, he's had talented running backs and the gameplan to go with him. He had Charles White, Anthony Davis and Ricky Bell at Southern California. He had Eric Dickerson with the Los Angeles Rams and he had Russell White at California.

All coaches admit at one time or another that you have to establish the run on offense in order to be successful, period. With Snyder it's an obsession. If BYU's Lavelle Edwards is known for the passing game and if Joe Paterno's forte at Penn State is inside linebackers, then Snyder wants his name mentioned as a top running game coach.

Himself a fullback, first for two years at Citrus College and then at Oregon, Snyder also played linebacker for the Ducks' 1960 Liberty Bowl team. A knee injury actually led to him becoming a football coach.

After surgery, he was forced to sit out the entire 1961 season. With free time in the afternoon, Oregon coach Len Casanova asked him to coach a Little League football team in Eugene.

"I did it because he asked me," says Snyder. "Cas was my coach. You know it's like your dad asks you to do something, whatever it is, you tend to do it."

He tried it and what he liked most was the teaching.

"I think everybody enjoys showing somebody how to do something," says Snyder. "To see the kids light up, there's a thrill to it. After that experience, I could say I'm going to zero in and coach for a while. I stayed in it. If I were a musician, I could have ended up being a band director someplace. I think I could have enjoyed that. Football just happened to be the avenue I was in."

And the rest is history.

Dateline: Phoenix, January 6, 1992.

The sportspage headlines in the three major Valley newspapers read as follows:

"Snyder: style and substance" (The Arizona Republic).

"Aiming high . . . Snyder sees championship potential at ASU" (The Phoenix Gazette).

"Snyder likes 'potential'" (The Mesa Tribune).

As soon as word of Snyder's hiring at Arizona State was public, it became crystal clear that ASU had the perfect man for the job.

"I've said all along that I want to be in the top three in the conference and along with that gain some national exposure, and that's what I believe Bruce Snyder can accomplish," Harris said following Snyder's press conference. "When we put together the profile we talked about — a head coach in a major conference, a pro-style offense and aggressive defense, ties to the West Coast — there aren't many that fit. Bruce Snyder is the perfect answer."

Others were impressed as well.

Hours after Snyder's hiring was announced, inquiries poured into the Sun Devil athletic ticket office regarding season tickets for 1992. In fact, on Monday, the day after the announcement, the ticket office answered over 250 inquiries, either by telephone or in person at the windows, concerning ticket information for 1992. Most people wanted to know if they could get their old season tickets back.

"If just naming a head coach does that, guess what happens when we get a staff, start practicing and win some games," Snyder said. "That's one of the reasons I accepted this job. The potential here. This is a little sign of that. It's an indicator of what can happen down the road when we put it together."

Snyder, who came from the University of California, brought a combination of pluses to the ASU helm. He's a teacher, an offensive mastermind who loves wide-open football, a proponent of aggressive defense, a proven winner, a credible man when dealing with student-athletes, their parents, the administration, the fans and the media, and a man with poise and personality who is pointed and polite.

"I'm really intrigued with the potential of Arizona State in terms of success — that's very intriguing to me as to how far this thing can possibly go," Snyder said. "I've looked at Arizona State from a distance for a number of years. What I'm excited about is the opportunity and the challenge and the distance that I think we can run with this thing at Arizona State."

His trademark is tough, hard-nosed, disciplined football. He also likes to make the game fun.

"One of my major objectives as a coach is how hard the team plays," said Snyder. "That's my signature on a team. Whether a play works or not is something else, but if my team plays hard, I'll take credit for that. And part of it is the style you play. I've found over the years that players would rather play man-to-man than zone. They play harder when you blitz, they play harder when you run reverses and reverse passes and fumbleoskies."

Coach Bruce Snyder

As a college and professional coach he has personally tutored all-Americans such as Dan Fouts, Ahmad Rashad, Eric Dickerson, Charles White, Jim Everett, Ricky Bell, Anthony Davis, Ken Harvey, Russell White, Joe Pisarcik, Eric Hipple, Rulon Jones, Brett Wallerstedt, Shante Carver, Jake Plummer, Juan Roque, Terry Battle, Keith Poole, Derrick Rogers, Pat Tillman, J.R. Redmond, Greg Rueschman and Marvel Smith. He is a player's coach.

"Bruce knows the game of football as well or better than any coach I've ever been around, and I really enjoyed playing for him," said Dickerson, the all-Pro running back. "He knows everything that's happening on the football field, whether it's on offense or defense, and that's the sign of a good coach. He's the type of coach his players will have a lot of confidence in and they'll really enjoy playing for him because he's a player's coach. He's somebody the players can relate to and talk with."

Snyder gets high marks from the coaching fraternity too.

"Bruce has one of the keenest minds in football today," said Bill Walsh, who led the San Francisco 49ers to three world championships. "He's extremely gifted in motivating players and he's a very assertive coach."

Snyder, who guided the Golden Bears to a 10-2 record and a No. 8 national ranking in 1991, will begin his ninth season as ASU's 20th head football coach this fall.

Snyder served as Cal's head coach for five seasons, beginning in 1987 when he inherited a 2-9 team from the previous year. During Snyder's tenure at Berkeley, the Golden Bears registered a 29-24-4 record. But the last two Cal teams had a composite record of 17-6-1, including two bowl victories. Prior to 1990, Cal had been to just one bowl since 1958.

In 1991, Cal won 10 games for the first time since 1949.

The season culminated with a convincing 37-13 win against ACC champ Clemson in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Snyder's '91 squad, which tied for second in the Pac-10, ranked No. 6 nationally in scoring (37 points per game) and No. 11 in total offense (446 yards per game). The Golden Bears also gave national champion Washington its toughest game of the year. The Huskies managed to escape Berkeley with a 24-17 win in October.

In 1990, Snyder was named Pac-10 Coach of the Year as he directed the Bears to a 7-4-1 mark (against the nation's second-toughest schedule according to USA TODAY), a fourth-place Pac-10 finish and a Copper Bowl victory over Wyoming. The Golden Bears, picked at the bottom of the Pac-10 in the preseason, just missed a Top 25 ranking, finishing No. 26 in the USA TODAY/CNN poll and No. 30 in AP.

From 1976 through 1982, Snyder was the head coach at Utah State. During his seven-year stay at the Logan, Utah, school, Snyder had a cumulative record of 39-37-1. The Aggies were PCAA co-champions in 1978 and '79, and Snyder was the conference's Coach of the Year in '78. Utah State had a .712 winning percentage (18-7) in conference games in five years after joining the PCAA in 1978. The '79 squad ranked No. 8 nationally in total offense (429.7) and No. 10 in scoring (31.5).

Snyder's overall record as a head college coach is 120-100-5. The 2000 season at Arizona State will mark Snyder's 38th in the coaching ranks. He began in 1963.

Prior to accepting the job at Cal, Snyder was the running backs coach for the Los Angeles Rams from 1983 through 1986. With Snyder calling all the running plays, the Rams advanced to the NFC playoffs in each of his four years. Dickerson set an NFL single-season rushing record during Snyder's stint in Los Angeles.

From 1964 through 1975, Snyder served as an assistant coach at four different schools throughout the West. He was at Oregon from 1964-71 as a running back/quarterback coach. There, he coached Ahmad Rashad and Dan Fouts. Snyder then moved to New Mexico State for one season (1972). He was offensive coordinator and running back/quarterback coach for the Aggies. New Mexico State ranked No. 9 nationally in passing that season.

Snyder was running back/quarterback coach for a 7-4 Utah State team in 1973. In 1974 and '75, he was offensive coordinator and running back coach at Southern Cal. The Trojans won the national title with a 10-1-1 record in 1974. Snyder tutored all-Americans Anthony Davis in 1974 and Ricky Bell in '74 and '75.

Snyder's coaching career began at Sheldon High School in Eugene, Ore., in 1963. He also served as the head coach for the West teams in both the East-West Shrine game and the Japan Bowl in 1990, was slated to coach the West in the Hula Bowl in 1991 before being named at ASU, and again captained the West team at the East-West Shrine game in 2000.

A 1963 graduate of Oregon, Snyder played linebacker and fullback for the Ducks in 1960 and '62 (while taking a medical redshirt in '61 with a knee injury). He was a two-way starter for the 1960 Oregon squad that earned a bid to the Liberty Bowl.

Snyder, who turned 60 on March 14, was born in Santa Monica, Calif., in 1940. His polished motivational style makes him a popular banquet speaker. He also enjoys jogging, swimming and bicycling in addition to an occasional round of golf. He and his wife, Linda, have three children — Jennifer, Tracy and Paige.

The Snyder File

- ASU has the best winning percentage in the Pac-10 over the last four years
- Produced three bowl berths in the last four years for only the second time at ASU since 1978.
- Averaged 7.5 wins per season during the past four seasons
- Produced back-to-back top 15 season ending rankings, No. 4 (1996) and No. 14 (1997)
- Served as the Head Coach of the South Squad (20-17) in the 1998 Hula Bowl and the West Squad in the 2000 East-West Shrine Game.
- Upset top-ranked and two-time defending national champion Nebraska, 19-0, representing only the second shutout in Tom Osborne's Cornhusker career
- Directed ASU's fourth undefeated regular season in history at 11-0 in 1996
- Took ASU to its second Pacific-10 Conference title and Rose Bowl appearance since joining the Pac-10
- Was the 1996 consensus National Coach-of-the-Year, winning 13 major coach-of-the-year awards, including the Paul "Bear" Bryant Award
- Guided ASU to victories over Washington, USC, UCLA and Arizona in 1996 and 1999, the only two years in ASU history the Sun Devils have accomplished that feat
- Has won on the road in every Pac-10 Stadium as Sun Devil head coach.
- Signed a new contract with ASU through the year 2004
- Rallied from a 2-4 start to finish 6-5, defeating top-20 teams Oregon and UCLA in 1995
- Had three seniors — quarterback Jake Plummer, left tackle Juan Roque and wide receiver Keith Poole —

- earn first-team all-Pacific-10 Conference honors in 1996
- Arizona State had the best second-half record (9-3) in the Pac-10 during the 1992 and 1993 seasons
- Arizona State won four of last five games in 1993, including four straight victories over Top 25 teams UCLA and Washington and preseason Top 25 teams Stanford and California
- Arizona State won five of last seven games in 1992, including a 19-0 shutout of Louisville, a 20-0 shutout of UCLA which snapped the Bruins' 245 consecutive games scored streak and a 7-6 win over in-state rival Arizona
- Guided Cal to a 10-2 record and a No. 8 national ranking in 1991.
- Led the Golden Bears to a Citrus Bowl win over ACC Champ Clemson, 37-13
- Cal was the only team to give national champ Washington a close game in '91
- The 1990 Pac-10 Coach of the Year
- His 1990 Cal team went 7-4-1 and defeated Wyoming in the Copper Bowl
- Cal was a cumulative 17-6-1 with two bowl wins in 1990 and '91
- Prior to 1990, Cal had been to just one bowl game since 1958
- Snyder coached at Cal for five seasons
- The 2000 season at ASU will mark Snyder's 38th in the coaching ranks
- Led Utah State to a pair of conference championships during his seven-year stint as head coach
- Was Los Angeles Rams running backs coach for four years prior to going to Cal
- Has strong Western ties. Has served as an assistant at Oregon, New Mexico State, Utah State and USC

Assistant Coaches

Dick Arbuckle Tight Ends, Special Teams

Dick Arbuckle begins his ninth year on Bruce Snyder's ASU staff as coach of the tight ends and special teams. Arbuckle joined Snyder's California staff in 1990 as the wide receivers and special teams coach and has remained with his former college teammate ever since.

At ASU he has tutored tight ends Bob Brasher (all-Pac-10), Brian Ryder, Matt Nelson (academic all-Pac-10), Steve Bush (all-Pac-10, Cincinnati Bengals), Kendrick Bates (honorable mention all-Pac-10), Matt Cercone (Barcelona), Jason Moore, Zack Romero (academic all-Pac-10), Brian Jennings (San Francisco 49ers), Devin Kendall (academic All-American and all-Pac-10) and Todd Heap (first team all-Pac-10 and All-America candidate). Arbuckle's kickers have earned all-Pac-10 status: Marcus Williams (first-team); Robert Nycz (second team, honorable mention twice); and Jon Baker (second-team).

Included on his resumé are 19 years of experience as a head coach on both the high school and college levels and 15 years as an assistant coach in the Pacific-10 Conference.

Prior to California, Arbuckle spent three seasons at Boise State where he served as both offensive coordinator and recruiting coordinator. While there, he helped the Broncos to three consecutive winning records, including a Division I-AA playoff berth in 1988 on the heels of an 8-4 record. In 1987 the offense led the nation, averaging over 450 yards per game. Previous to Boise State, he spent two years at Oregon State University where he served as recruiting coordinator and also assisted with the offensive line.

High School Education: El Monte High School, Los Angeles, Calif., 1957
College Education: University of Oregon, 1961; Master's Degree, University of Oregon, 1966
College Football: University of Oregon, 1957-61
Coaching Career: North Eugene High School, Eugene, Oregon, 1961-63; Oregon City High School, Eugene, Oregon, 1963-64; Sheldon High School, Eugene, Oregon, 1966-1980; University of Oregon, 1974-76; Oregon Institute of Technology, 1981-82; Western Oregon, 1983-84; Oregon State University, 1985-86; Boise State University, 1987-89; University of California, 1990-91; Arizona State University, 1992-present
Recruiting Area: San Diego, Colorado, Oregon
Family: Wife Sherry and daughters Vicki, Becki and son, Joe

Arbuckle worked as head coach at two different colleges in Oregon during the early 1980s, helping Oregon Institute of Technology to a pair of league titles with an 8-3 record in 1981 and an 8-2 mark in '82 and was Coach of the Year both seasons. He then moved to Western Oregon State College for two years.

The early part of his coaching career was spent on the prep level in Oregon. After beginning his coaching career as an assistant at North Eugene High School from 1961-63, he was named head coach at Oregon City High School where he spent the 1963 and '64 seasons, posting a 14-4 cumulative record. He then moved to Sheldon High School in Eugene where he spent 13 seasons from 1966 through 1980. During that span, Arbuckle moved to the college ranks for a three-year period from 1974-76 when he served as outside linebacker coach and special teams coordinator for the University of Oregon.

Arbuckle had a reputation for developing fine talent while a prep coach at Sheldon High. Among his players who advanced to NFL careers were quarterback Chris Miller, tight end Todd Christiansen, linebacker Mike Walter and defensive back Jon Jaqua. He posted a 30-9 four year record with three state playoff appearances and a 12-1 record in 1980 at Sheldon.

Arbuckle earned two letters at Oregon, playing safety and quarterback. He started at safety while teaming with Bruce Snyder on the Ducks 1960 team which earned a Liberty Bowl berth. He lettered in football, basketball and baseball while at El Monte High School in southern California and earned all-CIF honors as a senior quarterback.

Arbuckle, 61 (5/15/39), born in Los Angeles, graduated from Oregon in 1961 with a degree in physical education. He received a master's degree from Oregon in physical education in 1966.

He and his wife, Sherry, have three children, Vicki, Becki and Joe and five grandchildren.

Johnny Barr Linebackers

Johnny Barr begins his fourth year as inside linebackers coach at Arizona State University.

At ASU, Barr coached legendary Sun Devil Pat Tillman, who earned first-team all-Pac-10 and was the 1997 Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year. Tillman also earned second-team all-America by The Football News. Barr's other senior linebacker, Paul Reynolds, earned honorable mention all-Pac-10 in '97. This season Barr tutors Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year candidate Adam Archuleta (first-team All-Pac-10 in 1999) in addition to Solomon Bates, who was a first-team freshman all-American selection by The Sporting News in 1999.

Prior to ASU, Barr returned to Oklahoma State for a second stint from 1995 until 1996 as defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach after spending six seasons at the University of Oklahoma (1989-94). Barr, who started at safety and at wide receiver at Oklahoma (1966-69), coached the inside linebackers for the Sooners. Oklahoma won the 1991 Gator Bowl and the 1993 John Hancock Bowl and participated in the 1994 Copper Bowl.

He went to OU from Oklahoma State where he served on Pat Jones' staff from 1986-88 and coached in both the Sun Bowl (1987) and the Holiday Bowl (1988), both Cowboy victories.

Barr's coaching career began at Oklahoma as freshman coach. He then coached at Lufkin High School (1971-72, '71 District Champions) and Clear Creek High School (1973-74) in Texas before going to Navarro Junior College in 1975. Navarro won the 1976 and 1977 TJCF Championship and won the 1976 TJC Garland Bowl.

Barr then served as the secondary coach at Lamar (1979-82) and as the defensive coordinator/secondary coach at Southwest Texas State University (1983-85). Southwest Texas won the conference championship in 1983.

Assistant Coaches

As a player at Oklahoma, Barr played on two Big Eight Conference championship teams. Oklahoma finished No. 2 in the nation in 1967 and No. 10 in 1968. Barr set three records there, including most touchdown receptions in a bowl game, most receptions in a bowl game and tied the mark for most points scored in a bowl game. He had nine receptions for 138 yards in the 1968 Bluebonnet Bowl against Southern Methodist and was selected to the UPI All-Bowl Team as a result. He also set Astro-Bluebonnet records of most receptions in the game, most touchdown passes caught and for most points scored (tied) in the contest.

Barr prepped at Atlanta High School, Atlanta, Texas, from 1963-66. As a quarterback, he was all-state (1965), all-East Texas (1964 and 1965) and all-district (1964 and 1965). As a safety, Barr was all-East Texas (1965) and all-district (1964 and 1965).

Born October 23, 1947, Barr is married to the former Christi Sue Groce of Stillwater, Oklahoma. Barr also has two daughters, Stacy (25) and Stephanie (29). He earned a bachelor's of science degree in 1970 from Oklahoma.

Ron English

Secondary Coach

Ron English begins his third season as secondary coach for the Sun Devils in 2000.

As a team the Devils ranked third in the conference in pass defense last year, surrendering just 226 yards per game.

English, who was a graduate assistant coach for ASU during the 1994-95 seasons, coached the San Diego State secondary from 1996-97.

English also played under Bruce Snyder at the University of California-Berkeley where he was a safety. English played for the Golden Bears from 1987-90, including a visit to the 1990 Copper Bowl versus Wyoming.

Prior to coaching at San Diego State, English coached at Northern Arizona University where he was the outside linebackers coach. He also coached the defensive backs at Mt. San Antonio College in Walnut, Calif., before becoming a graduate assistant at ASU where he worked with the defensive line.

After playing only one season of football at Ganesha High School, English went on to Cal where he was a four-year starter on special teams and started at strong safety during his senior year. English collected 134 total tackles and seven sacks during his college career.

English, 31, graduated from Cal in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in communications. He then earned his master's degree in education administration from ASU in 1995.

He coached all-WAC cornerback Ricky Parker, who played with the Jacksonville Jaguars in 1996. In his second year at SDSU, he coached the entire secondary, which included free safety Jason Moore and strong safety Rico Curtis. Moore and Curtis earned all-WAC honors.

English recently married the former Sophia Woodard. They have one son, Simon Everett (1).

John Pettas

Offensive Coordinator, Quarterbacks

John Pettas begins his fifth season at Arizona State University and his first as the Sun Devils' offensive coordinator. Pettas replaces the departed Dan Cozzetto.

In addition to overseeing an offense that racked up nearly 400 yards per game in 1999, he will tutor a group of quarterbacks that includes Ryan Kealy, Jeff Krohn, Griffin Goodman, Matt Cooper and Andrew Walter. In 1995 and '96, Pettas coached first-team all-Pacific-10 Conference quarterback Jake "The Snake" Plummer. Plummer earned All-America accolades in '96 and finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

Pettas has tutored Kealy the past three seasons, who set several freshman passing records both at ASU and within the Pac-10. Kealy was the quarterback on The Sporting News all-Freshman squad in 1997 and went on to throw for 2,161 yards in 1998 while playing in only in only eight games. Last year the signal-caller collected 1,976 yards and 10 touchdowns, and now sits in third place on ASU's all-time passing list.

In 1995, Pettas coached a stable of running backs that registered almost 2,000 yards - 1,912 to be exact. Senior tailback Chris Hopkins led the way with 616 while sophomore Michael Martin tallied 566. Sophomore Terry Battle added 474.

Pettas, who was the quarterbacks and kickers coach at The University of the Pacific in 1994, would have been the offensive coordinator in 1995, but came to ASU. The Tigers posted a 6-5 won-loss record in 1994, their best record in 17 years.

Pettas followed former ASU assistant Lyle Setencich to Pacific from Cal Poly SLO, where Setencich was the head coach. He served as the offensive coordinator at Cal Poly and also served as coach of the quarterbacks, running backs and kickers. In 1992-93, Pettas served as a coaches' assistant on defense for the San Francisco 49ers.

Pettas has also served as the offensive coordinator at Kent State University (1990-92), as the running backs, kickers and special teams coach at the University of New Mexico (1988-90) and as the offensive coordinator and assistant head coach at the University of Nevada (1978-88). At Kent State, Pettas also coached quarterbacks, running backs and kickers. At Nevada he also coached running backs, kickers and special teams. Nevada played in the 1978, '79, '83, '85 and '86 I-AA National Championship Playoffs. The 1978 and '86 teams led the nation in scoring offense and the '86 squad led the country in total offense.

From 1975 through 1978, Pettas was a graduate assistant and head freshmen coach at the University of Colorado. Prior, he had served as the offensive coordinator and head freshman baseball coach at Gonzales Union High School in Salinas, Calif. (1974-75). He also was a graduate assistant for quarterbacks at Cal Poly SLO in 1973.

A 1974 graduate of Cal Poly SLO, Pettas quarterbacked the 1971 and 1972 Mustang teams. He helped guide them to an 8-1-1 record and an appearance in the Camelia Bowl in '72. As captain of that squad, Pettas earned the team Most Valuable Player Award as well as all-West Coast Conference honorable mention honors.

The 1969 graduate of Monterey (Calif.) High School earned a master's degree in physical education from Colorado. He and his wife Lynn have two children, Amanda (10) and Mallory (8).

Robin Pflugrad
Receivers,
Recruiting Coordinator

Robin Pflugrad begins his sixth season as an assistant coach at Arizona State University in 1999. In addition to his offensive coaching duties as wide receiver mentor, Pflugrad also serves as the Sun Devils recruiting coordinator.

Pflugrad has coached a myriad of talented receivers while at ASU, including Lenzie Jackson (Jacksonville Jaguars), Keith Poole (New Orleans Saints), Tariq McDonald (Cincinnati Bengals), Kenny Mitchell (Washington Redskins), Isaiah Mustafa (Oakland Raiders), in addition to his current corps of wideouts. Poole became the school's all-time leading receiver in touchdown receptions, while Jackson was a two-time honorable mention all-Pacific-10 Conference selection.

At Montana, where he was an assistant from 1986-94, Pflugrad was Assistant Head Coach in charge of the day-to-day operations of the Grizzly program. Pflugrad also coordinated the Grizzlies' highly successful passing attack. Montana was the 1993 national passing leader in Division I, breaking 25 school, four Big Sky Conference and three national records. He was responsible for the development of all-America quarterback Dave Dickenson. Dickenson led Division I-AA in total offense and completion percentage (67.3 in 1993 and 68.7 in '94). Dickenson was awarded the Walter Payton Award, which is equivalent to the Division I Heisman Award.

During his career, Pflugrad has coached seven quarterbacks or wide receivers who won all-America honors, seven players who earned honorable mention All-America recognition, 36 all-conference players, 12 academic All-Americans and 151 academic all-conference student-athletes. In 1988, he coached an NCAA record four academic All-Americans.

From 1986 through 1990, Pflugrad was an assistant coach for running backs and receivers at Montana. He was responsible for the perimeter players in the Grizzly passing game. Pflugrad also served as the academic coordinator, the compliance coordinator, the junior college recruiting coordinator and football liaison to the Grizzly Athletic Association, laying the groundwork for Montana's 1995 national championship team.

During the summer of 1991 Pflugrad was a guest coach for the receivers with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

From 1983 through 1985 Pflugrad worked at Portland State University, where he was an assistant football coach and administrative assistant in 1984-85 and the director of football promotions from 1983 through 1985. In 1984-85, he was the wide receivers and tight ends coach and also assisted with the running backs in the passing game. As the Vikings' recruiting coordinator, Pflugrad's last two recruiting classes both played in the national championship game.

In 1982, Pflugrad was the receiver and secondary coach for South Eugene (Oregon) High School. He coordinated the passing game and also coached punters. As a graduate assistant coach at Portland State in 1980, Pflugrad coached the slotbacks and assisted with all phases of the kicking game.

A 1980 graduate of Portland State University with a bachelor of science in business administration, Pflugrad also worked on his master's degree in sports administration at the University of Montana. He played high school football at North Eugene High School with former Phoenix Suns player and head coach Danny Ainge and played college football with former Arizona Cardinal quarterback Neil Lomax.

Pflugrad was a standout wide receiver at Portland State, team captain and an Academic All-American in 1979. As a player, his Mt. Hood Junior College football teams went 20-2 in 1976 and 1977 and was ranked first in the nation in 1977, when he was named all-conference.

Pflugrad and his wife, Marlene, have two children: Amanda (12) and Aaron (11).

Assistant Coaches

Phil Snow

Defensive Coordinator, Cornerbacks

Phil Snow begins his seventh year as defensive coordinator and his ninth at Arizona State. He works with secondary coach Ron English (secondary), Johnny Barr (inside linebackers) and Kevin Wolthausen (defensive line).

Snow has coached former Sun Devil standouts Craig Newsome (who won a Super Bowl ring with the Green Bay Packers), Lenny McGill, Kevin Miniefield and Jason Simmons, all playing in the NFL.

Last season, Snow's defense finished third in the Pac-10 in scoring defense (25.9 ppg), and featured NFL Draft picks Erik Flowers (first round) and Junior Ioane (fourth round) along the defensive line. In 1997, ASU ranked third in the Pac-10, but first in scoring defense (18.5 ppg). Snow molded a group that won nine games and was led by Morris Trophy and first-team All-American Jeremy Staat and Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year Pat Tillman.

In 1996, Snow's defense finished first in the Pacific-10 Conference in rush defense (98.0), pass defense (104.15) and total defense (306.2). ASU ranked 20th nationally in total defense. The Sun Devil defense went from 10th in the Pac-10 in 1995 to first in '96.

California, Snow, 45 (12/22/55), tutored the secondary in each of his five seasons at Cal, improving the unit each year. His philosophy of man-to-man coverage was a key ingredient in the Golden Bear defensive success.

Snow spent five previous seasons (1982-86) at Boise State University, where he was defensive coordinator for four years (1983-86). He was the secondary coach there in 1982. In 1986, the Broncos were ranked sixth nationally in total defense, allowing just 269.4 yards per game. They were also fourth in the country in rushing defense, yielding a mere 80.3 yards per outing in 1986.

In his final three seasons at Boise State, he served as assistant to the head coach in addition to his duties as defensive coordinator. Among the players he helped groom for the NFL there include linebacker John Rade of the Atlanta Falcons and lineman Marcus Cook of the Washington Redskins.

Before arriving at Boise State, Snow spent three years at Laney Community College in Oakland, Calif., where he served as secondary coach in 1979 and as co-defensive coordinator in 1980 and '81. He worked at Berkeley High School as secondary coach in 1976 and was the defensive coordinator at Winters High School in 1977 and '78.

A native of Winters, Calif., Snow graduated from California State-Hayward in 1978 with a degree in physical education. He lists golf as a hobby. He and his wife, Debbie, have two sons, Philip (11) and Jacob (8).

Vincent White

Running Backs

Vincent White enters his first season at Arizona State as the Sun Devils' assistant coach for running backs.

He has the luxury of mentoring a talented group of runners, including 1999 All-Pac-10 selection Delvon Flowers and three-year letterwinner Davaren Hightower.

Over the past three seasons White served as tailbacks coach at the University of Pittsburgh, where he tutored some of the Panthers' most prolific rushers in recent memory. In 1999, he coached second team All-Big East tailback Kevan Barlow, who amassed 630 yards and six touchdowns. In 1997, Pitt's running attack featured all-conference selection Dwayne Schulters as well as Billy West, who finished his career ranked among the school's all-time leading rushers.

White has a vast array of coaching experience on the offensive side of the football. He spent the 1993 season as receivers coach at Southern Methodist University before holding the same position at the University of Maryland in 1994. White returned to SMU for the 1995 and 1996 seasons where he inserted five true freshmen into the Mustangs' starting lineup.

Prior to SMU, White worked under Walt Harris at the University of Pacific as a passing game coordinator and inside receivers coach. He also held positions Tennessee-Martin (1989), Oregon Tech (1986-88) and the Denver Dynamite of the Arena Football League (1987). White began his coaching career as a running backs coach at Rangeview High School in Colorado in 1985.

White enjoyed a distinguished playing career on both the prep and collegiate levels. After leading Denver's Mullen High School to a state championship in 1978, White took his talents to Stanford where he paced the Cardinal with 475 rushing yards and 1,334 all-purpose yards in 1979. As a tailback he led the nation in receiving his senior season (1982) with nearly seven catches per game. In 1982, White also led Stanford with 15 touchdowns and 1,275 all-purpose yards en route to earning First Team All-Pac-10 and Honorable Mention All-America recognition.

He was a sixth-round draft choice of the New York Jets, but opted to play for the Denver Gold of the USFL from 1983-85.

White is married to the former Jennifer Beck, who worked as an athletic trainer at the University of Pittsburgh.

Kevin Wolthausen Defensive Line

Kevin Wolthausen begins his sixth campaign as assistant football coach for the defensive line at Arizona State University. He previously was the defensive line coach and national recruiter at the University of Oklahoma.

Last season saw two ASU defensive linemen earn all-Pacific-10 recognition and selection in the 2000 NFL Draft. Rush end Erik Flowers (first team all-conference) was the Buffalo Bills' first round selection while tackle Junior Ioane (honorable mention) was a fourth round choice of the Oakland Raiders. In 1998, rush tackle/end Albrecht Battle earned honorable mention all-Pacific-10 Conference honors under Wolthausen.

Wolthausen led a group in 1997 that helped ASU to nine wins and a Sun Bowl victory over Iowa. His prize pupil was defensive rush tackle Jeremy Staat, who won the Pac-10's Morris Trophy for finest lineman. Staat, a first-team All-American, also was voted the best lineman at the 1997 Sun Bowl.

In 1996, Wolthausen coached a defensive front that helped ASU to a No. 1 defensive ranking within the Pac-10 Conference. It was led by All-America rush end Derrick Rodgers, who was a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award.

Wolthausen, 42 (12/27/57), had coached at the University of Oklahoma in 1993 and 1994. In 1994, his defensive front allowed just 151 yards rushing per game and was among the nation's leaders. The Sooners finished 9-3 and defeated Texas Tech in the Hancock Bowl in 1993. Oklahoma played Brigham Young in the Copper Bowl in 1994.

Wolthausen, who has coached in 12 bowl games, coached at Southern California for six seasons (1987-92) under head coach Larry Smith. With the Trojans, Wolthausen produced some of the best defensive fronts in the nation. In 1989, the Trojans' rushing defense was first in the Pac-10 and second in the nation. The defense allowed just 66.3 yards per game. In 1988, USC's rushing defense was again second in the nation, allowing a mere 76.6 yards per game. During his tenure at USC, the Trojans played in five bowls — the 1988, '89 and '90 Rose Bowls, the 1990 Hancock Bowl and the 1992 Freedom Bowl. Also at USC, Wolthausen served as the kicking game assistant and recruited Northern California and several Midwestern states.

Prior to USC, Wolthausen coached with Smith at Arizona from 1983 through 1986 in various capacities. In 1986, he was in charge of the defensive line and was the kicking game assistant. In addition, he recruited Northern California and was the academic liaison for the squad. In 1985, he served as the outside linebackers coach and in 1983-84, he was a graduate assistant helping with the inside and outside linebackers and the kickers. He also coordinated the scout teams. While at Arizona, the Wildcats participated in the 1985 Sun Bowl and the 1986 Aloha Bowl.

Wolthausen began his collegiate coaching career as a part-time assistant at Humboldt State University, working with the linebackers and defensive line from 1980 through 1982. He recruited Southern California for Humboldt State. He also had been employed as a student assistant, working with the linebackers, tight ends and offensive line at California State-Northridge in the spring of 1980.

An all-conference linebacker, co captain and defensive Most Valuable Player at both Santa Barbara City College and Humboldt State, Wolthausen received his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1981 from Humboldt.

He has been married to the former Michel Bohrisch for 12 years. They have two children, Noah (5) and Quinnlin (2).

George Yarno Offensive Line

A fresh face on the Arizona State coaching staff is George Yarno, who begins his first season under Bruce Snyder as an assistant coach for the offensive line.

Yarno brings a wealth of experience to the Sun Devil program, both as a long-time assistant coach in the collegiate ranks and as a 13-year performer in the NFL and USFL.

Yarno inherits one of the Pac-10's most accomplished groups of linemen, which includes 1999 all-conference honorees Victor Leyva and Scott Peters.

Prior to his appointment in Tempe, Yarno served as the assistant head coach and offensive line coach at the University of Houston from February, 1998 through January, 2000. Houston posted a 7-4 record last year. His duties included coaching the Cougar offensive linemen and long snappers, supervising the strength and

From 1995 to 1998, Yarno was the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at the University of Idaho. There he was in charge of the offensive game plan, practice plan, game-day adjustment, the playbook and all scouting reports. In addition, he supervised the Vandals' strength and conditioning program and recruited in Eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Yarno also has experience in the Pac-10 Conference, having served as offensive line and special teams coach at Washington State University from 1991 through 1995. While in Pullman he oversaw the development of current NFL offensive linemen Robbie Tobeck and Scott Sanderson, among others. Yarno was also responsible for academic supervision from a football standpoint, assisted with the off-season conditioning program and recruited Eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana.

The Spokane, Wash., native was a four-year letterwinner at Washington State from 1975 through 1978 before playing professionally for 13 years, including stints with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Atlanta Falcons, Houston Oilers, Green Bay Packers and Denver Gold of the USFL. Yarno graduated from Joel E. Ferris High School in Spokane before earning his degree in criminal justice from WSU.

Yarno and his wife Cindy have three children, Josh (20), Adrienne (19) and George (16).

Jack Hart Director of Football Administration

In August of 1999, Jack Hart became Arizona State's first-ever Director of Football Administration.

Within this new position, Hart will coordinate all administrative aspects of the recruiting process, as well as assist Head Coach Bruce Snyder with budgetary matters and represent the football program at athletic department meetings. He also oversees Bruce Snyder's Football Camp and the ASU High School Coaches Clinic.

With Hart on staff, the Sun Devils' 2000 recruiting class was ranked No. 9 nationally by SuperPrep magazine and best in the Pac-10 by a number of publications. It is widely considered to be ASU's finest group of recruits since the 1983 class which included the likes of Jeff Van Raaphorst, Darryl Clack and Scott Stephen.

Hart came to Tempe after spending more than 30 years in the business sector as both a marketing manager and sales manager. His past employers include Nike, Jack Nadel, Inc. and most recently USA Marketing of Oakland, Calif. From 1968-1984, Hart worked as in sales and sales management for Levi Strauss & Co. As Vice President of Marketing Operations he instituted numerous profit-increasing strategies and was instrumental in the company's expansion.

Hart also has extensive experience in college athletics, serving as an assistant football coach at the University of Illinois (1964-68) and California (1960-64).

He has been very active in alumni affairs at the University of California, his alma mater, where he served as a member of the Athletic Director's Advisory Committee (1985-90) and as President of the Pappy's Boys Organization (1995-96), a university alumni club. Most recently Hart served on the Board of Directors for Bear Backers, the Athletic Department fund raising organization at Cal.

A 1959 graduate of Berkeley with degrees in history and political science, Hart was a three-year letterwinner as a Golden Bear halfback. He co-captained California's 1959 Rose Bowl team, and was an all Pacific Coast Conference and honorable mention All-America selection the same season. In addition, Hart was named to the all-time "All-Big Game Team" in 1997 as part of the 100th year celebration of the Cal-Stanford rivalry.

Hart and his wife Jeri have four children, Jan, Jill, Joe and Jon.

George Wynn Director of Football Operations

The 2000 season marks George Wynn's second year as Director of Football Operations at Arizona State. Wynn's duties include assisting Head Coach

Bruce Snyder with public and community relations, team travel and coordination of the Sun Devil football camps. In addition, he assists with all day-to-day operations of the ASU football program.

Wynn gained experience in this area of athletic administration as Regional Marketing Director for the Harlem Globetrotters from March, 1996-June, 1999. Based in Phoenix, Wynn coordinated and managed the Globetrotters' daily schedule and itinerary and developed relationships with business partners in 30 regional markets. He also developed and implemented a public relations campaign within his region, and oversaw the team's summer camps and clinics.

Prior to his work with the Globetrotters, Wynn served as a Compliance Services Intern at the NCAA from 1995-96. While in Overland Park, Kan., he assisted with the administration of required forms and distributed resource materials to NCAA institutions. While working towards his master's degree in sports management at the University of Georgia in 1994 and 1995, Wynn worked as a graduate assistant in the athletic department's academic services and football recruiting offices.

Wynn also received his B.A. in criminal justice from Georgia where he was a three-year starter at cornerback for the Bulldogs from 1989-91. He was a team captain his senior season and earned SEC All-Academic Team honors for his diligence in the classroom.

Wynn then took his game to the pro level, where he started at cornerback for the CFL's Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1992 before deciding to pursue a career in sports administration.

He is married to the former Leesha Hadley. The couple has one son, Royce.

Monty Peck

Graduate Assistant

Monty Peck begins his first season as a graduate assistant at Arizona State. Peck will assist the offensive staff with computer breakdown, game plan, scouting reports and scout team organization.

Peck was a walkon member of ASU's football squad from 1988-1990, earning his bachelor's degree in exercise science and physical education in 1991. He went on to substitute for Paradise Valley Unified School District from 1995-98, beginning his coaching career in 1995 as a JV linebackers and secondary coach at North Canyon High School. He went on to be a secondary and quarterbacks coach at Shadow Mountain High School in Phoenix from 1997-98 and at Alhambra High School in Phoenix in 1999. He also was an assistant track coach from 1996-99 at all three schools.

Mike Phair

Graduate Assistant

Mike Phair begins his second season as a graduate assistant at Arizona State. Phair will assist the defensive staff with computer breakdown, game plan, scouting reports and scout team organization.

Phair was a two-year starter for ASU at linebacker in 1991-92 after attending Mesa Community College. He was a first-team all-conference linebacker at Mesa and named Defensive Player of the Game at the Shrine Bowl in 1990.

Phair is a 1989 graduate of Mesa's Mountain View High School where he was a three-year starter from 1986-88. Mountain View won a state title in 1987 and was runner-up in 1988. Phair received first-team all-state honors and was a team captain and Defensive Player of the Year.

After graduating from ASU in 1994 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology, Phair was a sales representative at Brown and Brown Chevrolet before beginning his own landscaping business until 1999, when he joined the Sun Devil coaching staff.

UNIVERSITY

Arizona State University

Arizona State University is the model metropolitan research university for the 21st century. By matching university talents and expertise with the vision of community leaders, ASU provides indispensable research and support to address the major issues affecting the quality of life in the Valley of the Sun and throughout the state of Arizona and the nation. Ensuring the state's success in the New Economy is a key component of ASU's commitment to Arizona. ASU, with its Research I status, is integral to strengthening the university/government/industrial partnership to produce a knowledge-based workforce and respond to the demand for technological innovation that is the essence of the New Economy.

ASU accepts the responsibility of offering all the benefits that a diverse, rapidly growing population center expects from higher education:

- highest quality teaching and research;
- readily accessible education; and
- community, neighborhood, and industry partnerships

The university has three anchor campuses and an extended campus in the Greater Phoenix metropolitan area.

ASU Main: The original campus founded in Tempe in 1885 enrolls more than 44,000 undergraduate and graduate students from all 50 states and more than 140 countries. ASU Main offers 86 bachelor's, 97 master's, one law and 52 doctoral degree programs.

ASU West: Established in northwest Phoenix in 1984, ASU West serves nearly 5,000 upper division and graduate students, and offers 34 undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

ASU East: The university's newest anchor campus, ASU East has more than 1,400 students in the College of Technology and Applied Sciences, the Morrison School of Agribusiness and Resource Management, and East College, which provides general studies and general education courses. Both ASU East and ASU West now offer a Bachelor of Applied Science (BAS) degree.

ASU Extended Education: Extended Education brings university services into the community from a variety of locations as well as through flexible programs, schedules and technologies.

Undergraduate education provides the foundation for everything ASU does, and the faculty and staff intend that foundation to be among the best of any public university in the nation. ASU combines the wealth of program options and resources with the supportive environments of smaller communities within the larger university.

The Freshman Year Experience program provides academic support and other resources directly to the students in a residence hall community designed especially for freshmen.

Campus Communities programs provide the opportunity for students to develop academic communities with other students and faculty outside the classroom.

A new freshman advising program, begun in 1996 to improve integrated advising, serves more than 3,000 students each fall.

Numerous ASU graduate programs consistently rank among the best in the nation in U.S. News & World Report's listing of America's Best Graduate Schools. In the 2000 report, the ASU Master of Business Administration degree ranked 13th among MBA programs offered at state institutions and 32nd among all accredited MBA programs nationwide. The College of Education graduate program jumped from 24th last year to 17th best in the nation in 2000. ASU's College of law remained in the top 50.

The quality of ASU's students, faculty and academic programs is outstanding. ASU has been named a Truman Scholarship Honor Institution, one of only 17 schools to be selected nationwide. The Harry Truman Scholarship Foundation selected ASU from among 454 institutions that have had students named as Truman Scholars since the awards began in 1977. The Barrett Honors College at ASU is at its largest enrollment, 2,641, making it one of the largest and most sought-after honors colleges in the country. The 1999-00 freshman class had a record 132 National Merit Scholars, placing ASU 12th out of 381 participating schools nationwide and sixth among 140 public schools. In six of the last seven years, ASU has had a student on USA Today's list of the nation's top 20 undergraduates. No other public institution in the country has had so many students win the award.

ASU actively seeks community partnerships that promote economic development, address metropolitan issues such as quality of life, provide linkages with K-12 education and develop innovative approaches to solving problems of concern to both.

The university also provides Greater Phoenix and the state of Arizona with some of the best performing arts and fine arts venues in the world. Gammage Auditorium on ASU's main campus, a Frank Lloyd Wright-designed landmark center for the performing arts, seats 3,000 and regularly attracts the nation's finest performers and productions to the Valley of the Sun.

The Sundome Center for the Performing Arts in Sun City West is America's largest single-level theater with more than 7,000 seats. ASU's Kerr Cultural Center in Scottsdale offers smaller-venue cultural events.

The television station at ASU main, KAET, Channel 8, is an award-winning Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) affiliate, operated by ASU and broadcasting 24 hours daily.

Arizona State University will continue to set the standard as the university for the 21st century by expanding areas of community involvement, developing innovative undergraduate education and by strengthening its world class research portfolio.

Lattie E. Coor

In his 1990 presidential inauguration address, Lattie E. Coor summarized his philosophy of University leadership in a single sentence: "Excellence must be the hallmark of everything we do."

During his tenure as the 15th president of Arizona State University, Coor has maintained that commitment, and under his leadership, ASU has found its place in the top tier of major metropolitan research universities – one university with multiple campuses, serving nearly 49,000 students from all 50 states and 130 nations around the world.

ASU is the only research university serving metropolitan Phoenix, the state's center of government, business and industry, the home and work place for 62 percent of the population of Arizona.

"Arizona State University plays an indispensable and transformational role in this dynamic and rapidly-growing community," Coor says. "Our roots are deeply intertwined with those of metropolitan Phoenix."

"We take very seriously our responsibility for offering all the benefits that a major population center needs and expects from its university, from highest quality teaching and research, to readily accessible education and truly responsive community and neighborhood partnerships."

Under Coor's guidance, ASU has become a model research university for the 21st Century. Working closely with community leaders, the University provides indispensable research and support for the major issues affecting the quality of life in the Valley of the Sun.

Coor has emphasized that ASU must draw on the strength of the diversity of Arizona's population, and the university must reflect that diversity in its own ranks of faculty, staff and students. Over the last ten years, under Coor's leadership, minority enrollment at ASU has increased almost 70 percent. In the past five years, the proportion of minority faculty has increased from 10.3 percent to 15.3 percent.

Highlights of Coor's presidency include:

• The President's Undergraduate Education Initiative

"Student-centered responsiveness is integral to a great university," Coor says. His Undergraduate Education Initiative supports the development of personal, human scale communities within the larger university as well as streamlining the curriculum, emphasizing reduced class sizes, and increasing the numbers of senior faculty teaching lower division courses.

"We want ASU students to have all the advantages of a small college experience within the wonderfully diverse environment of a major research university," Coor says.

• Student Academic Achievement

Student Academic Achievement has gained unprecedented national attention for ASU during Coor's presidency, with students winning top national awards, including Rhodes Scholarships, Goldwater Scholarships and Marshall fellowships.

The increasing quality of students entering ASU is evidence Coor's strategy is working. The 1999-00 freshman class had a record 132 National Merit Scholars, placing ASU 12th out of 381 participating schools nationwide and sixth among 140 public schools. The Barrett Honors College at ASU is at its largest enrollment, 2,641, making it one of the largest and most sought-after honors colleges in the country. In six of the last seven years, ASU has had a student on USA Today's list of the nation's top 20 undergraduates. No other public institution in the country has had so many students win the award.

• The President's Research and Graduate Education Initiative

The Research and Graduate Education Initiative focuses on selective investments in major interdisciplinary research matching the needs of metropolitan Phoenix to the rich array of internationally-respected talent and expertise within the University faculty. Research funding has doubled within the University since 1993.

• The concept of One University with Multiple Campuses

In keeping with Coor's vision of ASU as a "world class university serving the Valley of the Sun through multiple campuses and facilities", ASU now serves the Greater Phoenix metropolitan area from three anchor campuses, ASU Main, ASU West and ASU East, as well as an Extended Campus providing a wide spectrum of locations, programs, schedules and technologies to match the needs of the students of the 21st Century—often working adults struggling with family responsibilities, full days, and the professional demands of rapidly-evolving technology and a global economy.

• The President's University for the Next Century Initiative

The University for the Next Century Initiative emphasizes matching university talents and expertise with the vision of community leaders to shape the future of metropolitan Phoenix. The initiative fosters community and neighborhood partnerships, and focuses on the development of a workforce to meet the increasingly complex demands of the 21st Century.

"This is a program of continuous change and reaffirmation for ASU and the community," Coor says. "We are committed to riding the forces of change without trampling the past."

• The Campaign for Leadership

The Campaign for Leadership is a $400 million capital fundraising effort introduced in 1997. The campaign is focused almost solely on people rather than bricks and mortar. "The success of our Campaign for Leadership will be measured in direct human impact," said Coor. "Our focus is on people – great teachers, great students and great communities."

Since Coor assumed the Presidency of ASU in 1989-90, the University endowment has advanced from $26.1 million to $314 million, endowed faculty positions have grown from six to 68, and ASU is awarding more student scholarships than ever before.

Coor is active on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land Grant Universities and also serves on the American Council on Education Community Leadership and Institutional Effectiveness. He is a member of the Greater Phoenix Leadership and on the Deer Creek (MO) Foundation Board of Directors.

He is a proud Arizona native, born in Phoenix. His father graduated from ASU and was a member of the 1928 ASU Bulldog football team. His mother continues to attend every ASU home game.

Coor has been on college campuses since 1954 when he arrived as a Phelps Dodge Scholar at Northern Arizona University (then Arizona State College in Flagstaff). Graduating with honors in 1958, Coor pursued graduate studies in political science at Washington University in St. Louis, earning a master's degree in 1960 and a doctoral degree in 1964.

Coor has spent the past 24 years as a university president, serving 14 years as president of the University of Vermont before assuming the ASU presidency in 1990.

A defining moment for Arizona State University came on October 23, 1997, when President Lattie Coor announced the Campaign for Leadership, a $300 million fundraising campaign that is key to ASU's vision of being the university for the next century. The campaign is focused on people – great students, great teachers and great communities. The goal of the campaign is to increase the university's endowment, allowing it to attract world-class scholars; distinguished teachers and researchers; and talented students for years to come.

Interim Athletic Director

Dr. Christine K. Wilkinson

Christine Wilkinson is no stranger to Arizona State Athletics, as she is serving her second stint in the last six years as Interim Director of Athletics. Wilkinson took over for the departed Kevin White on April 17 and will serve until President Lattie Coor fills the position. Wilkinson previously fulfilled the same role from June 28, 1995 to March 27, 1996, during the University's search that culminated in the hiring of White.

"I am pleased that vice president Wilkinson has agreed to step into this extremely important position on an interim basis and provide the experienced and quality leadership that she demonstrated four years ago when she served as interim athletic director at ASU," said Coor.

As ASU's Vice President for Student Affairs for the past 11 years, and before that the Director of Admissions, Wilkinson has worked closely with Intercollegiate Athletics both in the normal course of her duties and on numerous committees.

She has served on the Intercollegiate Athletics Board, the NCAA Self-Audit Committee, the University Committee on Student-Athletes and the Framework of Sanctions for Athletes Committee. She chaired the NCAA Certification Committee in 1995.

Wilkinson's interest in athletics dates back almost to the cradle. Her father, Bill Kajikawa, coached ASU football, basketball and baseball in a career that began in 1937 and lasted more than 40 years. The Sun Devil football practice fields are named in his honor.

Wilkinson, an ASU alumna, will provide transitional leadership to a department that last year achieved its second-best Sears Directors Cup finish in school history. ASU finished in 11th place among all Division I institutions in the annual rankings of an athletic department's overall success, eclipsed only by the Sun Devils 10th-place showing in 1994.

ASU's 11th-place showing in the Sears Cup standings was aided by top-10 national finishes by Sun Devil teams in women's tennis and men's swimming and diving. Arizona State also had teams place among the top 20 in the sports of baseball, men's and women's cross country, women's golf, women's gymnastics, softball, men's indoor track and field, men's outdoor track and field and wrestling.

Wilkinson remembers growing up in a household surrounded by coaches and student-athletes, where so many people answered to the name, "Coach," that her friends often were confused. She played sports herself from the time her father sawed off a bat to make it short enough for her small frame.

Today, the dinner table conversation at her household often continues to revolve around athletics. Her husband, Don, is athletic director for the Tempe Union High School District.

A near native of Tempe, Wilkinson received her undergraduate and doctoral degrees from ASU and her master's from the University of California at Berkeley. She has served on both the ASU staff and faculty for 30 years and is a tenured professor in educational leadership and policy studies.

In her work with the Admissions office, she initiated and developed the Freshman Scholars Program in 1977 for the recruitment of outstanding Arizona freshmen. She also established the first formalized recruitment program for undergraduate minority students, formed the Parents Association as a university support group and created a program of annual recruiting visits to high schools and community colleges.

The fruits of her labor include a freshman class that has doubled in size since 1991 and has most recently scored victories on three major fronts as both quantity and diversity continued to increase, while the quality of freshmen placed the class among the top 15 of all U.S. universities. ASU's 1999-2000 freshman class including 132 National Merit Scholars and this year's class is expected to be even better.

As Vice President for Student Affairs, she manages a $81 million budget and a staff of more than 700. She is involved in strategic planning, program reviews and fund-raising.

President Coor said Wilkinson will continue to serve as Vice President while holding the interim athletic director's job.

Ben Alkaly begins his second year as a Media Relations Assistant at Arizona State University. In addition to serving as the primary sports information contact for the Sun Devils' women's gymnastics and men's and women's swimming and diving teams, Alkaly assists in gameday operations for a number of other sports, including football and men's and women's basketball.

The Los Angeles, Calif., native graduated from UC Santa Barbara in 1999 after majoring in Communication with a minor in Sport Management. As a student assistant in the UCSB Office of Athletic Media Relations, Alkaly worked with the Gauchos' men's and women's water polo and swim teams. He also spent nearly two years as an assistant sports editor with the school newspaper, the Daily Nexus, and took third place in the "Best Sports News Article" category at the 1998 California Intercollegiate Press Awards. In addition, Alkaly earned the UCSB Sports Management program's Senior Achievement Award.

At both ASU and UC Santa Barbara, Alkaly has had the opportunity to work at a number of conference and NCAA Championship events in a media relations capacity, including the 1998 NCAA women's volleyball regionals, 2000 Pac-10 Gymnastics Championships and 2000 NCAA baseball and softball regionals.

The 23-year-old Alkaly is single and resides in Tempe.

Leslie Barnes Coordinator of Learning Strategies

In her initial year as Arizona State's Coordinator of Learning Strategies is Leslie Barnes. In this position, Barnes will develop and oversee programs which ensure the growth of Sun Devil student-athletes academically, socially and intellectually. She also works closely with student-athletes on an individual basis to help them utilize all potential resources on their path towards graduation.

Prior to her arrival in Tempe, Barnes spent two years as an Assistant Academic Counselor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. In addition to academic advising responsibilities with the football, women's basketball and women's rifle teams, she coordinated Nebraska's new student-athlete orientation and helped organize community outreach programs. Barnes also served as a teaching assistant under former Cornhusker football coach Tom Osborne.

She gained similar academic advising experience at Springfield College in Mass., where she completed her master's work in Counseling Psychology - specifically Athletic Counseling - in May of 1998. Barnes earned a B.S. in psychology from Nebraska Wesleyan University in 1996, where she served as tennis team captain her senior season.

David Benedict Development Officer

David Benedict joined ASU in 1996 where he began his career assisting in coordinating the naming of Frank Kush Field at Sun Devil Stadium. As a Development Officer for the Sun

Angel Foundation, Benedict will continue to direct donor benefits and assist with the implementation of the annual giving program. In 2000, he will also direct Regional giving clubs, the Sun Devil Car Club, the On Deck Circle and the Slam Dunk Club. In February of 1999, Benedict coordinated the naming of Ned Wulk Court at Wells Fargo Arena.

Benedict and his wife Lisa reside in Phoenix.

Don Bocchi Associate Athletic Director Sun Angel Foundation President

Don Bocchi is in his eighth year as President of the Sun Angel Foundation (SAF), ASU Athletics' fundraising arm. The SAF has been supporting Sun Devil athletics as a separate entity since 1947, but under Bocchi's leadership became part of ASU's athletic department in 1998.

After a 23-year coaching career, Bocchi was appointed President of the SAF in September 1993 and assumed the role in December of that same year. Under his leadership, the SAF has expanded its staff and programs while maintaining its goal of promoting excellence in both academic and athletic programs at ASU.

Bocchi's association with Arizona State began in 1985 when he began a nine-year stint as an assistant coach for Sun Devil football. He began by serving as ASU's recruiting director until 1988 when he became ASU's receivers coach, a role he remained in through the 1993 season. In those nine years Bocchi served under four ASU head coaches: Darryl Rogers, John Cooper, Larry Marmie and Bruce Snyder.

Bocchi's coaching career began in 1970 as an assistant football and basketball coach at Blackhawk High School in his hometown of Beaver Falls, Pa. He moved into the college ranks in 1975 as a member of the Kansas State coaching staff. He spent one year as a graduate assistant for the Wildcats and two seasons as the team's recruiting coordinator. In 1978, Bocchi was named an assistant athletic director at Kansas State. In that position he handled certification of eligibility, compliance with NCAA regulations and academics for the Wildcats. He returned to the playing field from 1981 to 1984 as Kansas State's backfield coach.

Bocchi was born Sept. 20, 1946 in Beaver Falls, Pa., and graduated from Beaver Falls High School, alma mater of legendary NFL quarterback Joe Namath. Bocchi played basketball at Adrian College in Michigan, but after suffering a serious knee injury in his second year, he transferred to Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, where he graduated in 1968. In 1970, he earned a master's degree in education from the University of Wisconsin.

Bocchi and his wife, Eileen, have two sons, Matthew (19) and Joel (17).

that focuses on the holistic growth and development of student-athletes, including community service, career and personal development.

Boyd, in his sixth year overall at ASU, is the chair for the ICA Gender Equity Committee and continues to coordinate Sun Devil HEAT (Help Employ Athletes Today), the career development program for Sun Devil student-athletes. Additionally, in the past he has been responsible for the Sun Devil Speaker's Bureau, a program which sends student-athletes into the community to speak to youth and other individuals regarding such issues as motivation, goal setting, the importance of education, the dangers of drugs and alcohol, etc., and compliance for Camps and Clinics. Boyd also works closely with the ASU Student-Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC) and serves as athletic department liaison for student-athlete housing.

Boyd earned his master's degree in 1998 at ASU in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies, focusing on Higher Education Administration. He played football for ASU during the 1991-93 seasons, and spent time with the New England Patriots of the NFL and the London Monarchs of NFL Europe.

Mark Brand Assistant Athletic Director for Media Relations

Mark Brand is in his 18th year at Arizona State and his 13th as the director of the media relations office. He had served as an assistant sports information director at ASU for four years (1983-87). He works closely with the Sun Devil Sports Network and supervised the origination of the Arizona State Athletic Department page on the World Wide Web in the summer of 1996. Brand also handles scheduling for football and men's and women's basketball.

In 1996 and 1992, he served as the Media Coordinator for the NCAA West Region First and Second Rounds of the Men's Basketball Championship. In 1999 he served as Media Coordinator for the NCAA West Regional at America West Arena. In 1992, he also served as the Media Coordinator of NCAA Women's Golf Championships at The ASU Karsten Golf Course. He also was the Media Coordinator for the 1992 Pacific-10 Conference Women's Golf Championships, the 1990 Pac-10 Men's Basketball Tournament (at ASU) and two baseball regionals (1984, '87).

From 1981-83 he was assistant sports information director at East Carolina University in Greenville, N.C. Brand graduated from Purdue University in 1981 with a bachelor's degree in journalism and English.

Brand has won national awards for his 1998, '96, '95, '93, '92, '90, and '86 football guides and for his 1989-90 basketball, 1985 baseball and 1983-84 and 1984-85 men's basketball media guides. The 1998, '96, '92 and '86 football guides were named "Best in the District" and the covers of the 1996 and '86 guides were selected "Best in the Nation."

Brand also serves as Vice President and on the Board of Directors for the Valley of the Sun Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame. In addition, the football press operations at Arizona State were judged best in the Pac-10 by the College Football Writers Association in 1998.

Brand and wife Lori have two children, Ashley (11) and Lindsey (6).

Dr. Thomas Carter Team Physician

Ensuring the physical well being of Sun Devil student-athletes is Dr. Thomas Carter, a board-certified orthopedist currently in his ninth year of affiliation with Arizona State. Dr. Carter also works as an orthopedic consultant for the Phoenix Suns and Coyotes in addition to his private practice at The Orthopedic Clinic. The native of McKeesport, Penn., is currently serving a three-year term as the Arizona delegate to the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine, and sits on the American Orthopedic Subcommittee for Sports Medicine.

Carter received his Bachelor of Science degrees in biology and chemistry from Allegheny College in 1979. He earned an M.D. from the University of Pittsburgh in 1983 before completing his residency at Ohio State University in 1988. Following his residency, Carter completed two sports medicine fellowship training programs.

Carter and his wife Sheila Marie reside in Paradise Valley with their two sons, Garrett and Grady.

Victor Cegles Lead Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs

Vic Cegles is in his 15th year with the ASU Athletic department. He served as the Associate Athletic Director for nine years and administered ICA Marketing/ Promotion and Sun Devil Media Relations overseeing ticket sales, corporate sponsorship, television and radio.

Named Lead Associate for External Affairs in 1996, Cegles is directing the athletic department's $30 million capital campaign to raise funds for endowment and facility improvement. He will coordinate all revenue acquisitions for Sun Devil athletics.

Cegles earned his bachelor's degree from Bucknell University, where he co-captained both the basketball and baseball teams. He received a master's degree in student personal services while coaching at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. The former assistant athletic director at Rutgers University also held coaching and administrative positions at West Virginia Wesleyan and Carnegie Mellon University.

Cegles and his wife, Bonnie have two sons, Vic (15) and Casey (13).

Mike Chismar Assistant Athletic Director for Operations

Mike Chismar begins his 21st year with Sun Devil Athletics, and his fifth as Assistant Athletic Director for Operations. Among his responsibilities at ASU, Chismar oversees the department's equipment, sports medicine, physical therapy personnel, strength and conditioning and video services' staffs as well as serving as liaison to Fine Host on all food service issues.

Chismar is responsible for all ICA Building issues and football team travel operations. In addition, the 1982 ASU graduate coordinates all household moves and a majority of procurement issues for the department and assists the game management team with Sun Devil home football games. He served as Tournament Director for the 1992 NCAA Women's Golf Championships as well as numerous NCAA men's and women's Golf, tennis and women's softball regional tournaments.

Chismar annually serves as a member of the project team responsible for the various construction projects ongoing in ICA, as well as assisting with yearly preparations for Camp Tontozona, the Sun Devils' preseason football camp.

Chismar's father, the late Ron Chismar, was a Sun Devil Football assistant coach from 1980-83 under head coach Darryl Rogers.

A native of Canton, Ohio, Chismar is married to the former Jina Solis, an Assistant to the President of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. The couple have a daughter, Hannah Elizabeth (1), and they reside in Phoenix.

Tom Collins Associate Athletic Director for Corporate/Community Relations

Tom Collins, a 1982 graduate of Arizona State with a bachelor's degree in marketing, is the primary contact for all athletic department corporate sponsorships, merchandising, licensing and signage issues in the position of Associate Athletic Director for Corporate/Community Relations.

He annually has served as the Tournament Director of the ASU/Tribune (basketball) Classic and was the ASU Tournament Director for the 1996 and 1992 NCAA Men's Basketball First and Second Rounds and the 1990 Pacific-10 Conference Basketball Tournament. He also oversees the media relations, marketing/promotions and ticket offices in his role.

Collins returned to ASU in 1985 as assistant athletic director for operations, following two years as assistant athletic director for tickets at Miami (Fla.), and a stint as the ticket manager at Washington State University in 1983.

Collins formerly held the position of assistant ticket manager at Arizona State from 1981 until 1983. He served as ASU ticket coordinator from 1976 through 1981.

Collins is a member of the Tempe Diablos, and also served as project coordinator for the six-story ICA Building at the south end of Sun Devil Stadium. He is married to the former Kathy Von Flue and they have two children: Eryn (17) and Robbie (14).

Camille Crook Coordinator for Human Resources

Camille Crook is in her fifth year as the coordinator for Human Resources in the Arizona State Athletic Department. Crook coordinates all HR activities for the department, including Student Employment.

In addition, he manages the staging of Arizona Cardinals football and the annual Fiesta Bowl. In 1996, Sadler's office facilitated the staging of both the Collegiate National Championship Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and Super Bowl XXX. Sadler has been with ASU since 1984.

Sadler holds a Master's degree in Public Administration from ASU. He is a 1983 graduate of Aquinas (Michigan) College with a bachelor's degree in Industrial/Organizational Psychology. Tom and his wife, Tracey, reside in Tempe.

Koichi SATO

Assistant Athletic Trainer

Koichi SATO enters his first year at the gymnastic trainer. Born in Koriyama, Japan, SATO graduated from Tokyo International University in 1993 with B.A. in international study (Russia and Eastern European Study). He then graduated from Eastern Illinois University in 1997 with B.S. in physical education (athletic training) and is currently working on master's degree in biomechanics at ASU.

SATO also worked for Chicago White Sox organization in summer of 1998 and 1999 and has been working at ASU since 1997 as a graduate assistant athletic trainer for cross country, football, track and field and wrestling. He is the son of Kazushi and Kazuko SATO.

Mary Schwertley Concessions Manager

Mary Schwertley is the Arizona State concessions manager, a position she has held for the past 10 years. In that capacity Schwertley directs and coordinates all ASU souvenir concession operations.

Prior to being named concessions manager, Schwertley was a general manager with Delstar Group, which handled ASU concessions prior to them being an in-house operation. She also spent fourteen years with Broadway Southwest, including two as divisional sales manager.

Schwertley has a bachelor's degree in home economics from Arizona State and she also holds an associate's degree in art from Glendale Community College. She has two sons, Michael (18) and Travis (14).

Chuck Sleeper Assistant Director of Sun Angel Foundation

Chuck Sleeper joined the Sun Devil staff in April 2000 as Assistant Director of the Sun Angel Foundation. Sleeper will handle day-to-day operations of the Foundation overseeing a full-time staff of eight. He will also manage the planned giving and endowment program.

Prior to arriving at ASU, Sleeper was Associate Athletic Director for Advancement at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, where he was responsible for fund raising, marketing, corporate sponsorships and alumni relations. At Cal Poly, Sleeper was the catalyst behind a $15 million capital improvements program that created a new sports complex, a renovation of Mott Gymnasium, and a new weight training facility and academic resource center for student-athletes. During his seven years at Cal Poly, Sleeper raised over $20,000,000 for the benefit of the intercollegiate athletics and recreational sports programs.

Sleeper served as Assistant Compliance Director at the University of Michigan during 1991 and 1992. He holds a Masters degree in Sports Administration (1986) from St. Thomas University in Miami, Florida. Sleeper is a 1983 graduate of Grand Valley State University, where he received his Bachelor's degree in Political Science, while earning all-conference honors as a pitcher for the Laker baseball team.

Chuck and his wife, Julia, have two children, Luke (5) and Olivia.

Casey Smith Athletic Trainer

A 1992 graduate of Arizona State, and a native of Wellston, Ohio, Smith earned his Master of Science degree at West Virginia University in 1994.

Smith is member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association and is married to former Sun Devil All-American gymnast Suzi Baldock.

Gina Sperry Coordinator of Life Skills

Gina Sperry is in her second year as Arizona State's Coordinator of Sun Devil Life Skills. Her responsibilities include the development and implementation of personal development programs and coordinating community outreach for student-athletes.

Prior to her arrival in Tempe, Sperry served as Coordinator of Life Skills at the University of New Hampshire, where she implemented personal development programs for student-athletes and coaches and coordinated community outreach programs. Simultaneously, Sperry also served as UNH's head cross country/track and field coach, a position she held since 1992. In 1984 Sperry earned her M.S. in physical education from Eastern Illinois University, where she also completed her undergraduate degree.

Doug Tammaro Associate Media Relations Director

Doug Tammaro is in his eighth year with the ASU media relations office and assists the director with football and handles publicity for Sun Devil men's basketball and men's golf, as well as serving as co-editor of the football programs.

Tammaro was a sports information assistant at the University of Notre Dame in 1992-93, where he was the sports information contact for baseball, men's soccer and hockey. Tammaro was a frequent writer for the Notre Dame football and basketball programs and coordinated electronic interviews for the football players and staff.

A native of Ellwood City, Pa., Tammaro worked at the University of Cincinnati in 1991-92 and assisted in the publicity of the men's basketball team which reached the Final Four in 1992.

Tammaro is a 1991 graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, with a business administration and marketing degree and minors in English and communications. Tammaro and his wife, Stephanie, reside in Chandler.

Greg Walaitis Assistant Athletic Director for Corporate Sales and Marketing

Greg Walaitis is in his 10th year overall at ASU and is the Assistant Athletic Director for Corporate Sales and Marketing. Walaitis started his career at ASU as an intern and most recently was the Director of Marketing & Promotions in charge of coordinating the advertising, season ticket sales and game-day promotions for all sports for the past nine years.

In his current position, he oversees the sale of all corporate sponsorships, stadium/arena signage and creates special events that will result in long-term corporate partnerships for all sports teams at ASU.

Walaitis earned his bachelor's degree in 1989 and his master's degree in 1991 from Arizona State University. An active member in the community, Walaitis is a member of the Tostito's Fiesta Bowl Committee. A native of Long Island, New York, Walaitis and his wife Karen and daughter, Megan, reside in Chandler.

Rich Wenner Head Strength Coach

Rich Wenner is in his 13th year at Arizona State and his fifth as head strength coach. He had been the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Sun Devil athletic teams for his first eight years.

Wenner, 35, brings a great deal of experience and knowledge to the program. He worked with all 20 ASU athletic squads as a student assistant and captained the school's powerlifting team as an undergraduate. During his career he won four collegiate national championships and set over a dozen national records.

Upon graduating he remained as a volunteer assistant at ASU, and also worked as a rehabilitation specialist/ strength and conditioning coach at the Sports Medicine Institute in Glendale. He continued powerlifting, and won both the American Drug Free Powerlifting Association Senior Nationals and the International Powerlifting Federation's Junior World Championships in 1986. He also won the Lifetime Drug Free National Powerlifting Championships in 1988, 1989, 1990 and 1991. He was selected as the 1997 Pac-10 Strength Coach of the Year. His wife's name is Pauley.

Todd Williamson Coordinator for Transition Programming

Todd Williamson is in his second year as the Coordinator for Transition Programming at Arizona State. He is responsible for incoming freshman and junior college transfers transition to ASU. He works closely with the student-athletes on their academic adjustments.

Williamson received his bachelors in education from the University of Maine in 1997, where he also played football from 1993-96. He worked as an athletic academic counselor at Maine in 1997-98 and served as the tutorial coordinator in '98. Williamson and his wife Lindsay reside in Scottsdale with their two children, Denzel (2) and Lexis (1).

Mark Zimmer Equipment Coordinator

Mark Zimmer is in his 11th year at Arizona State University, his fourth as Coordinator of Athletic Equipment. Prior to coming to ASU, Zimmer worked at Ashland University (Ohio), the University of Pennsylvania and the Detroit Drive of the Arena Football League. He also worked as the Athletes/Officials Service Coordinator for the archery venue at the 1996 Centennial Summer Olympic Games in Atlanta.

A member of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association since 1984, Zimmer is a graduate of Michigan State University and resides in Chandler.

Academic Services

Arizona State University's approximately 500 student-athletes are guided through their academic careers by the Intercollegiate Athletic Department's Academic Services Office. Support services include "student-athlete centered" orientation programs, academic planning and organizing toward graduation, advising, registration, tutoring, study habits, study halls and use of the ICA computer site and laptop computers.

Associate Director of Athletics Sandy Hatfield Clubb oversees student and academic services. Academic Services are coordinated by a staff of managers and coordinators, dedicated to guiding and supporting student-athletes. That staff is divided into three areas designed to address the needs and identify resources to help student-athletes succeed in the classroom. A group of four staff members advise students, helping them identify majors, register for classes and progress toward graduation, including manager Mike McBride and coordinators Leslie Barnes, Gary Montoya and Todd Williamson. Another part of the staff is the first-year experience team which specializes in the transition needs of new students. The group, made up of manager Brian Richardson, and two coordinators including Kiersten Lockie, helps student-athletes develop as students, teaching study skills such as test preparation, time management, note-taking and organization. They also address the area of learning disabilities and coordinate the tutorial program.

Twenty-five football student-athletes were 2000 Maroon and Gold Scholar-Athletes at the annual luncheon hosted by University President Lattie E. Coor. These student-athletes earned a 3.0 or higher GPA in the previous fall or spring semesters or had a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher. ASU honored 265 student-athletes representing all sports teams, including 39 with a perfect 4.0 semester GPA. Sun Devil football student-athletes are also making great improvements in their academic careers with 23 turning in a 3.0 GPA or better in the spring semester, while a total of 49 increased their GPAs from the previous academic term.

More student-athletes are finishing their degrees in the fall semester of their final season. The 2000 team will feature four players with their undergraduate degrees – Mike Aguirre, Brian Forth, Victor Leyva, Jason Moore, – while an additional seven student-athletes are scheduled to graduate in December 2000 – Adam Archuleta, Ché Britton, James Dunn, Eric Fields, Christon Rance, Stephen Trejo and Quincy Yancy. Twice a year, graduates, their families and ASU faculty and staff are invited to celebrate at a special Athletic Department Graduation Luncheon.

The NCAA has provided full scholarships to 45 former student-athletes to return to ASU and finish their degrees. Eight former Sun Devil football student-athletes – Greg Battle, Bryan Caldwell, Steve Campbell, Greg Joelson, Scott Kirby, Doug Larson, Jimmy Williams and Kirk Wendorf – have graduated from ASU through the NCAA Grant Program.

From the time a freshman student-athlete comes to the ASU campus, services are available to keep the student on a steady course of academic progress toward graduation. Freshman also participate with other student-athletes in UNI 194, the University's academic success course especially designed by ICA's Student Services Department to help student-athletes adjust to college.

All football freshmen and transfer student-athletes are required to participate in a program called the Academic Gameplan which provides an opportunity for the student-athletes to maximize their time and develop good study habits. Coordinated by student services manager Mike McBride, the Academic Gameplan is an accountability program that places the responsibility for academic success upon the student-athletes themselves with the support of coaches and academic staff. It teaches study skills and involves daily study sessions attended by players and coaches. In the program, coaches also serve as academic coaches, monitoring the academic progress of their position players. ASU first implemented the Academic Gameplan in the middle of the spring semester 2000, and 26 of the 27 participants earned the highest semester GPA of their careers.

The ICA Building in Sun Devil Stadium houses the Academic and Student Services department. It also houses an academic computer lab which allows student-athletes to use word processing or spreadsheet software, complete academic assignments on the internet and use email. Student-athletes may check out laptop computers to use on campus, and coaches can check out laptops for student-athletes to use on road trips. Study hall rooms provide space for studying and working with tutors.

Throughout their academic careers, ASU football student-athletes consult with academic advisors in the athletic department and on campus. The strict academic and NCAA demands placed on a student-athlete differ from all other students; therefore the athletics department staff maintains regular communication with student-athletes to assist them with course selection and plans or programs of study. They only work with student-athletes and are specialized in complying with the NCAA requirements placed on student-athletes.

A student-athlete needing additional help in a specific subject may request a tutor. Tutors assist student-athletes on an individual or group basis, as well as run mentor and study cluster groups throughout each semester. Grades and attendance are also closely monitored through an academic progress report filled out by classroom instructors two times per semester.

Success in the classroom provides the student-athletes with a number of opportunities. The Summer School Enrichment Program, which allows student-athletes to attend summer school on scholarship, helps student-athletes move toward our goal of graduation in a shorter period of time. Student-athletes who have not graduated after their last season and are eligible for a fifth year of aid can qualify for ASU's post-eligibility program, sponsored by the Board of Regents and the Sun Angel Foundation Endowment. This program provides the student-athletes with athletic scholarships to finish their degrees at ASU.

Throughout their academic careers, ASU student-athletes are expected to take responsibility for their education and developing their career goals. This includes realizing that dedication and self-discipline are as important in the classroom and their careers as on the playing field. Maintaining a positive attitude toward academics and the privilege of being an ASU student-athlete is emphasized, as well as developing the desire to succeed semester after semester. ASU recruits student-athletes with academic and athletic goals and the personal discipline to achieve them in the "student-athlete centered" environment of ASU Athletics.

Another important component of the student-athlete experience at Arizona State is the Student Services/Sun Devil Life Skills program. Coordinated by former ASU football player Jean Boyd and coordinator Gina Sperry, the Sun Devil Life Skills Program serves to assist student-athletes in achieving total excellence. A participating member in the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills program, Arizona State's Life Skills Program sponsors a number of programs which focus on the holistic development of the student-athlete and prepares him for the challenge of life beyond the playing field. The program focuses on five areas including academic excellence, personal development, athletic excellence, career development and community outreach.

Academic Excellence

The area strives to support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation. It involves all components of the academic services department including academic advising, monitoring student progress, study halls, tutorial services, student development and scholarship enrichment opportunities. It also includes recognizing student-athletes for their academic successes with the Maroon & Gold Scholar-Athlete program, Athletic Director's High Honor and Honor Rolls and nominating student-athletes for conference and national academic awards and scholarships.

Personal Development

The focus of this area is to support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes and encourages personal growth and decision-making skills. The student services department seeks to accomplish its purpose through a program called Sun Devil S.P.A.R.K. (Supporting Personal Achievement and Relaying Knowledge). Sun Devil S.P.A.R.K. features activities and seminars on understanding diversity, goal setting, communication skills, social development and ethical decision-making, time management and developing self-esteem. Programs also address personal health and wellness issues like nutrition and eating concerns, stress management, alcohol choices, addictive behavior, depression and grief, sexual responsibility and sports psychology. Two other parts of this area are UNI 194 and the Student-Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC). UNI 194: Student-Athlete Success is a required one-credit hour lab which addresses numerous issues that enhance the student-athlete experience at ASU. The Student-Athlete Advisory Council is organized to provide an ongoing vehicle for communication between student-athletes and the athletics department on issues of mutual interest at the local and national levels.

Athletic Excellence

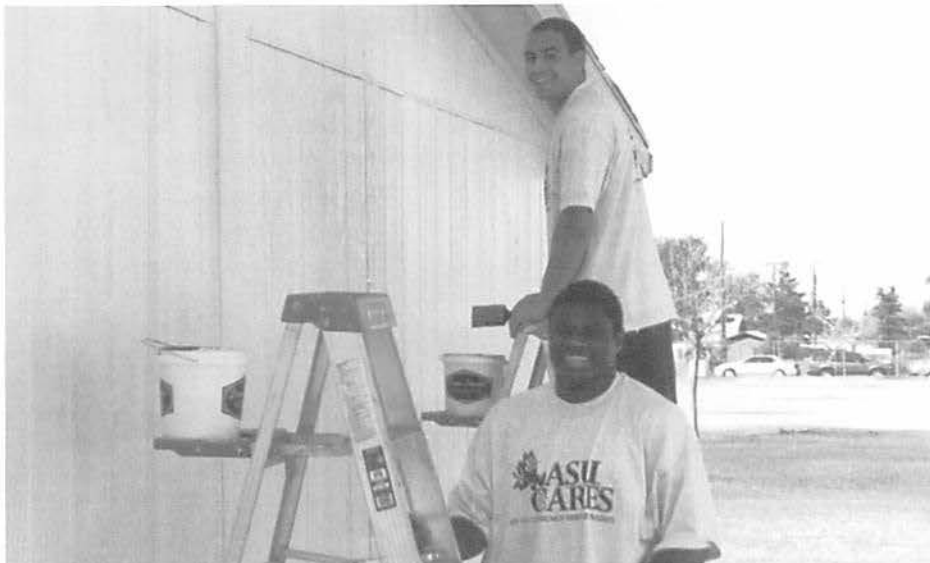

All of the departments in ASU's Intercollegiate Athletics Department work together to provide athletics programs which are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the competitive well-being of student-athletes. Quality coaching and departments like the equipment room, sports medicine, strength and conditioning, compliance, marketing and promotions, media relations and ASU's faculty athletics representative all seek to meet these goals by providing competitive scheduling and excellence in facilities, operations and equipment.

Community Outreach

Being a student and an athlete can take up a lot of time, but the Sun Devil Life Skills program also provides opportunities for student-athletes to engage in service to their campus and surrounding communities. The Sun Devil T.A.L.E.S. (Talk About Life Experiences Through Sports) Speaker's Bureau arranges for student-athletes to speak to children in local schools and community programs on topics like making "positive" life choices, staying in school, saying no to drugs and alcohol, and sportsmanship. There are also opportunities for team outreach projects like book and food drives, holiday adopt-a-family programs, youth play days, community clean-up days and visits to children's hospitals.

Career Development

Sun Devil H.E.A.T. (Help Employ Athletes Today) is the career development and management program for student-athletes and is a collaboration between Intercollegiate Athletics, University Career Services and the community at large. The focus of this area is to encourage student-athletes to develop and pursue their career and life goals through career awareness, career exploration and job placement. The program seeks to develop student-athletes' career awareness through interest inventories, skill assessments and multi-media career information. Career exploration includes providing opportunities for job shadowing, career panels, internships and summer jobs. Finally, Sun Devil H.E.A.T. seeks to prepare student-athletes for entering the work force by assisting them with resume preparation, interviewing skills, job search skills and career networking. Sun Devil H.E.A.T. teaches student-athletes to transfer the drive, determination, dedication and team spirit that has made them successful in their sports to the business world. Ultimately, Sun Devil H.E.A.T. capitalizes on the student-athlete experience by preparing them to engage in meaningful career opportunities and manage their careers.

Equipment Room

Keeping track of the uniforms and keeping all of the equipment Arizona State's football players and coaches need in proper working order can be a daunting task. That task falls to equipment manager Mark Zimmer and his staff.

Operating out of equipment rooms on the lower level of the ICA Building and at Wells Fargo Arena, Zimmer has two full-time assistants in Paul Lopez and Johnny O'Donnell and a staff of undergraduate student assistants. Together the equipment staff issues and maintains all of the individual equipment each player and coach needs to compete throughout the season.

From the moment a freshman enters the Sun Devil football program, Zimmer and his staff will outfit him with new gear and then works with him throughout his career to maintain it and check it for proper fittings.

In addition to keeping the equipment in working order, the equipment staff is also responsible for getting it to each of the Sun Devil away games. That tasks starts two days before the game when Zimmer and his staff inspect and repair the helmets and shoulder pads as needed. The next day, they hand out travel bags to the traveling players and load all of the necessary equipment onto a semi-truck. They then assist in loading all of the equipment onto the airplane and unload it at the destination and into the locker room. At the end of the game, Zimmer and his assistants repeat that process as the team travels back to Tempe and prepare for the next week's practices and game.

Sports Medicine

Under the director of head trainer Perry Edinger, Arizona State's sports medicine department strives to provide student-athletes with the best medical health possible throughout their careers.

Since the success of ASU's teams depends on the well-being of its student-athletes, ASU's sports medicine department is dedicated to the care, prevention and rehabilitation of injuries. Located on the second floor of the ICA Building, the sports medicine department is staffed by six full-time athletic trainers, six graduate assistants and 15 student trainers who are working toward their certification. All of Arizona State's trainers are certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association. In addition to the main training room in the ICA Building, the sports medicine department operates six other training rooms throughout all of ASU's athletic facilities to accommodate its student-athletes' schedules and needs.

Arizona State also employs four team physicians who all work closely with Edinger and his staff. In addition, the sports medicine department relies on a group of 40 doctors on its Sports Medicine Advisory Team. That team features doctors who specialize in areas such as orthopedics, optometry and internal medicine and act as consultants to the sports medicine department to provide first-class care in any medical situation student-athletes may encounter.

From the time that a student-athlete begins his career at ASU, the sports medicine department is actively involved in ensuring his success on the playing field. That process begins with a thorough physical exam prior to his participation in any activity. The sports medicine spends five to six hours on that initial exam in order to be proactive in any health or medical issues student-athletes have when they arrive.

ASU's sports medicine department attends every practice and game, home and away, and the training room facilities are open between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. each day. In addition, athletic trainers are on call 24 hours a day. A major emphasis is on the prevention of injuries such as taping, pro-TECTIVE equipment, preventive exercises, flexibility training and other activities that can help keep student-athletes healthy.

Preventive measures are constantly being studied by ASU's sports medicine department using a computerized injury reporting system. That system compares Arizona State's injury information with other Pac-10 Conference and NCAA institutions and enables the sports medicine department to share and gather information on injury prevention and care with other departments in order to provide ASU's student-athletes with the best care possible.

Strength & Conditioning

Helping Sun Devil student-athletes reach their peak physical performance is the responsibility of Arizona State's strength and conditioning department.

Under the direction of head strength and conditioning coach Rich Wenner, Arizona State maintains state-of-the-art weight rooms in the ICA Building and in Wells Fargo Arena, each with thousands of dollars of strength and aerobic equipment. With the expansion of the ICA Building, which is set to begin in the summer of 2000, ASU's strength and conditioning facilities will triple in size. Wenner's staff features three full-time assistants, two graduate assistants and two to three student interns.

From the time that a student-athlete begins his career at ASU, the strength and conditioning staff will work with him to develop a program for him to gain and maintain top physical condition. One of the main goals of the strength and conditioning staff is injury prevention, so they work with each student-athlete to identify his strengths and weaknesses and tailor a program to meet his needs.

The strength and conditioning program for ASU's football players is structured and team-oriented. The strength and conditioning staff have basic programs geared toward line and skill players, and student-athletes receive detailed individual workout programs each week. Student-athletes then lift in groups each day around their school schedules throughout the year. Each year, a number of student-athletes spend their summers in Tempe, working out voluntarily in the weight room to get ready for the upcoming season.

Increasing strength and power, improving foot and running speed, gaining flexibility and gaining or reducing weight are just some of the goals of the strength and conditioning program. The strength and conditioning program also builds on many of the intangibles that help Arizona State's student-athletes succeed. Working out in the weight room and conditioning helps foster team unity, commitment and strong work ethic.

Staying on the cutting edge of the latest strength and conditioning programs is also a priority for Wenner and his staff. They are constantly sharing ideas and experiences with schools and organizations across the country to develop new and better programs. ASU's strength coaches also belong to the National Strength and Conditioning Association and attend clinics twice a year to stay on the cutting edge and best prepare ASU's student-athletes for the demands of competition at the highest level.

Video Services

Rob Roberson and his staff are responsible for all of the video services for Arizona State's football program. As video coordinator, Roberson also oversees the video needs of the entire athletics department.

One of the most important duties of ASU's video department involves scouting opponents' game film. Roberson and his staff break down the tapes for the Sun Devil coaching staff to help them prepare for upcoming games. They also shoot all of Arizona State's game and practice film which the coaching staff reviews and analyzes and produces highlight videos.

Making up Roberson's staff is a full-time assistant in Justin Casey and a staff of three undergraduate student assistants in Bill Klain, Tanner Hawkins and Drew Jackson.

The video crew uses a state-of-the-art digital non-linear editing system. The staff works out of a studio in Sun Devil Stadium which has all of the video and audio capabilities of a working television station.

They operate three cameras at all of the Sun Devil practices and games and have 20 video stations where coaches and players can review film. Roberson's staff also has nine meeting rooms in Wells Fargo Arena which are equipped for film breakdown as well.

Media Relations

Under the direction of Assistant Athletic Director Mark Brand, the Arizona State media relations department handles all of the publicity for the Sun Devils' 21 sports. The media relations office serves as the intermediary between Sun Devil athletics and the media and the general public.

Brand supervises a staff of six full-time assistants who are all directly involved in the promotion of Arizona State's student-athletes and athletics programs including associate director Doug Tammaro, assistant directors Rhonda Lundin, Sean Moore and Will Phillips. The media relations office also employs a full-time intern in Ben Alkaly and a capable staff of student interns which help with game-day operations and the day-to-day workings of the department.

Among the many duties of the media relations department are producing the football media guide and game-day programs, arranging interviews and stories for newspapers, magazines, radio and television, promoting student-athletes for national awards and maintaining the official athletics department web site – www.TheSunDevils.com. The staff holds weekly press conferences for the media to talk to head coach Bruce Snyder and selected student-athletes and is also responsible for running the press box on game days.

Life in the Valley

The Valley of the Sun conjures up many images: sundrenched skies, breathtaking desert beauty, Southwestern history and outdoor recreation. The sunshine that inspires the casual lifestyle of this cultural and recreational mecca is more plentiful than in any other part of the country. The climate makes outdoor activities a way of life. Spectator and participatory sports include everything from golf and tennis to four-wheeling in the desert and hot-air ballooning.

Saddled between dramatic mountain ranges to the north, south and east, the Valley of the Sun is located where early Hohokam Indians first settled. The Valley is comprised of 22 incorporated cities that cover 9,127 square miles of Maricopa County. Although collectively referred to as the Valley of the Sun, the main cities visited by vacationers and conventioners are the state's capital Phoenix, Tempe, Scottsdale and Mesa. This sprawling metropolis of cactus-laden mountain ranges, resorts and golf courses is home to 2.3 million people and is the destination for 10 million people annually.

Year-round sunshine and mild temperatures have made the Valley America's Premier Desert City. Located 1,117 feet above sea level, the weather is warm, sunny and usually dry. The yearly average temperature is a pleasant 85 degrees. Low humidity makes summer heat more comfortable than in other hot climates.

In the heart of the Valley of the Sun lies the city of Tempe, home to Arizona State University. Tempe is the fifth largest city in the state, boasting a population of more than 159,000.

A growing center for arts and entertainment, Tempe has three museums, two libraries and two theatres in its boundaries. This gives residents the opportunity to learn and explore many different cultures, while Tempe's theatres afford residents a chance to see live performances such as Broadway musicals and concerts. ASU's own Grady Gammage Auditorium, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, has played host to such Broadway productions as "Rent," "Phantom of the Opera," "Les Miserables" and "Chicago" in the past few seasons.

Tempe's historic downtown area also offers residents many activities. Located just a few blocks from the ASU campus and Sun Devil Stadium, Mill Avenue is the main corridor for downtown activities. Seamlessly combining the late 1800s buildings with modern architecture, Mill Avenue and the surrounding downtown blocks feature a number of boutiques, shops, restaurants, hotels and nightclubs. Dining in downtown Tempe is an experience in itself since the mild temperatures allow residents to enjoy the many outdoor patios just about every day of the year. Mill Avenue also plays host to three major street festivals every year, which each draw nearly 250,000 people.

With so many sunshine-filled days, the Valley is the perfect place to experience unique and fun outdoor activities, most of which are offered year-round. There are more than 1,000 tennis courts, 187 golf courses and numerous other facilities in the Phoenix metropolitan area. Tempe alone has more than 1,100 acres in 47 parks and other facilities, including two municipally-owned golf courses, as well as over 120 miles of bicycles lanes and paths. While in the area, you can choose from water skiing, sailing and fishing in the region's lakes and rivers.

Horseback riding is a great way to see the spectacular Sonoran Desert, as is a rugged jeep ride that takes you outside the city limits and deep into the desert environment. Spending the afternoon tubing or rafting the Verde or Salt rivers is another way to enjoy the outdoors. For the thrill seekers, a glider or hot-air balloon flight will take you high above the desert plateau and offer splendid views of the Valley.

If the music scene is what you crave, there are many opportunities to enjoy the top names in music as they make their way through Arizona. Rock, jazz, country western and easy listening artists appear at the Celebrity Theater, America West Arena, Gammage Auditorium, Sun Devil Stadium, outdoor amphitheaters like Compton Terrace and Desert Sky Pavilion and many other venues around the Valley.

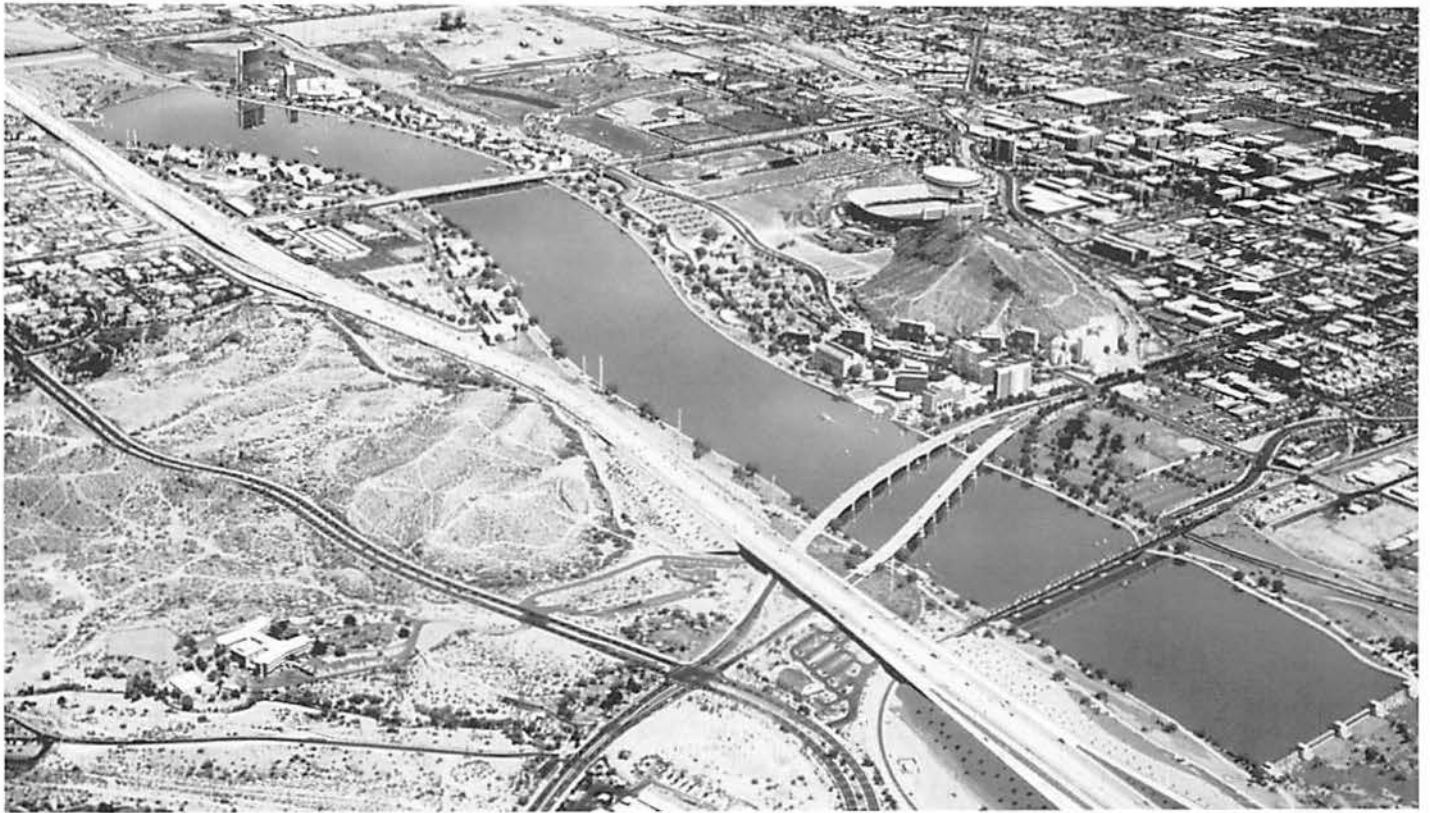

The Valley of the Sun is also teeming with sporting events. Among these are the PGA Phoenix Open, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, Cactus League baseball, the NBA's Phoenix Suns, the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury, Senior PGA golf, the NFL's Arizona Cardinals, the NHL's Phoenix Coyotes, MLB's Arizona Diamondbacks, Arena Football's Arizona Rattlers, LPGA golf, horse and greyhound racing as well as a full slate of collegiate sports.

Arizona is known as a land of contrasts. You will see everything from the tall, cool pines of northern Arizona to the cactus-filled scenery of the Sonoran Desert. You will also want to experience the majestic Grand Canyon, one of the seven natural wonders of the world. This breath-taking sight is open year-round and may be enjoyed through nature walks or mule rides into the Canyon or by taking a leisurely drive or stroll along the Canyon's outer edges.

Whether hiking in the canyons and deserts or enjoying the many cultural activities, the Valley of the Sun offers a Southwestern style of hospitality. You'll find an ideal climate, gorgeous landscapes, enticing restaurants, spectacular entertainment and most of all, fun.

Tempe's Rio Salado

Currently in the works is the Tempe Rio Salado Project, the largest development effort ever undertaken by the city. It includes a 2.2-mile Town Lake, public recreation, commercial development and new residential areas covering 100 acres of land just north of the ASU campus, along the Rio Salado River. The completion of the Tempe Town Lake came in June 1999, with more phases of development to follow.

With the completion of the Tempe Town Lake, residents and visitors are already able to enjoy activities such as sailing, canoeing, rowing, bicycling, hiking, jogging, picnicking, in-line skating and photography, dinner cruises, guided tours and pedal boating.

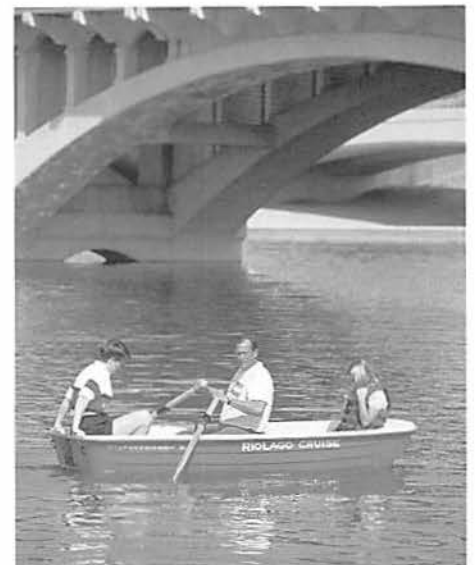

The Hayden Ferry/Rio Salado Landing reflects a crown jewel on the edge of the Town Lake in the heart of Tempe's existing downtown. This dynamic, mixed-use urban development consists of commercial office space, condominiums, a full service hotel and a unique "Main Street" retail entertainment component. The Hayden Ferry/Rio Salado Landing plan is located on the south edge of the Town Lake and extends from the intersection of Mill Avenue and Third Street to ASU's Sun Devil Stadium.

Development plans for the Rio Salado also include:

- A 24- to 29-story 1,000-room five-star Peabody resort and conference facility, with 9,300 square feet of restaurants, a 1,600 square foot bar, 6,000 square feet of retail space, and a 9,000 square foot health spa.

- An entertainment district with restaurants and themed attractions.
- Boardwalk East and Boardwalk West, with corporate offices, high-end retail stores and restaurants.

Campaign for Leadership

Arizona State University is currently in the midst of a $400 million fundraising campaign that ASU President Lattie Coor calls the "key to ASU's vision of being the university for the next century." Called "The Campaign for Leadership," it is the university's second capital fund-raiser in history.

"The success of our Campaign for Leadership will be measured in direct human impact," says Coor. "Our focus is on people — great teachers, great students and great communities."

Originally slated to raise $300 million, ASU raised its goal to $400 million in October 1998. As part of the Campaign for Leadership, ASU Athletics originally set a target of $20 million, but has already raised over $25 million and is now seeking to hit a new $30 million goal.

Co-chaired by Bob Hobbs, Bill Schaefer and Steve Wood along with honorary campaign chair Jerry Colangelo, the preeminent purpose of the campaign for athletics is to reestablish ASU's athletic facilities as the finest in the nation.

Twenty years ago, that was a fact of life and by the time the Campaign for Leadership ends in 2001, it will be once again.

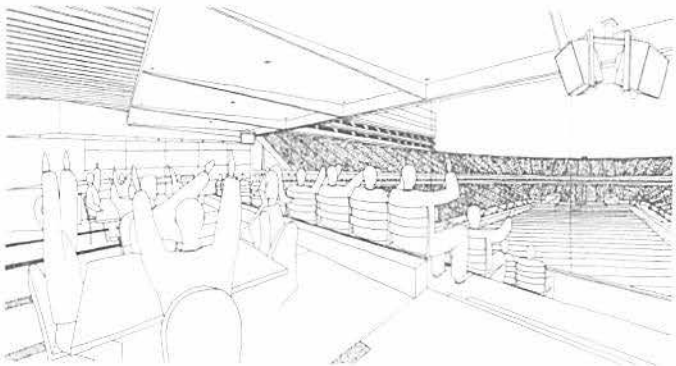

The Campaign for Leadership, which began in 1998, has already begun to fulfill its promise. Capital projects that have already been completed as a result of the campaign are:

- A state-of-the-art 7,000 square foot clubhouse named the Robson Player Facility at the Whiteman Tennis Center was completed in 1999.
- A 65-yard artificial turf football practice field was completed in 1998 adjacent to the Bill Kajikawa Football Practice Fields.
- The 1,500-seat Alberta B. Farrington Softball Stadium opened last spring and already hosted an NCAA Regional Championship.
- A 1,000-seat women's soccer stadium is completed and will be in use for the first time this season.
- A new center-court hung scoreboard has been installed at Wells Fargo Arena and will be in use for the first time this fall.

However, those projects are just the beginning. The Intercollegiate Athletics Building will be renamed the Nadine and Ed Carson student-athlete center and expanded to include a new football locker room and weight room, adding a modern multi-media theater facility, meeting rooms and a stadium dining club. Of special importance to ASU fans and alumni, the center expansion will provide a new Hall of Fame to showcase the tradition of ASU Athletics and the pride Sun Devil fans share in it. Also included in the refurbished ICA will be new coaches offices, a state-of-the-art Academic/Student Services Center, and a 2,400 square foot student-athlete lounge. Construction will begin in August 2000 and be completed by Fall 2001.

Wells Fargo Arena is slated to be refurbished with an 8,000 square foot Arena Club and a general facelift to the mezzanine and lower levels in addition to the new scoreboard. To the south of Wells Fargo Arena, a new field house will be built to house three Olympic sport training centers (gymnastics, volleyball and wrestling). A combined entrance will be built to Packard and Sun Angel Stadiums and new clubhouses will also be built at both the baseball and track and field facilities. Expanded and refurbished locker rooms will be in store for the Mona Plummer Aquatic Center.

The Campaign for Leadership is indeed a "defining moment" for the entire university. With the support of its many friends, the Campaign for Leadership will ensure that ASU Athletics will continue to be defined by success.

ASU Athletics wants to acknowledge and thank the following Sun Devils for their generous commitment:

The Sun Angel Foundation is a support group that has served Arizona State University since 1947. It was officially incorporated as a non-profit agency for the purpose of promoting Sun Devil athletic programs and recently came under the direction of Arizona State's inter-collegiate athletics department.

The Foundation seeks to join the energy and resources of business leaders, ASU alumni and members of the Valley community with the goals and objectives of Arizona State University to benefit the community at large. Over the past 53 years, Sun Angels have contributed over $60 million in private funding to ASU Athletics.

Annual contributions from Sun Angel members are the lifeblood of ASU Athletics. Contributions from more than 7,000 members support all of the university's 21 varsity teams and over 400 student-athletes.

The umbrella of the Sun Angel Foundation is large and includes specific clubs that strive to meet the needs of specific programs. The Wings of Gold (women's & Olympic sports), On Deck Circle (baseball) and Slam Dunk Club (basketball) are part of the Sun Angel Foundation and donations to the Sun Angel Foundation can be earmarked for specific programs and purposes.

The support Sun Devil athletics has received from its fans and community in the past is greatly appreciated. The Sun Angel Foundation stands ready to meet its half-century long goal of promoting excellence in both academic and athletic programs while becoming the best collegiate support group in the country. To join the team, call the Sun Angels today at 480-727-7700.

SUN DEVILS FOOTBALL 2000

HERITAGE

A - Arizona

Already one of the largest states in the union in terms of square miles, the Grand Canyon State could have been much larger if voters in the early 1900s had approved an idea from Congress.

The House Committee on Territories proposed admitting Arizona and New Mexico as one state in 1903 to help the Republicans gain a majority in representation. The state capital would have been in Santa Fe, and the combined land would have been called Arizona, but voters turned the idea down, and the Arizona we know today was admitted in 1912.

B - Bowls

Former ASU tailback Woody Green did a lot of his rushing damage in three separate bowl games. He still holds the NCAA records for most rushing yards (434) and touchdowns (10) in bowl games.

C - Camp Tontozona

The preseason home of the Sun Devils is a quiet, secluded forest area northeast of Payson, 100 miles northeast of Sun Devil Stadium. Workouts are rigorous and intense. No college football program in America can boast of such a facility in such a beautiful setting.

D - Devil

Arizona State's mascot, if interpreted literally, has nothing to do with devils as we visualize them. In fact, the ASU School of Climatology (which is regularly questioned on the subject) reports a "sun devil" is very much like a dust devil, where unusual atmospheric conditions are caused by a high amount of sunlight. Fear not, Sparky. We'll keep you as our mascot, especially since it's so tough to put atmospheric conditions on the side of a helmet.

E - Equipment

You see so many colorful things and people at Sun Devil football games. The people responsible for keeping the Devils looking their best are ASU's top-notch athletic operations staff. Led by Equipment Manager Mark Zimmer, the "crew" handles everything from shoes to game balls to laundering uniforms. No word on what detergent they recommend.

F - Fans

Webster's defines a fan as "a person enthusiastic about a specified sport." Since Sun Devil Stadium opened in 1958, 13,730,581 enthusiastic people have seen the Sun Devils play. The figure jumped past the 13 million mark during the 1998 season.

F - Fireworks

Following each Sun Devil score, fans look skyward for the traditional fireworks. This tradition has gotten quite a workout in past years. The fireworks also serve a civic function — for those people who have to work in Tempe on game nights, all you have to do is look skyward to see how well the Devils are doing.

G - George Toma

The phrase "By George" took on new meaning three years ago as famed turf expert George Toma came to Tempe to work his magic on the Sun Devil Stadium field, in advance of the 1996 Super Bowl. Maybe G should stand for grass — lush, green and thick — or Guru.

H - Heisman Trophy

Quarterback Jake "The Snake" Plummer finished third in the 1996 Heisman Trophy balloting, the highest finish ever for a Sun Devil player. Also, consider that in 1972, ASU quarterback Danny White and running back Woody Green both finished in the top seven in balloting for that year's Heisman Trophy.

I - Illustrated

As in Sports Illustrated. Former Sun Devil football and baseball star Reggie Jackson has graced the front cover of the magazine on several occasions. Who was the third high school athlete featured on the magazine's cover? Sun Devil tight end Bruce Hardy, April 29, 1974. The cost of a copy was 60 cents.

J - Jackson, Reggie

Through the years, Arizona State has had a number of student-athletes who played more than one varsity sport. One of the most famous is Reggie Jackson — don't worry, you ARE reading the football media guide. A little known fact about Reggie's time in Tempe is that he came here on a football scholarship. Reggie played defensive back, but the biggest interception he was ever a part of at ASU was when baseball coach Bobby Winkles intercepted Jackson, gave him a baseball bat, and Jackson gave Winkles and ASU a legend unmatched.

K - Kajikawa, Bill

One of the postseason awards given to ASU football student-athletes is the Bill Kajikawa award, given to the season's outstanding freshmen. The man for whom the award is named is one of the great legends of Arizona State's athletic heritage. In 46 years, Kajikawa was student, athlete, coach and professor all at the same campus. Kajikawa served as an assistant football coach for 41 seasons, while also serving stints as ASU's head baseball and basketball coach. In 1995, the university Board of Regents approved naming the ASU football practice facility "The Bill Kajikawa Practice Facility" at ASU in honor of the legend.

L - Lynn Laney

He was the chairman of the regent's site selection committee in 1956 that chose for the location of ASU's new football stadium (Sun Devil Stadium) to be between the buttes north of campus, instead of the junction of Van Buren and Washington streets in Papago Park.

M - Mountains

Based at what the geologists call the "transition zone," mountains form part of the legend of Sun

From "A" to "Z"

Devil Stadium—the only college football stadium located in between two mountains. In reality, the small mountains that surround the stadium are called buttes. Just the same, opponents find there are plenty of mountains to climb when playing the Sun Devils.

N - Night

Football after dark is an Arizona State tradition.

O - "One At A Time"

Bruce Snyder's philosophy regarding football – and life. It asks each student-athlete to take everything they do "One At A Time" – one day at a time, one practice at a time, one play at a time – and to do their very best.

P - Professional

The first Arizona student-athlete to sign a contract with a professional football team was Norris Steverson. Steverson competed at ASU from 1928-32. In 1933, Steverson was part of an Arizona All-Star team that played the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game in Phoenix. Despite being on the losing end of a 55-0 score, Steverson impressed Bears coach George Halas so much that Halas offered him a contract before the teams left the field.

Q - Quarterback

The most celebrated position on most football teams, Arizona State can boast some pretty celebrated players who have played the position over the years. The most celebrated of them all are Danny White, Jake "The Snake" Plummer and Jeff Van Raaphorst.

R - Robinson, John

Once upon a time an Oregon assistant football coach named John Robinson convinced a local high school coach named Bruce Snyder to resign and join the Oregon staff as an assistant. Snyder did, and the rest is history.

S - "Super" Sun Devil Stadium

What do Pope John Paul II, Pelé, Ivan Stewart and Paul McCartney have in common? They have all "performed" in Sun Devil Stadium. From papal visits to exhibition soccer matches to off-road races to major concerts, if it's a big event, Sun Devil Stadium is where to find it. Something else this group has in common—none of them play football! Just another example of the versatility of one of the nation's finest college football stadiums. And on January 28, 1996, the stadium hosted the premier football game of the year, the Super Bowl.

T - Tempe

Formerly known as Hayden's Ferry, Tempe got its name on May 5, 1879. Why the change? Lord Darrell Duppa, a visitor from England, approached the local settlement from the Phoenix side. He noticed the hill (butte), the wide river (Salt) and the green fields (mesquite) and he was immediately reminded of the Vale of Tempe in Greece, known in mythology. He recommended the area be called Tempe, and eventually the founding fathers adopted the name.

U - University

Prior to the name "Arizona State," the Tempe campus was known as Tempe Normal School, the term used for a teachers school circa 1885. Territorial legislators felt the state would never be able to attract newcomers without improving the quality of their schools. To do that, a school to train teachers was needed. One hundred fifteen years and 4 million statewide residents later, it looks like the idea worked.

ESPN and ASU's Mark Malone.

V - Voices

In addition to Tim Healey, a number of talented men have filled the role of "Voice of the Sun Devils." The first voice (according to our records), belonged to Ed DeForest. Since then, Bob Vache, Al McCoy, Ray Cox, Bob Davies and Tom Dillon have been behind the mike. One other famous voice has called Sun Devil football on radio. Current ABC sportscaster Al Michaels was a play-by-play announcer for ASU's campus radio station in the mid 1960's. Michaels still announces night football, but only on Mondays. Former ASU star Mark Malone reports for ESPN.

W - Web Page

Arizona State University sports fans surfing the internet can locate the official Sun Devil athletics page at the following address: <http://www.theSunDevils.com>. ASU faithful are updated on the latest developments regarding ASU's 21-varsity sport program.

W - Western Athletic

It was 21 years ago that ASU left the WAC to join the Pac-10. Just to make sure you're up on your Sun Devil history, do you remember who won the WAC football title the last year ASU was in the league? Sure, it was the Sun Devils.

X -

There have been no lettermen in the history of Arizona State football whose last name began with the letter "X". But, one significant Sun Devil changed his name upon arriving at the Tempe school. John Jefferson, one of the most famous players to wear a Sun Devil uniform, changed his last name to Jefferson from Washington following his freshman season.

Y - Yeoman

Yeoman is one word to describe the work of former Sun Devil offensive lineman Randall McDaniel. A member of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and a perennial Pro Bowl participant, McDaniel, has been referred to as "the most versatile and most dominant offensive lineman in the NFL today," by CBS commentator Randy Cross.

Z - Zip Code

How do you know you're a big school? When your name—Arizona State University in this case—is your address. Oh, and the zip code is 85287-2505.

Coach Frank Kush ASU Coach, 1958-1979

In 1955, Hall of Fame coach Dan Devine hired Frank Kush as one of his assistants at Arizona State. It was his first coaching job. Just three years later Kush succeeded Devine as head coach. On December 12, 1995 he joined his mentor and friend in the College Football Hall of Fame.

Before he went on to become a top coach, Frank Kush was an outstanding player. He was a guard, playing both ways for Clarence "Biggie" Munn at Michigan State. He was small for a guard; 5-9, 175. But he played big. State went 26-1 during Kush's college days and in 1952 he was named to the Look Magazine All-America team. His alma mater is set to induct Kush into the Michigan State Hall of Fame and present him with the Duffy Daugherty Memorial Award for outstanding contributions to college football.

As a coach, Kush ranks in the top-20 all-time winningest coaches with a 176-54-1 record (.764).

In his 22 years at the helm of Arizona State, Kush had 19 winning seasons, won nine conference championships and ran up a 6-1 bowl record.

He had undefeated teams in 1970 and 1975. He was named Coach of the Year in 1975 by the American Football Coaches Association of the Walter Camp Foundation and his team was ranked number two nationally by AP and UPI. He had unbeaten and untied winning streaks of 21, 13 and 12 (twice) at Arizona State.

Kush also coached 129 college players who made it in the pros.

Kush himself did some time in pro football. He coached the CFL Hamilton Tiger-Cats to an Eastern Conference first-place and spent three seasons with the Baltimore Colts before moving back to Arizona to coach the USFL Phoenix team.

After the USFL folded, Kush stayed in Arizona and became active in public relations and community work. He is now executive director of the Arizona Boys Ranch, a center for reforming juvenile offenders.

Recollections of Frank Kush:

"I have known Frank for over 40 years and hold him in the highest regard, both as a coach and as an individual. He was an All-American player when I coached at Michigan State. During his senior year, he won the national championship, and he was an integral part of that team with his great desire and outstanding play.

"The first three years that I was a head coach, Frank was a loyal, hard-working and intelligent assistant coach to me at Arizona State. Without his dedication and help, we never would have had the outstanding record that we had during those years. He was named my successor at the age of 29, and his record over the next two decades speaks for itself."

— Dan Devine, former Head Coach,
Arizona State, Missouri,
Notre Dame and Green Bay

"I came to Arizona State on a football scholarship, and I shall always be indebted to Frank Kush for instilling toughness in his players. He was as tough as Charlie Finley and George Steinbrenner rolled into one."

— Reggie Jackson, during his Baseball
Hall of Fame induction speech

"Frank Kush was able to get out of me something that no one else could get. He affected hundreds of athletes that he coached in that same way."

— Danny White, 1971-73

The Kush Tribute will honor the athletic achievements of Arizona State University and provide Coach Kush, his players and fans with a memorable reunion.

Among the highlights:

- The field at Sun Devil Stadium was renamed in honor of Coach Kush. Appropriate signage and publicity will help to ensure that either facility serves as a permanent tribute to an outstanding figure in ASU's sports history.

- The 1996 football season was dedicated to celebrating ASU's athletic tradition and the September 21 Nebraska game was designated "Frank Kush Day" at Sun Devil Stadium. All former Kush players were invited to participate in a spectacular half-time celebration that includes the rededication of the field with the unveiling of the Kush nameplate by ASU President Lattie Coor. The public celebration surrounding the game included a dinner roast, and a variety of pre-game activities that celebrated the athletic tradition at ASU and instilled pride in both alumni and friends.

The Frank Kush Tribute Endowment—An Investment in the Future

The combination of Lead Gifts, a community celebration at the designated game, and a variety of special fundraising events made the Frank Kush Tribute Endowment a reality. It acknowledges and honors a legendary coach by providing ASU student-athletes with the resource support they need for lifelong success.

Specifically, the football endowment:

- Establishes permanent support ($1 million) for the ASU Football Program to ensure its value to student-athletes, the University and the community.
- Establishes a special Summer Scholarship Endowment ($1 million) to provide incoming freshmen and ASU student-athletes with enhanced opportunities to complete university degree programs.
- Establishes permanent funding for Academic and Student Services ($1 million endowment) to provide student-athletes in every sport with the special support, tutoring and advising they need to succeed academically as well as athletically.

One of college football's legendary coaches, Frank Kush became Arizona State University's 15th head football coach on December 22, 1957. In the 22 seasons that followed, Kush brought unmatched success to the Sun Devil football program and unrivaled national prominence to Arizona State University. The following is a listing of some of the facts and figures which trace the Kush legend.

- Kush is ASU's coaching leader in years served (22), games-coached (231) and wins (176). He is second in winning percentage (.764), trailing his predecessor, Dan Devine who went 27-3-1 over a three year career.
- Nineteen of Kush's teams posted winning season records, 18 of which won at least seven games, 12 of which won at least eight, eight of which won at least nine, and six of which won 10 or more games in a season.

- Seven of Kush's teams played in post-season bowl games, posting a 6-1 win-loss record.

- Kush coached two of ASU's most important games -- the 1970 Peach Bowl and the 1975 Fiesta Bowl. In 1970, the Sun Devils received their first postseason bowl invitation in 19 years, and completed a 12-0 season with a 48-26 victory over North Carolina. Local sports historians point to that game as the introduction of Arizona State football to the national scene. Five years later, the Sun Devils again capped an undefeated season by downing Nebraska, 17-14. The win gave ASU a No. 2 national ranking for the year, and ushered ASU into the elite of college football programs.

- The success of Arizona State University football under Frank Kush led to increased exposure for the university through national and regional television appearances. Evidence of this can be traced to the fact that Arizona State's enrollment increased from 10,000 in 1958 (Kush's first season) to 37,122 in 1979 (Kush's final season), an increase of over 300%.

- 128 ASU football student-athletes coached by Kush were drafted by teams in the National, American and World Football Leagues. Kush-coached players have 17 combined NFL Pro Bowl appearances. Ten Kush-coached players were first-round NFL and AFL draft selections.

- 22 members of the Arizona State University football program from 1958 through 1979 are members of the Arizona State University Sports Hall of Fame. Kush is a member of the Hall of Distinction, which honors former ASU athletic administrators and coaches.

- The success of the Sun Devil football program under Kush led to expansion of Sun Devil Stadium to accommodate increased local interest. In 1969, the stadium was expanded from its original seating capacity of 35,000 to 50,000. In 1976, a two-year expansion project brought capacity to 70,021.

- Arizona State University's football success under Kush led to the move of the school's athletic program to the Pacific-10 Conference in 1978. Conference officials had been offered the opportunity to take the University of Arizona, but would only accept the idea if Arizona State was included. By joining, Arizona State University not only enjoyed increased attention for its athletic programs, but additional national prestige for its campus as well.

- In 21 meetings with the University of Arizona, Kush-coached teams won 16 games, including a streak of nine consecutive wins from 1965 through 1973.

- 38 Kush-coached student-athletes were honored as all-America.

- Kush-coached teams were annually among the national leaders in offensive statistics. The Sun Devils led the nation in total offense on four occasions under Kush. The Kush-coached Sun Devils led the nation in average points scored per game in consecutive seasons (1972-73).

William (Bill) "Kaji" Kajikawa ASU Coach, 1937-1978

Bill and Christine

included speeches from President Dr. Lattie E. Coor, then Director of Athletics Charles S. Harris and football coaching legend Frank Kush. It was followed by an invitation-only dinner. Head coach Bruce Snyder and the entire Sun Devil team attended the ceremony and dinner.

Kajikawa, professor emeritus of physical education, began coaching the Arizona State Teacher's College freshman football team in 1937, when the players were William (Bill) "Kaji" Kajikawa, who began his coaching career at Arizona State University in 1937 and retired from ASU in 1978, was honored April 6, 1995 in a ceremony that named the Sun Devil football practice field in his honor. The new name is The Bill Kajikawa Practice Facility At ASU.

The ceremony

known as the Bulldogs. During his tenure, Kajikawa watched the Bulldogs become the Sun Devils in 1946, and he saw his alma mater gain university status in 1958.

Kajikawa received his bachelor's and master's degrees in education from ASU in 1937 and 1948, respectively. As an undergraduate, he played on the college's varsity football team.

During World War II, Kajikawa took his only hiatus from ASU to serve with distinction in the Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team. The 442nd, manned entirely by Japanese Americans, was the Army's most decorated combat unit.

Before retiring in 1978, Kajikawa had worked as the freshman football coach under nine ASU head football coaches. In addition, he served as head basketball coach from 1948 to 1957, and he was head baseball coach during the infancy of the ASU baseball program from 1947 to 1957. He was inducted into the Arizona Basketball Hall of Fame in 1968 and the ASU Hall of Distinction in 1982.

Kajikawa, who is a Tempe resident, has devoted countless hours to community service. For his work, the American Legion selected him in 1976 for the Americanism Award for service to young people.

He and his wife, Margaret Kajikawa, have been honored with numerous community appreciation awards, including the Dorothy Mitchell Humanitarian Award from Tri-City Catholic Social Service and the Don Carlos Award from the Tempe Community Council. Also, they received the Award of Excellence from the ASU Alumni Association. His daughter, Dr. Christine K. Wilkinson, served as the Interim Director of Athletics at ASU in 1995-96 and again in 2000. She is currently Vice President for Student Affairs at ASU.

Kajikawa received an honorary doctor of laws degree during the summer, 1989 commencement ceremony from ASU.

Danny White
College Football

Danny White, Quarterback, 1970-73

On January 30, 1997, former ASU quarterback Danny White became the first Arizona State University player to be elected into the College Football Hall of Fame.

White, who played at ASU from 1971-73, still ranks at or near the top of most career passing categories at ASU. White is tied for first in career touchdown passes (64), is second in career passing yards (6,717), and ranks sixth in career attempts (721) on the Sun Devils' all-time list. Ironically, White was in the broadcast booth as a Fox commentator when Jake Plummer tied his touchdown record at Arizona in 1996.

White was a first-team All-America selection in 1973, a year in which he guided the Sun Devils to an 11-1 record and a win over Pittsburgh in the Fiesta Bowl. White finished ninth in the Heisman Trophy balloting that December. He was an all-Western Athletic Conference selection and ASU's Most Valuable Player that season.

In White's three seasons as ASU's signal-caller, the Sun Devils ran up a record of 32-4 with three Fiesta Bowl wins. ASU was 21-1 at Sun Devil Stadium. He led the team in total offense all three seasons.

White played in the East-West Shrine Game, Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl, before the Dallas Cowboys selected him with their third-round pick in the 1974 NFL Draft. White opted to play for Memphis of the World Football League for two seasons before joining the Cowboys in 1976. Dallas beat Denver in Super Bowl XII the following season. In all, White played 13 seasons for the Cowboys as a quarterback and punter.

White was chosen by Sports Illustrated magazine as the second-best quarterback in the history of football.

NFL Hall of Fame Inductee Mike Haynes, Cornerback, 1972-75

In 1997, former Sun Devil defensive back Mike Haynes became the third ASU player elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined John Henry Johnson and Charley Taylor in the Hall. He will become the second player inducted into College Football's Hall of Fame this December.

Haynes, the fifth overall selection by the New England Patriots in the 1976 NFL Draft, was selected to play in nine Pro Bowls, the second most by an ASU player. He was also a member of the Raiders Super Bowl XV and XVIII champion squads.

In his four seasons on the collegiate gridiron, Haynes was a two-time All-America and three-time all-Western Athletic Conference selection. He led the nation by picking off 11 passes his junior year, second-best all-time at ASU. In 1975, Haynes' senior season, ASU enjoyed its most successful season in school history, going 12-0 and finishing second in the wire service polls.

Haynes snared 17 career interceptions, also second-best all-time at ASU. He was also an exceptional kick returner, fielding a school-record 46 punts in 1974 and scoring twice off punt returns in 1975.

Haynes is currently the Licensing Manager at Calaway Golf of Carlsbad, Calif.

NFL Hall of Fame Inductee Charley Taylor, 1961-63

Charley Taylor was inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame in 1984 and also is a charter member of the ASU Hall of Fame with his induction in 1975. A 1964 first-round pick of the Washington Redskins (NFL) and a second-round pick of the Houston Oilers (AFL), Taylor earned All-Western Athletic Conference honors in 1963 (first-team) and 1962 (second-team). He earned Coaches All-America honors in 1964 and was Most Valuable Player of the 1964 Chicago Tribune All-Star Game, which had collegiate all-stars taking on professionals. He also played in the East-West Shrine game and the Hula Bowl that year. Taylor led ASU in punt and kickoff returns in 1961 and 1963 and led the Sun Devils in scoring in 1962 with 50 points.

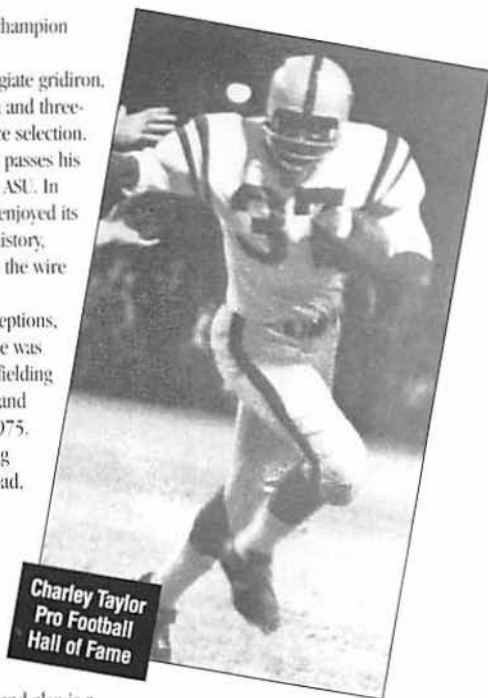

Taylor caught 649 passes for 9,140 yards and had 79 touchdowns in his 13-year NFL career. He also rushed for 1,488 yards and 11 touchdowns. He was an eight-time selection to the Pro Bowl and retired following the 1977 season. Taylor was born Sept. 28, 1941, in Grand Prairie, Texas. When he retired, he was the NFL's all-time leading receiver.

NFL Hall of Fame Inductee John Henry Johnson, 1952

Sun Devil John Henry Johnson was inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame in 1987 with such legends as Joe Greene, Gene Upshaw and Larry Csonka. He rushed for 6,577 yards and 48 touchdowns during a 13-year NFL career spent with San Francisco 49ers, Pittsburgh Steelers and Houston Oilers. He rushed for more than 1,000 yards in both 1962 and 1964 with the Steelers, and was the leading rusher with the 1957 NFL champion Detroit Lions. He was an All-Pro pick four times.

Johnson, an ASU Hall of Fame inductee, had 106 yards on seven carries and scored three touchdowns the first game he played in as a Sun Devil in 1952 against Hardin Simmons and went on to earn All-Border Conference honors that year.

Johnson began his NFL career as a 1953 second-round draft pick of the Steelers. He was the first Steeler ever to gain 1,000 yards in a season.

They called them Bulldogs -

The rise of Arizona State University's football program was built from the ground up. The original Bulldogs experienced several facelifts throughout their 50 years (1896-1946).

The inception of Arizona State football occurred in 1896 when Fred Irish, then hired as a science teacher, took on the coaching responsibilities. At that time, the school's name was the Territorial Normal School of Arizona, or was then more commonly named "Normal." The building process for coach Irish was one that no coach would envy, but he was excited about the challenge. Let alone not having any returning letterman, Irish did not even have a player who had ever played in a football game. However, coach

Field. In addition, the Territorial Championship Cup was at stake for the victor. The more experienced Normal team dominated most of the game, coming away with an 11-2 victory. Coach Irishes' team went on to an undefeated (3-0) season that year. After its first undefeated season, Normal went on to have several other successful seasons under coach Irish until his departure in 1905. For many years after 1905, interest in varsity football at Normal withered and not much happened until 1922.

With a new student body and a furious campaign going on to change the school to a four-year institution, the school thought that a distinctive athletic symbol was needed as well. The newspapers always used the name "Normal" to describe the school and the football team, but after a hard-fought loss to Mesa High School in the first game of the 1922 season, it all changed. As described by The Tempe Normal Student, forerunner to today's State Press: Our team was defeated, but not beaten. A team made of the stuff that ours is made of cannot be beaten. It was inexperience, not Mesa that defeated it. Indeed it deserves the name given it by a prominent spectator—"the Bulldogs."

"Pete I" was the first of many Bulldogs who would don an "A" blanket draped across its back.

In 1927, two years after the approval of the Arizona State legislature to upgrade the school to a four-year institution, the school got its first football field. Where the Memorial Union now stands, "Irish Field" was laid down until Goodwin Stadium was built in 1936.

In 1931, with Bulldog football in full force, the squad captured its first Border Conference Championship under the powerful running of Norris Steverson. In addition to being one of the premier athletes in the West, Steverson was Arizona State's first grid star to earn all-America mention. Steverson was also the first Arizona State player to play Professional football (Chicago Bears).

The beginning of the 1940s was a prosperous and exciting one for Bulldog football. After going 8-2 that season under the command of head coach Dixie Howell, Arizona State received its first-ever bid to a New Year's Day Bowl. The 1940 Sun Bowl against Eastern powerhouse Catholic University seemed like a daunting task for such a small college, but the two teams played even through most of the game. The final score read Arizona State 0, Catholic University 0. This didn't phase the team though, as it came back to the Sun Bowl the next year to face Western Reserve of Cleveland, Ohio. The Dogs came out strong in the beginning with a pass play for a touchdown and then a 94-yard run from Hascall Henshaw (still a Bowl record today) to put the team ahead. Western Reserve's offensive was too overpowering for the Bulldogs defensive and they went on to a 26-13 victory.

The unfortunate timing of World War II halted the Bulldogs program from 1943-45 because various members of the team were enlisted to fight the war, but in 1946 the football program received another facelift.

Several different Phoenix businessmen and organizations, namely the Phoenix Thunderbirds, grouped together with the old Bulldog Boosters to form a new Arizona State booster organization—the Sun Angels. Its purpose was to raise money for athletics, scholarships and facilities that were truly needed, as well as provide some faithful support for the school. The Sun Angels' first order of business was to change the school's emblem from the Bulldog to the Sun Devil. This was to mark a start to a new beginning in the school's history. The State Press said that the Bulldog represented the old Tempe Normal School and that a new image was needed for a greater Arizona State.

Irish Field

Irish did have one 17-year old Tempe native named Charlie Haigler who became Arizona State's first football star. He was powerful, fast and fearless, and helped coach Irish build the program he desired. Haigler played six years for coach Irish before being recruited by the University of Southern California to play in its backfield, as well as to bring its program to prominence.

Just about a year later on March 2, 1897, Normal was ready to play its inaugural football game against the Phoenix Indian School. Headlined in the Tempe News as "The Football Game", coach Irishes' team lost a hard-fought battle, 38-20. This was the only game that Normal played that year, and the following year as records indicate. Not until 1899 did Normal play another game when the University of Arizona and Phoenix High School fielded teams.

With the University of Arizona now playing football, this would mark the beginning of a long state rivalry. The first football game against UA happened on November 30, 1899 at Tucson's Carrillo Gardens

Top Picks

Arizona State football student-athletes have enjoyed tremendous success in the first round of the annual NFL draft. Erik Flowers became the 21st Sun Devil player to be drafted in the first round of the AFL or NFL drafts when he was selected as the 26th overall pick in 2000. Twice, in 1976 and 1988, two Sun Devils have been chosen in the first round. Here is a complete listing of ASU's first round draft selections in the order by which they were picked:

No.	Name	Year	No.	Name	Year
3	Charley Taylor	1964	17	Larry Gordon	1976
4	J.D. Hill	1971	19	Randall McDaniel	1988
5	Mike Haynes	1976	20	Aaron Cox	1988

Frank Kush Field/Sun Devil Stadium

Sun Devil Stadium is one of the premier collegiate facilities in the United States.

It has hosted Arizona State University football games since 1958. It has hosted three national championships – Notre Dame versus West Virginia in 1988, Nebraska versus Florida in 1996 and Tennessee versus Florida State in 1999. And it has hosted the NFL's ultimate showcase – the 1996 Super Bowl.

It has been called "one of the most beautiful stadiums in the country."

And rightly so.

One of the most aesthetic, dynamic, innovative and beautiful stadiums in the nation, Arizona State University's Sun Devil Stadium is a sure crowd-pleaser.

The facility, regarded since 1958 as one of the nation's outstanding football facilities, also boasts a spectacular, second-to-none setting.

Its latest innovation – a complete playing surface renovation – was christened by ASU on Sept. 5, 1992 as the Sun Devils hosted Washington in the season-opener. At a cost of $2 million, the latest stadium addition accomplished four goals: 1) provided Sun Devil Stadium with a more durable playing surface; 2) provided better patron sight lines in the lower seating levels and, 3) expanded sideline area for player safety and 4) provided advantages to working television and print photographers.

The stadium, a favorite of television production crews, is also the home of the Tostito's Fiesta Bowl (for two decades) and the NFL's Arizona Cardinals (the only campus-owned stadium in the nation to be a permanent host to an NFL team).

Constructed between two mountain buttes, the stadium literally was carved from the desert, and occupies a narrow space between the Tempe buttes – actually small mountains that ideally have accommodated the growth of the structure.

Sun Devil Stadium addresses Phoenix to the west and the south end zone (formerly the open end), points to scenic Tempe, home of Arizona State University.

With the south end expansion completed and the press and sky boxes in place, and with an expanded cantilevered upper deck (1977), Sun Devil Stadium boasts a capacity of 73,379, the largest on-campus stadium in the Pacific-10 Conference.

The expansion of 1988, which added a large seating section that completed the oval of the stadium, added almost 1,700 seats to the stadium's capacity. Also added was the Intercollegiate Athletic Complex (IAC) at the structure's south end. The IAC houses the entire realm of the ASU athletic department. A state-of-the-art scoreboard and four-color video replay board were also added.

During the 1978 expansion, design features enabled the stadium to be modernized without light supports, sound system supports, or construction pillars in the viewing line of the spectators. The dramatic proximity of every seat to the playing field is another feature that has made Sun Devil Stadium one of the nation's finest college football arenas.

Originally erected in 1958 (capacity 30,000), the stadium additions were begun in 1976 (boosting capacity to 57,722) and 1977. The latter raised the seating to 70,491.

The expansion effort was an $11 million undertaking, accomplished completely without the aid of state tax monies.

Assisting in a stadium financing plan unlike any other in the nation, the largest and oldest Arizona State support organization, the Sun Angel Foundation, provided $4.5 million of the necessary funding. The Sun Angel contribution was particularly important because it also helped pave the way for bond clearance.

Spectators at stadium events also have helped fund the expansion with their payment of a surcharge on each ticket purchased.

Arizona State has led the Pacific-10 Conference in average attendance seven times (1986, '85, '84, '83, '82, '80 and '79) in the 21 years it has been a conference member. ASU finished second six times and third twice. Last year, the Sun Devils drew a home total of 355,169 fans, third in the league. On a single-game basis, Arizona State averaged 59,195 spectators.

The first game was played in the original structure against West Texas State on October 4, 1958. The Sun Devils triumphed in the baptismal event, taking a 16-13 verdict over the Buffaloes.

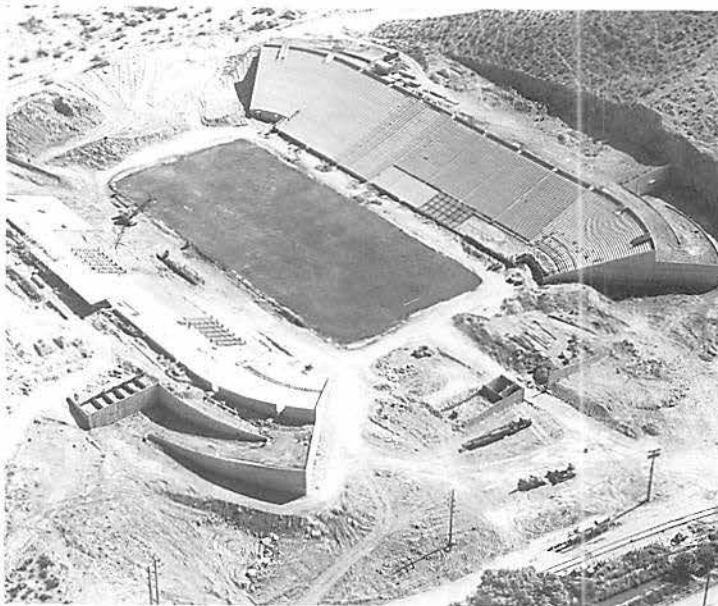

Following the 1976 portion of the expansion, Arizona State took a 35-3 victory over Northwestern on September 17, 1977 to continue the winning tradition of stadium christenings.

When the 1977 expansion was completed, the Sun Devils prevailed 42-7 over Pacific to post a hat trick on stadium dedication contests. In 1988, ASU defeated Illinois, 21-16 on September 10, to win its fourth dedication game. In 1989, ASU beat Kansas State 31-0, in the expansion opener.

The stadium has also aided the meteoric rise in stature of the Fiesta Bowl. This season's holiday fare will be offered to a national television audience for the 30th consecutive year.

In 1987, the stadium was filled beyond capacity for the Papal visit, one of the few sites to play host to the Pope's tour of the United States. On April 4, 1976, the New York Cosmos (with Pelé) and the Los Angeles Aztecs played an exhibition soccer game in front of 15,000 fans in the stadium.

The 1999 campaign was the 12th for Sun Devil Stadium's newest tenant, the Arizona Cardinals of the NFL.

Frank Kush Field/Sun Devil Stadium

In 1997, International Magazine of Arena Construction and Management surveyed National Football League players regarding the best and worst Stadium in the NFL. ASU's Sun Devil Stadium was selected as the fourth-best stadium in which to play. It was rated third-best in 1994 by the same rating.

Services and Accommodations for Persons with Disabilities at Sun Devil Stadium

Tickets:

All accessible seating areas in Sun Devil Stadium are marked and individually ticketed by the ASU Ticket Office. Please make sure to indicate the accommodation needed when purchasing your ticket so that the ticket office may provide you with best available and most appropriate seating location.

Accessible seating is provided for those individuals requiring it and a companion seat will be sold for every accessible seat sold. (Additional companion seats may be purchased, based on availability, up to and including game day.)

Parking:

Event Day Ticket Purchase/Pickup - Short-term parking is available for guests purchasing or picking up tickets at the stadium ticket office. This area, Reserved South, is located at the northeast corner of College and Stadium Drive and is available until 2 hours prior to the event.

Accessible Event Day Parking - There are currently 383 disabled parking spaces available during football games at Sun Devil Stadium. These reserved spaces, located in the Disabled Lot outside the northeast stadium gates, can be accessed from either the north or south end of Packard Drive.

A state issued disabled plate or placard must be presented together with the appropriate ASU parking pass to enter this reserved lot. Any spaces remaining, beyond those held by season pass holders, will be made available on a first-come, first-served, paid basis to those guests with the state issued plate or placard. Once the lot is full, the parking attendant will direct you to the closest public pay lot.

Passenger Drop-off - Guests without parking passes, but with extenuating circumstances (i.e. mobility impairments) may be dropped off just inside the reserved Disabled Lot.

Guest Shuttle - On game days, ASU Parking & Transit Services provides two non-wheelchair accessible golf carts to shuttle guests from the Disabled Lot to the northeast stadium gates.

Stadium:

Cart Service - A cart service (including passenger and wheelchair carts) is provided for guests requiring assistance in getting to and from the gates and the main concourse. The carts begin their service when the gates open to the public and conclude once the stadium has been cleared. There are five (5) designated pick-up and drop-off areas, located just inside the Southeast, Southwest, Northeast, North and Northwest gates.

Seating - There are 383 disabled seats in Sun Devil Stadium located in seven (7) different areas of the lower bowl:

- Northwest Disabled, directly behind sections 14-18
- Northeast Disabled, directly behind sections 19-23
- West Sections 4-6, 8-10
- East Sections 28-33
- North Field, in front of sections 17-20
- Northeast Field Disabled
- Southeast Field Disabled

Note: Both the North and Southeast Field Disabled areas can only be accessed from their corresponding field gate.

Concession Stands:

Accessible, permanent concession stands are available in the East and West main concourses as well as the South concession stands, located behind sections 38-40.

Restrooms:

There are a total of 35 accessible restrooms located throughout Sun Devil Stadium, including three (3) family restrooms located behind sections 29, 39, and in the northeast field-level tunnel. Also included are six (6) men's and six (6) women's restrooms that are wheelchair accessible, located at field level in the north tunnel as well as on the east, west and north main concourses.

Accommodations for the Hearing Impaired:

Assistive Listening Devices are available at the Guest Assistance Center located at field level behind section 38.

Closed Captioning is shown on the Stadium Video Replay Board as well as on all television monitors within the stadium.

TDD/TTY telephones are available at the Guest Assistance Center, located behind section 38.

Service Animals:

Guide dogs, signal dogs or other animals individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability may enter the stadium with that individual.

Frank Kush Field/Sun Devil Stadium

With the playing surface renovation in place, Sun Devil Stadium is the premier college football facility in the country.

The field facelift, along with the 90,000-square-foot Intercollegiate Athletic Complex and the three-story, 60,000-square-foot press box and skybox additions within the past three years, makes Sun Devil Stadium one of the true showcases of college and professional football.

The press box and skybox facility, which sits atop the upper deck on the west side, contains two 30-suite levels of skyboxes renovated in 1999 and is topped by an ultra-modern press box and eight additional private suites. The facility also boasts its own television production room, complete with editing and chyron capabilities and camera equipment. The equipment is manned by a full crew on game day to give spectators live and replay views of the contest.

Served by four industrial-sized elevators – one for the media and three for the public – the facility has working space for more than 200 sportswriters, new broadcast booths, booth space for statistical crews, scoreboard operations and a rooftop camera deck in addition to suite seating for more than 900 fans.

The bowl (south) end was connected by the dramatic IAC Complex and the extension of the loge-level seats. Locker rooms were also added in the north end (for visiting college and home and visiting professional teams). Two new scoreboards were put in place in 1999. The color video replay system, situated in the southeast corner, offers fans instant replays of game action. The original video screen was the first of its kind in an on-campus football stadium. A complementary matrix board for messages and statistical information sits in the southwest corner.

Located in the south end of Sun Devil Stadium, the $8.9 million, 90,000-square-foot IAC building houses all of ASU's 21 varsity sport coaches, as well as athletic administration. The project was financed through the sale of bonds and ASU funds. The building will be renovated and expanded in 2000-01.

The first floor features a lobby reception area, including trophy display cases, video facilities and a rest area. The Sun Devil athletic ticket office, a souvenir shop, first aid facilities, a security office and the media relations office are also on the first floor.

The second floor is devoted to sports medicine, which includes an injury rehabilitation center. Over 5,000 square-feet of working space is available to athletic trainers in the areas of rehabilitation, hydrotherapy, examination, x-ray and treatment.

The third floor houses ASU's Olympic sport coaches and staff and the Academic and Student Services operation. Separate work stations are available on the floor for student helpers and graduate assistants. All offices have spectacular views of either Sun Devil Stadium or south Tempe.

The fourth floor accommodates the bridging of the loge level of the stadium. As part of the project, 1,677 loge level seats were added, and ticket holders in this level have concessions and restroom facilities as well as television monitors for replays.

The fifth floor is devoted to the ICA administrative staff, the Sun Angel Foundation as well as the coaching staffs for basketball, baseball and track and field. The Hall of Fame room are is available.

The sixth floor serves as headquarters for Sun Devil football, with the head coach, his coordinators, assistant head coach and assistants all on one floor. Academic and Student Services also utilize vast study and tutorial areas on this floor. The football offices include an immaculate reception area, complete with large screen television and video and cable capabilities.

Coaches find all the technological tools needed. Video equipment, movie screens, chalkboards, greaseboards and large screen televisions are among the items to be found.

Sun Devil locker rooms are below ground along with a state-of-art weight training facility, coaches and officials locker rooms, an equipment area and a student-athlete lounge.

With the completion of the complex in 1988, including the Spirit Plaza at its entrance and a new parking garage across the street, the athletic department was centralized in one facility for the first time. It was the goal of the Director of Athletics to have the entire department together to improve communication and operations between coaches and administrators.

Camp Tontozona

Arizona State's summer home: Camp Tontozona, in Northern Arizona.

August temperatures in Phoenix, the Valley of the Sun, begin at 100 degrees and work their way higher!

To escape the Phoenix area's late-summer oven, the Arizona State football team annually treks 100 miles northeast to Camp Tontozona, a University-owned recreation and camping area, for its preseason workouts.

Set within the cool mountain country near Payson, Ariz., the camp borders the Tonto National Forest, which provides the first two syllables of Tontozona. The state of Arizona offers the last pair.

Mountains skirt the camp with water, contributing much of the beauty to the area with clear-running Tonto Creek just a moment's walk from the practice field. As a matter of fact, the bubbling springs on the camp property are a popular place for a cold drink or a refreshing natural whirlpool after practice. But the creek is even more popular after drills. Three mansized waterfalls and clear-bottom swimming holes serve as refreshers to the Sun Devils.

Wildlife is another prominent specialty of Tontozona; deer roaming the surrounding country and hawks circling the morning and evening skies are not uncommon sights.

Just minutes away by car are other attractions such as the recently renovated Zane Grey's cabin, the site that inspired many of the famous author's Western novels, the spectacular Mogollon Rim and its breathtaking view, and countryside that provides a haven for campers, horseback riders, hikers and picnickers.

Tontozona provides the Sun Devils with a unique setting for concentration and preparation for the new season ahead. Legendary Hall of Fame coach Frank Kush started taking his Sun Devil squads to Camp Tontozona in 1960.

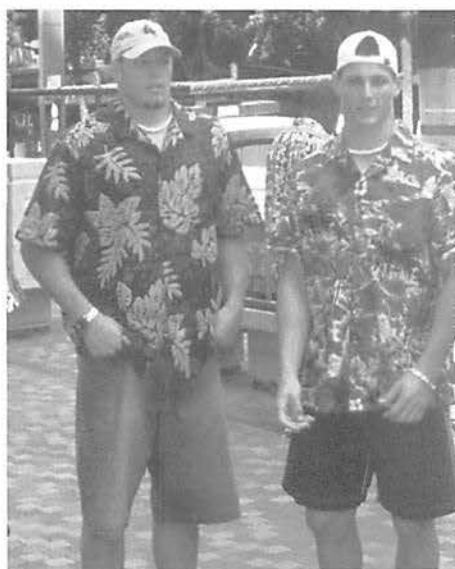

The Road To Camp

1. Take 202 East to 101 North.
2. Exit on McDowell Rd.
3. Turn right onto McDowell and head east to the Beeline Highway (Highway 87). A sign will be noted: "To Payson, Arizona."
4. Proceed north-northeast on Highway 87 to Payson. Continue through the small city of Payson and at the northeast end of Payson take Highway 260 which will be on the right.
5. Follow Highway 260 to Kohl's Ranch, which is approximately 17 miles northeast of Payson.
6. After crossing the Tonto Creek bridge, the turn into Camp Tontozona is one mile past the fire station turnoff on the right side of the road. A private parking lot is approximately 300 yards from the gate.

1999 ALOHA BOWL

Wake Forest 23, Arizona State 3
December 25, 1999, Honolulu, Hawaii
Aloha Stadium
Attendance: 40,974

Christmas in paradise turned out to be anything but merry for Arizona State, which fell to Wake Forest 23-3 in the Aloha Bowl. The Sun Devils, rewarded with the trip to Honolulu and their third bowl appearance in four years after trouncing rival Arizona in the regular season finale, finished the year with a 6-6 record. The Aloha Bowl was a tale of two halves, with the first playing itself out as a defensive struggle. Each team could only muster one field goal, with the Demon Deacons' Mike Burdick scoring at the 8:18 mark of the first quarter and Mike Barth putting one through the uprights with 11:22 remaining in the second. After halftime Wake Forest took advantage of a big play on special teams to get its offense in gear. ASU, forced three-and-out on its first possession of the half, had the ensuing punt by Nick Murphy blocked by the Deacons' Melvin Chalmers and downed at their own 36. Wake drove all the way to the seven yard line before Burdick chipped in a 24-yarder. The ASU offense then appeared to receive its wake up call when J.R. Redmond powered his way for 38 yards on a critical third-and-three situation to advance the ball to midfield. On the next play reserve tailback Gerald Green would scamper for another 15 yards. However the drive stalled when newly-inserted quarterback John Leonard was sacked by Bryan Ray. Barth then missed a 42-yard field attempt which would have knotted the score at six. The Demon Deacons took over at their own 24.

Four plays later, quarterback Ben Sankey connected with wide receiver Jimmy Caldwell for a 56-yard touchdown strike at the 4:13 mark. From that point on the Deacon defense would clamp down, surrendering just three more first downs and not allowing the Sun Devils to advance past midfield. On offense Wake continually fed the ball to tailback Morgan Kane, who finished with 83 yards and increased the lead to 20-7 with his dive over the goal line with 11:11 left in the game. A late field goal by Burdick would ensure Wake Forest (7-5) of its first winning season since 1992. Arizona State, which racked up 558 yards of total offense against Arizona, managed just 164 in the Aloha Bowl. Redmond was responsible for 89 of those, and finished his stellar collegiate career as ASU's third all-time leading rusher with 3,223 yards.

December 31, 1997, El Paso, Texas
Sun Bowl Stadium
Attendance: 49,104

After missing the 1997 Rose Bowl, oft-injured tailback Michael Martin capped a somewhat adverse career at ASU with a heroic curtain call and led ASU to a 17-7 win over Iowa. Martin carried the ball 27 times for 169 yards, including a third-quarter touchdown that gave the Sun Devils a 17-0 lead. Martin's MVP performance eased the pressure off backup quarterback Steve Campbell, who started in place of injured freshman Ryan Kealy. Campbell put ASU on the scoreboard with a 35-yard strike to Lenzie Jackson in the second quarter. Campbell completed five passes for 109 yards. Just before halftime, Robert Nycz kicked a 20-yard field goal to give the Sun Devils a 10-0 lead. The 10-point spot was all the Sun Devils defense needed, slamming the door on Iowa's offense. Iowa's heralded running back Tavian Banks was limited to 52 yards on 14 carries. Other Iowa runners netted only nine more yards. Big play wideout Tim Dwight caught only three passes and returned six kicks for only 60 yards. Iowa quarterbacks Matt Sherman and Randy Reiners combined for 12 completions on 27 passes for 190 yards. Jeremy Staat was the defensive stand-out for the Sun Devils with three sacks. Defensive lineman Quincy Yancy recorded a seven-yard sack and another tackle for a loss of a yard. Hamilton Mee and Pat Tillman also found their way to the quarterback. This Sun Bowl appearance marked the first time in 10 years that ASU played bowl games in consecutive seasons. Former Sun Devil football captain John Folmer served as the chairman of the Sun Bowl selection committee.

passes for 201 yards and one touchdown in the game. The touchdown pass was a spectacular 25-yard strike to wide receiver Ricky Boyer, which tied the score at seven at 10:04 in the second quarter. Ohio State had scored first in the opening stanza on a nine-yard pass from quarterback Stanley Jackson to David Boston. The game remained deadlocked at halftime and with 9:12 left in the third quarter, ASU's Robert Nycz nailed a 37-yard field goal, giving the Sun Devils their first lead, 10-7. OSU quarterback Joe Germaine wasted no time in hitting wideout Demetrious Stanley on a 72-yard scoring strike with 8:23 left in the third. Ohio State led 14-10. The game remained scoreless until the final 1:40 when Plummer and Germaine performed their heroics. The 1997 Bowl game was the most-watched college bowl game of the season, earning an 18.2 overnight rating (31 share), a full point ahead of the Florida-Florida State Sugar Bowl (17.2/25), which determined the national championship. ASU wide receiver Lenzie Jackson caught five passes for 71 yards while teammate Derek Smith tallied a game-high 18 tackles from his inside linebacking position. He added two quarterback sacks and deflected one pass.

Arizona State 33, Air Force 28
December 30, 1987, Anaheim, Calif.
Anaheim Stadium
Attendance: 33,261

Arizona State won its second bowl game in a row, including its fourth in the last five tries, defeating Air Force, 33-28, in the Freedom Bowl. Following the Sun Devils' performance, head coach John Cooper announced that he would take the head position at Ohio State. Cooper's three-year record at ASU was 25-9-1 (.750). The Devils used Daniel Ford's best game (16 of 30 for 272 yards and one touchdown) and the timely running of senior backs Darryl Harris (93 yards) and Channing Williams (66 yards) to outscore the Falcons. Air Force's Greg Johnson scored from 12 yards out with 9:42 gone in the first quarter to stake the Falcons to a 7-0 lead. ASU opened the second quarter with a pair of two-yard touchdown runs by Williams (:03) and Harris (3:05). Placekicker Alan Zendejas' 36-yard field goal with 10:43 gone in the second stanza gave ASU a comfortable 17-7 lead. Before the half ended, Air Force added a touchdown while ASU scored on the ensuing drive on a 61-yard pass from Ford to Aaron Cox. The play came with 29 seconds remaining on the clock. In the second half, Zendejas added a 20-yard field goal, giving ASU a 27-14 lead. The Devils' scoring was capped by fullback Kirk Wendorf's 20-yard scamper to paydirt with 5:16 gone in the fourth quarter. Air Force made it interesting with two late touchdowns against ASU's reserves, making the score 33-28 with 10 seconds to play. Cox caught four aeriels for 110 yards and one touchdown. He also had one score called back because of a penalty. Freshmen Drew Metcalf and Eric Crawford each collected one interception for the evening.

1987 ROSE BOWL

Arizona State 22, Michigan 15
January 1, 1987, Pasadena, Calif.
The Rose Bowl
Attendance: 103,168

Arizona State held Michigan scoreless in the second half and defeated the Wolverines 22-15 in ASU's first Rose Bowl appearance. Quarterback Jeff Van Raaphorst outdueled his more fabled opponent, Michigan's Jim Harbaugh, and threw two touchdown passes to flanker Bruce Hill, the second of which gave ASU its first lead, 19-15, in the third quarter. Van Raaphorst had hooked up with Hill in the second period on a 4-yard scoring strike just before halftime that got ASU within two points at 15-13. Michigan put a scare into the Sun Devils, taking a 15-3 lead less than six minutes into the second quarter. Michigan took the opening kickoff and drove 66 yards in five minutes for the game's first score, an 18-yard run by tailback Jamie Morris. A two-point conversion gave the Wolverines an 8-0 lead. ASU countered with a 37-yard Kent Bostrom field goal early in the second quarter, one of three in the game for Bostrom, tying a Rose Bowl record. ASU dominated the second half, becoming one of the very few teams to hold Michigan without second half points in the past three seasons. While the Sun Devils were piling up 11 first downs and 166 yards of total offense, ASU's defense was holding Michigan to four first downs and 76 yards, including a net rushing total of minus-5 yards. ASU took the second half kickoff and drove 80 yards in 12 plays, culminating with Van Raaphorst's one-yard toss to Hill for the go-ahead score. Hill's spectacular catch at the back of the end zone tied a Rose Bowl record for most TD passes caught in a game with two. ASU then tacked on another Bostrom field goal, a 25-yarder at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Van Raaphorst was named the game's most valuable offensive player, as he completed 16 of 30 passes for 193 yards and two scores with no interceptions. Tailback Darryl Harris led all rushers with 109 yards on 23 carries, while fullback Channing Williams had 69 yards for ASU. ASU defenders frustrated Harbaugh, holding the nation's top-rated passer to 13 completions and 172 yards, and ASU intercepted Harbaugh twice, including a theft by safety Robby Boyd that iced the game late in the fourth quarter.

Arkansas 18, Arizona State 17
December 22, San Diego, Calif.
Jack Murphy Stadium
Attendance: 50,641

Arkansas survived a last-second scare by Arizona State and defeated the Sun Devils 18-17 in a thriller at Jack Murphy Stadium. Placekicker Kent Bostrom, who had kicked field goals of 47, 22, and 28 yards, missed a 59-yard attempt with time running out to secure the Razorback win. In the seesaw battle, Arkansas had scored with 23 seconds remaining on a Kendall Trainor 37-yard field goal to stake an 18-17 lead. It was the first Arkansas lead since it led 7-3 in the first quarter. Senior tailback Darryl Clack, playing in his final game as a Sun Devil, returned Trainor's ensuing kickoff 37 yards to the 37-yard line. With time ticking away, quarterback Jeff Van Raaphorst hit split end Aaron Cox for 21 yards and a first down at the Arkansas 42. Van Raaphorst passed again, this time to receiver Paul Day. But Day could not hang on at the 22-yard line on a nice play by roverback Odis Lloyd of Arkansas, setting up Bostrom's three-point try. Arizona State scored its only touchdown on a 16-yard pass from Van Raaphorst to Cox just before the half. Van Raaphorst finished the game with 167 yards and one touchdown on 14 of 27 passing. Tailback Mike Crawford, who was the holder on the field goal try, rushed for 103 yards on 18 carries. ASU inside linebacker Greg Battle earned the game's most valuable defender award.

1983 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 32, Oklahoma 21
January 1, Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium
Attendance: 70,553

Arizona State came off NCAA probation with a resounding 32-21 victory over Oklahoma its first major network television appearance since 1980. The Sooners led 7-0 after one quarter before the Devils scored the game's next eight points. Two Luis Zendejas field goals and a safety gave the Sun Devils a short-lived 8-7 advantage. Following an Oklahoma TD, Zendejas added his third three-pointer of the game, a record-setting 54-yarder as the halftime gun sounded, cutting Oklahoma's lead to 13-11. After alternating possessions for the first five minutes of the third stanza, Arizona State drove 43 yards on four plays, capped by a 15-yard run by Darryl Clack, to give the Devils an 18-13 lead. However, the Sooners engineered a drive of their own, followed by a successful two-point conversion that gave them a 21-18 lead after 45 minutes of play. Twenty-eight seconds into the final quarter, ASU's Alvin Moore scored from a yard out to give the Devils a 25-21 margin. On the Devil's next possession, QB Todd Hons, who threw for 329 yards in the game, connected with speedster Ron Brown on a 52-yard pass play for the game's final score. Hons was named offensive most valuable player for the Devils while defensive end Jim Jeffcoat received the same honor for the defense.

1978 GARDEN STATE BOWL

Arizona State 34, Rutgers 18
December 16, East Rutherford, N.J.
The Meadowlands
Attendance: 33,402

Arizona State and Rutgers collided in the inaugural Garden State Bowl, with the Sun Devils taking a 34-18 win. The Sun Devils came from behind to score the victory after trailing 10-0 late in the second quarter. Arizona State got on the scoreboard with Mark

Malone's 26-yard pass to Robert Weathers to put ASU down by three at the half. In the second half Malone and the rest of the Sun Devils put it all together to score 21 straight points to take command of the game. Malone, who finished the game 13 of 31 for 268 yards, assisted in all five of the Sun Devil touchdowns as he threw for three TDs and rushed for the other two. In the third quarter, Malone passed to John Mistler for a 26-yard TD and then followed up with a 53-yard bomb to Chris DeFrance. In the fourth quarter Malone took it in himself on a one-yard run. Ted Blackwell scored Rutgers' final TD of the day on a five-yard run. Malone then scored on a four-yard run for his second TD of the afternoon. Sun Devil receiver John Mistler was named MVP for his efforts in catching seven passes for 148 yards.

1977 FIESTA BOWL

Penn State 42, Arizona State 30
December 25, Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium
Attendance: 57,727

Arizona State failed in its attempt for a sixth-straight bowl victory, falling to a powerful Nittany Lion squad by a 42-30 margin. Probably the biggest reason for the Devil demise was the 14 first quarter points ASU surrendered. But the Sun Devils came battling back from the deficit, scoring a pair of second quarter TDs on a pair of Dennis Sproul aeriels. Although A-State came back to only a 17-14 deficit at the half, the third quarter and the early going in the final frame was all Penn State. Down 31-14, the Devils never quit, giving the Fiesta Bowl record crowd and the national CBS television audience an exciting contest to the finish. Sproul hit Ron Washington to bring ASU to the short side of 31-21, and after a Matt Bahr field goal, ASU scored to pull within six at 34-28. But the Lions closed the door on a TD in the final minutes by Matt Suhey, while ASU scored its final points on a safety.

1975 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 17, Nebraska 14
December 26, Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium
Attendance: 51,396

In perhaps the biggest win in Arizona State football history, the Sun Devils outlasted co-Big 8 champ Nebraska to finish the season 12-0 and go on to finish second in both wire service final grid polls. Trailing 14-6 entering the final quarter, the Sun Devils scored an early fourth period TD on a 10-yard Fred Mortensen to John Jefferson pass. Mortensen then tossed to Larry Mucker for a two-point conversion to tie the game at 14. Late in the fourth quarter, ASU's Danny Kush booted a 29-yard field goal — his third of the day — to give the Devils a 17-14 lead. Nebraska began driving for a possible winning score in the waning moments of the game, but a jarring tackle of Cornhusker Tony Davis allowed the Sun Devils to recover a fumble and the game for the victory. "From the players' standpoint, this was probably the most important game since I have been here," said Frank Kush. "Not only was the game important for the recognition this team will receive, but it also helps gain recognition for the great teams and players we have had here in the past."

1973 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 28, Pittsburgh 7
December 21, Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium
Attendance: 50,878

Pitt scored a gift touchdown in the first minute of play, but only Arizona State scored during the remainder of the game as ASU won its third consecutive Fiesta Bowl. Danny White fumbled on the first snap of the game with Pitt recovering at the ASU 12. Tony Dorsett gained nine yards and then three for the touchdown to put the Panthers ahead. But ASU drove 73 yards in its next possession, with White's 51-yard pass to Greg Hudson setting up Woody Green's three-yard touchdown run. Danny Kush's 30-yard field goal with 1:29 remaining in the third quarter snapped a 7-7 deadlock. The Devils put the game away in the final period. White's 38-yard pass to Hudson completed an 80-yard scoring drive. Green ran 23 yards for a TD on the first play, following a partially blocked Pitt punt, and White's 50-yard pass to Owens set up a one-yard touchdown by Green. Green gained 131 yards on 25 carries, while Dorsett netted 100 yards on 30 carries.

1971 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 45, Florida State 38
 December 27, Tempe, Ariz.
 Sun Devil Stadium
 Attendance: 51,809

The Sun Devils and Florida State's Seminoles combined to give the Fiesta Bowl the most spectacular opening game in collegiate bowl history. A contest of continual offensive one-upmanship, the two teams combined for 83 points — the most in modern collegiate bowl game history. Gary Huff's 25 of 46 for 347 yards with two TDs earned him the MVP award, but Huff came up short in leading the Seminoles to victory over Arizona State. Lead-

1970 PEACH BOWL

Arizona State 48, North Carolina 26
 December 30, Atlanta, Ga.
 Grant Field
 Attendance: 52,126

The Sun Devils conquered a fine North Carolina team and a raging Atlanta blizzard to begin their march into the national collegiate grid limelight in the '70 Peach Bowl. It was the Sun Devil trademark of blazing speed that earned the victory for ASU, as J.D. Hill, Monroe Eley, Bob Thomas and Joe Spagnola led the way for Arizona State. The Sun Devils broke out to a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter, Carolina answered with 26 second quarter points to take a 26-21 halftime lead. The Devils offense continued to operate at peak efficiency in the second half, despite the raging snow storm that slowed the track. Also raging in the second half was the A-State defense, which held UNC all-America running back Don McCauley and the Tar Heels scoreless. "This game is going to mean a lot to us in the future," said Frank Kush, following the Sun Devil triumph. "I think that we've proven now that we can go on a football field with anyone in the nation."

1951 SALAD BOWL

Miami, Ohio 34, Arizona State 21
 January 1, Phoenix, Ariz.
 Montgomery Stadium
 Attendance: 23,000

Eddie Doherty took his team to the Salad Bowl for the second straight year, this time to face Woody Hayes' Miami Redskins. Miami roared out to 21-0 lead before Wilford White scored for ASC on a pass from Manuel Aja. The teams traded touchdowns after that. Passer Nobby Wirkowski and runner Jim (Boxcar) Bailey were Miami's offensive stars. It was the last Arizona State game for Doherty and 19 seniors.

Attendance: 13,000

Arizona State's Bulldogs met Catholic University of Washington, D.C., in the Bulldogs' first-ever postseason bowl appearance, the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. Coach Dixie Howell's 1939 team had been a defensive wonder, and it continued the tradition in the Sun Bowl, blanking the strong Cardinals and limiting them to only four first downs. Wayne (Ripper) Pitts and Bill (Dub) Davis were backfield standouts and center Ray Green was an anchor of the ASTC line. The Dogs rolled up a big statistical advantage, but were stopped on four fumble losses and several pass interceptions in the scoreless game.

The Arizona State University Sports Hall of Fame was established in 1975 to honor the school's most distinguished student-athletes in all sports.

Plaques describing the athletic achievements of each inductee are displayed on the concourse level of the Wells Fargo Arena in five separate exhibit areas. It is open for public viewing during normal University hours and during all events.

Athletes enshrined in the Hall of Fame are chosen by the Hall of Fame selection committee, composed of administrators, staff faculty, and lay people close to the University's athletic program.

Sports Hall of Fame selection is based on one or more of the following criteria: all-America recognition; NCAA champion; world record setter; Olympic medal; NCAA statistical leader; and significant contribution to sports and graduation.

Athletes become eligible for enshrinement 10 years after their senior class has graduated.

It has been said by many respected individuals in the world of sports that the Sports Hall of Fame at ASU is one of the best, if not THE best, in the nation in terms of the number of sports represented and the quality of athletes in the hall.

SUN DEVILS FOOTBALL 2000

Postseason Awards

One of the most decorated academic Sun Devils in history, linebacker Mark Tingstad, earned several awards during his four-year career, including the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame's Scholar-Athlete Award in 1989. He also was the only four-time member of the Pacific-10 Conference's academic all-league team in 1989.

Rankings and Streaks

ASU In The Rankings

Since the AP began a preseason poll, ASU has been ranked higher than its 1998 preseason No. 8 ranking. The Sun Devils were tabbed No. 3 in 1976, behind Nebraska and Michigan. Of the 15 times ASU has appeared in the AP preseason poll, 1976 and 1998 are the only times the Sun Devils were in the top 10.

ASU In The Polls

Arizona State has been ranked nationally at season's end many times. The Sun Devils' highest ranking came in 1975 when they finished second nationally in both major polls (Associated Press-media, United Press International-coaches) behind national champion Oklahoma.

ASU's 10-1-1 team of 1986, which completed its Pac-10 title season by defeating Michigan 22-15 in the Rose Bowl, was ranked fourth and fifth nationally by AP and UPI, respectively.

In 1996, ASU completed an undefeated (11-0) regular season before losing to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, finishing ranked fourth in both major polls.

One of the most uncharacteristic photographs in Arizona State football history – the Sun Devils playing in snow. It was to their liking, however, as ASU defeated North Carolina, 48-26, in the 1970 Peach Bowl played at Grant Field in Atlanta.

Series Chronology

SUN DEVILS FOOTBALL 2000

1999 IN REVIEW

1999 Review

#25 Arizona State 31, Texas Tech 13

September 6, 1999

Sun Devil Stadium/Frank Kush Field

Attendance: 65,091

Arizona State entered the 1999 season intent on putting the first game of 1998 behind it, and with a strong defense topped the Texas Tech Red Raiders 31-13 in front of 65,091 fans at Sun Devil Stadium.

ASU fell to Washington 42-38 in the 1998 season opener and a long pass play with under 30 seconds left in the game had a huge part in the eventual 5-6 record. ASU fell behind the Red Raiders early, but the fans who made it to the 5 p.m. local time start and those who watched the game at home on Fox Sports Net had to be impressed with J.R. Redmond and a solid Sun Devil comeback.

The season opener was a game of firsts which produced ASU's first win. It was the first meeting of the two teams, despite the fact they are only 728 miles apart. It was the first Monday night game in ASU history, and the first time a Pac-10 team has played a regular season game on a Monday since USC played host to Memphis State on Labor Day in 1991.

And then in the first quarter with just over three minutes on the clock and ASU down 7-0, Sun Devil starting quarterback, Ryan Kealy lay on the ground, clutching his right leg in pain. Kealy fell to the turf untouched while going back to pass. He was out for the game, and then had to have surgery the next morning.

"It was kind of a scary feeling," Kealy said. "It's happened before, so I kind of realized what it was. I didn't think it was going to be a torn ligament or anything like that. I knew everything would be fine in a little bit of time."

Then senior J.R. Redmond went to work. Redmond ran for 157 yards and two touchdowns, outplaying Texas Tech's Ricky Williams in a test between two of the best tailbacks in the nation. It marked the eighth 100-yard game of Redmond's career.

Williams ran for just 33 yards in 13 carries. After a one-yard run 3:18 minutes into the game, Williams hurt his left knee and shortly thereafter, left the game. Arizona State scored 31 consecutive points after Williams' touchdown. Redmond, who played decoy to spring Delvon Flowers on a 40-yard scoring reverse early in the second half, out-gained Williams on one scoring run, a 56-yard burst that tied the game 23 seconds into the second quarter.

Though, the Sun Devils played three quarters without star quarterback Ryan Kealy, they compensated with sophomore John Leonard who was 7-of-17 for 117 yards; big defensive plays (including five sacks); and Redmond, who also had a three-yard scoring run.

"I felt really bad for Ryan, but I told myself you've got to be ready at all times," Leonard said. "I was not nervous at first, I just got the feel of the game. I got loose as quickly as I could."

Leonard came off the bench to lead the team with a solid start. He completed 7-of-17 for 117 yards, and passed to Tariq McDonald for 41 yards. McDonald tied his career high with five catches. Griffin Goodman also held strong with 4-of-5 and 47 yards through the air.

At one point, from the 7:57 mark of the second quarter to the 2:43 mark of the third quarter, ASU scored points on five of six possessions.

Stephen Baker kicked field goals of 40, 35, and 34 yards to lead the Sun Devils to a 31-7 lead. The defense limited Texas Tech to 47 total yards in the second half, 85 over the final 45 minutes. It marked the first time ASU had three field goals in a game since the Miami contest in 1997, which was the second game of the season.

"The defense played really well. We had guys flying all around the ball," said sophomore safety Willie Daniel, who had perhaps the biggest defensive play of the game, forcing a fumble by fullback Sammy Morris at the ASU one-yard line on Texas Tech's second possession. Alfred Williams recovered for ASU. The play kept Texas Tech from taking a 14-0 lead.

Daniel also had a big interception in the first half, the second in his career. The defense forced three turnovers on the evening.

"It says a lot about what a magnificent job our front seven did that their top two running backs were out of the game before it was over," said ASU defensive coordinator Phil Snow about Williams and fullback Sammy Morris, who went down with a shoulder injury.

The defense had a better overall outing than it did all of last season, holding the Texas Tech running game to 107 yards and quarterback Peters to a 7-of-22, two-interception outing.

The ASU defensive line dominated Texas Tech's offensive line for most of the game. Erik Flowers, Junior Ioane, Mason Unck, Quincy Yancy and Eric Fields each contributed to a sack. There were also the two interceptions, by Daniel and Karcem Clark. Ioane led the way with seven tackles, including four solo stops.

ASU fans also came away impressed with the play of freshmen linebackers Solomon Bates and Josh Amobi. Bates, just 17 years old, registered four tackles.

"The longer we went on, the better the defense was," Coach Bruce Snyder said, as he is now 6-2 in home openers at Arizona State. "They were ready to play. They were physical and good on the pass rush. We've been living with some bad memories for eight months, I'm really proud of this group."

"It's a real important win," Redmond said. "We needed to come out strong in the first game, and we did that."

GAME NOTES: ASU played 10 defensive backs in the game...the interception by senior cornerback Kareem Clark was his second of his career...Mason Unck also added seven total tackles in his first game...Richard Williams made his first career reception...ASU had four sacks for minus 38 yards...Tech was just 3-of-13 on third downs...Tech had just 11 first downs...12 Sun Devils who registered tackles on either defense or special teams were playing in their first collegiate game.

New Mexico State 35, #22 Arizona State 7 September 18, 1999

Sun Devil Stadium/Frank Kush Field

Attendance: 56,728

Weather: 90 degrees, humid and rainy

After basking in the glow of their first win vs. Texas Tech, the ASU Sun Devil football team lost to New Mexico State 35-7 in a shocker.

Unlike the season opener, the Sun Devils gained just 116 yards rushing and 118 yards passing as the determined Aggies surprised their opponents with 363 rushing yards and 205 yards passing. When totaled, the Aggies had 368 yards of offense to just 234 for ASU.

"I'm embarrassed, this team is embarrassed," said Bruce Snyder after the game. "We knew we were playing a good football team. I take full responsibility for this."

ASU played like it was expecting the same Aggie team that it had defeated in 1997, when ASU won 41-10 over New Mexico State. In that game, J.R. Redmond rushed for 176 yards and one touchdown on 10 carries. The Sun Devils rushed for 275 yards, averaging 6.7 yards per carry, and pretty much had their way from the opening kick. That certainly was not the case in 1999.

NMSU hadn't beaten a ranked opponent in researchable history (records back to 1979). Since 1979, NMSU was 0-14 vs. ranked teams entering the game, but none of that mattered to this team coached by Tony Samuels.

The Devils know where New Mexico State is, and it's not the same place it was two years ago. The rushing offense entered the game ranked fifth in the nation (297 yards per game), and although that had something to do with a 73-17 season-opening victory against New Mexico Highlands, the ranking was not all that deceptive. The Aggies finished seventh in the country in 1998.

"If you put a tape of this team and the one two years ago side by side, they're not the same," Bruce Snyder said. "They are well-coached and disciplined. They have a combination option. They run downhill and run play-action-pass. We told everyone this was a good team we were playing."

Two of the biggest plays of the game were an end-zone interception by Jason Willis that hurt Arizona State's first drive in the third quarter, when it trailed just 7-0, and the special-teams work of Mike Lueckeman and Mike Wakefield. After J.R. Redmond scored a touchdown and the Sun Devils forced New Mexico State to punt, Lueckeman stripped the ball from Redmond on the return, and Wakefield recovered at midfield.

"Tonight the better team won," Redmond said. "They were doing what they needed to do - hustling to the ball and making the plays when they needed to."

ASU remained scoreless in the first half of the game, but it was during the second quarter that ASU got hit with several penalties. When Willie Daniel intercepted a 30-yard pass from NMSU K.C. Enzminger, a penalty was received by ASU. After Redmond rushed for 21 yards a penalty was given to ASU for a false start, and five yards were given back to NMSU. During the Devils second drive of the quarter ASU was hit with a time out for use of illegal equipment.

The Aggies maintained their lead with 28-0 until the beginning of the fourth quarter when ASU had their first scoring drive of the game. After Kealy rushed for 16 yards, completed a nine-yard pass to McDonald and Hightower rushed for 5 yards, Redmond nabbed the ball and took it for a touchdown. John Leonard came in for Kealy late in the quarter.

Snyder believes Kealy's performance was a product of several factors, including Todd Heap's health. The tight end suffered from severe flu-like symptoms during the game and couldn't make catches he has made in the past.

Kealy said his knee, which was operated on less than two weeks ago, didn't bother him, but Snyder thinks he may have been subconsciously affected by it. Also, the absence early on of Tariq McDonald, who was benched during the first quarter for a violation of team rules hurt the squad.

"I have concerns about everything on this team, but I believe he (Kealy) won't be one of the big concerns," Snyder said. "He certainly had it rough a year ago, and my thinking is he's learned from that."

One thing Snyder knows for certain about ASU is that it lost strong side linebacker Stephen Trejo for a while. The junior injured his shoulder against New Mexico State, and Snyder speculated that he could be out a month. Hightower was also a major figure in the last quarter with a gain of 36 yards. Redmond finished the game with 62 rushing yards and a 5-yard loss.

GAME NOTES: The last meeting before the 1997 game was in 1963...the Devils won 18 of the last 19 meetings and holds a 21-6-1 edge in the all time series that saw the two schools meet 30 times between 1939-1963...NMSU had never beaten a Pac-8 or a Pac-10 team while it was a member of the conference. NMSU's five wins over Arizona and six wins over ASU came before both schools joined the Pac-10.

California 24, Arizona State 23 September 25, 1999 Memorial Stadium Attendance: 44,500 Weather: 82 degrees and clear

Arizona State suffered its second consecutive loss in its Pac-10 opener at California, 24-23. The Sun Devils claimed a 23-14 lead with 12:22 remaining in the game on Delvon Flowers 27-yard touchdown run, but a blocked extra-point would prove to be crucial as California responded with a touchdown pass and a 25-yard field goal on its next two possessions to lead for the first time, 24-23, and hold ASU off for the victory. The Sun Devils outgained the Bears 475-263 in total yardage, including a 196-50 edge in rushing and a 279-213 margin in passing.

"We came out to change our season," said linebacker Adam Archuleta, who led everyone with 13 tackles. "We played real hard. It's real frustrating."

Three Sun Devil running backs had 50 yards rushing and two topped 70 yards as ASU's backfield combined for 215 yards rushing, averaging 5.4 yards per carry. Senior J.R. Redmond led the Devils in rushing for the fifth straight game with 74 yards on 19 carries. Davaren Hightower had 72 yards on nine carries and Delvon Flowers nabbed 51 yards on eight carries. Ryan Kealy had his best game of the young season, completing 15 of 25 passes for 266 yards and two touchdowns.

Kealy left the game after three quarters because of bruised ribs. Richard Williams grabbed both touchdown throws, his first two as a Sun Devil, and had 103 yards on four catches. Kealy spread the ball around, completing a pass to nine different receivers.

"I'm hurt, I'm in pain, but I'm not discouraged," Sun Devils Coach Bruce Snyder said. Snyder blamed himself afterward for some miscues.

With time running out in the first half, Stephen Baker failed to get a 44-yard field goal. He was rushed because the Sun Devils missed a chance to spike the ball and stop the clock with approximately five seconds left.

"That's on me," Snyder said. "The prudent thing to do was to spike the ball. No question, spike it, take a breath and kick the ball."

Snyder also blamed himself for a decision to go with an option play in the third quarter with ASU at the California 3-yard line. J.R. Redmond did not have control of Davaren Hightower's pitch and California recovered. The Sun Devils lost an opportunity to go up, 21-14.

"I wish I had that back," Snyder said. "Nobody calls a perfect game. Usually, if you have 80 snaps, you want to call 20 back and that was one of them."

Despite that, the Sun Devils led 23-14 with 12:22 remaining thanks to big contributions by their junior college transfers. Richard Williams proved he's more than just a track standout with touchdown receptions of 48 and six yards in the first half. Delvon Flowers had an impressive 27-yard run to put ASU up by nine. But Michael Ainsworth, a redshirt freshman who had originally committed to ASU before settling on California, ran an impressive route and was ahead of Courtney Jackson in the end zone to come to within 23-21 with 10 minutes left in the game.

The Sun Devils, who were led by quarterback John Leonard in the fourth quarter because of Kealy's injury, did not capitalize again, even when Eric Fields recovered a fumble on the Bears' 48 with 3:43 remaining. The Bears tied it at 14 on a 16-yard pass from Kyle Boller to tailback Marcus Fields with 1:08 to go in the first half.

"We called a blitz, and they had never shown that formation and the guys didn't adjust," ASU defensive coordinator Phil Snow said.

During that drive, the Bears converted on a third-and-30.

"It was obviously a very disappointing loss. The positives were we made tremendous changes from last Saturday to this Saturday. We learned how to prepare for a game, and we played extremely hard in the game," Snyder said. "If you compare what we did statistically-what we did in this game to what we did in previous games, in terms of tackle percentages, and hustle grades-we played better this game. But you need more points out of 500 yards."

"We still can make a run," said junior Craig Koontz, who made his first start at free safety. "The Pac-10 is wide open. We know we have a good team."

GAME NOTES: Kealy sat the final 14:48 of the game with his bruised ribs...sophomore punter Nick Murphy's had just a five-yard punt in the early parts of the second quarter which gave Cal the ball at the ASU 14-yard line...ASU averaged 5.7 yards per play compared to Cal's 4.0 yards per play...ASU fumbled five times but was lucky enough to lose just two...neither team had a sack...J.R. Redmond had a sprained shoulder that limited him to just 19 carries.

Arizona State 28, UCLA 27

Sun Devil Stadium/Frank Kush Field

Attendance: 54,048

Weather: 92 degrees, sunny and clear

Heading into the crucial Pac-10 showdown against UCLA in Tempe, Arizona State head coach Bruce Snyder said that four or five big plays would make the difference in determining a victor.

But after a combined four interceptions, four fumble recoveries and eight offensive plays over 30 yards, it became apparent that the ASU coach made a slight underestimation.

Fortunately for Snyder and the ASU faithful, his team made the last and biggest play of them all in the Sun Devils' 28-27 wild come-from-behind win at Sun Devil Stadium. With just under a minute remaining and no timeouts to use, backup quarterback Griffin Goodman hit Delvon Flowers on a short inside screen pass. Thanks to some nifty blocking from wide receiver Richard Williams, the junior tailback scampered 49 yards to knot the score at 27. Stephen Baker's ensuing extra point gave ASU (2-2, 1-1 in the Pac-10) its only lead of the game, but it came when it mattered most.

"The gamble is you're going to be tackled in-bounds, and the clock will continue to run, and you feel stupid," said Snyder. "Delvon Flowers has played a lot in three (of our four) games, and has a touchdown in each one of those games. If he touches the ball, he's going to put it in the end zone."

"Before the game, I thought, 'I have to make something happen.' And it happened. It really happened," said Flowers.

However in the first half, it appeared UCLA was on its way to a lopsided win, knocking the Sun Devils out of Rose Bowl contention in the process. On the Bruins' first possession of the game, senior tailback Keith Brown rumbled 50 yards to put UCLA up 7-0. Quarterback Cory Paus and receiver Danny Farmer extended the lead by a touchdown when they connected on an 85-yard score to open the second quarter.

At that point Arizona State's offense had been stuck in neutral, managing only four first downs and operating without starting quarterback Ryan Kealy, unable to play through a rib injury suffered at Cal. Facing yet another third down situation, All-American tailback J.R. Redmond decided to join the big-play party, shaking loose a number of Bruin defenders en route to a 32-yard touchdown with 4:16 to play in the half.

But any Sun Devil momentum was thwarted when Brown, a Phoenix native, scored again from two yards out with 12 seconds left in the half. UCLA (2-3, 0-2) held a 21-7 advantage heading into the locker rooms.

After defense prevailed for a majority of the third quarter, Snyder inserted Goodman at quarterback with 2:23 remaining to replace John Leonard, who had relieved Kealy in the first. On his first snap, the junior handed off to Redmond, who burst off right tackle for an 80-yard touchdown.

"I'd like to think no one feels we're out of it," said Redmond. "That play kind of gave us hope."

The Sun Devil defense forced UCLA three-and-out on its next possession, but ASU promptly gave the ball back in its own territory when Goodman's pass was intercepted by Ryan Nece. A 20-yard field goal by Chris Griffith gave the Bruins a 24-14 at the 13:35 mark of the fourth quarter.

Arizona State was unsuccessful on its ensuing possession, but caught a tremendous break when safety Al Williams forced a fumble by UCLA's Jermaine Lewis, which was recovered by linebacker Solomon Bates at the Bruin 14. Redmond then converted his third touchdown of the game, this one a two-yard reception.

However the Sun Devils missed a chance to tie or take the lead following an interception by junior linebacker Adam Archuleta at the ASU 43 with 6:30 to play. A 38-yard completion to Richard Williams advanced the ball into UCLA territory, but four plays later kicker Stephen Baker missed a 44-yard field goal attempt wide-left.

Not wanting to risk any more turnovers, the Bruins appeared content trying to run out the clock. It appeared as though Arizona State had a dagger stuck through its collective heart when Brown broke free for a 35-yard run with under two minutes remaining, giving the senior 184 rushing yards for the game. That set up a 46-yard field goal by Griffith, giving the Bruins a 27-21 advantage, meaning ASU would have 53 seconds and no time outs in which to score a touchdown.

Setting up at his own 20, Goodman found junior receiver Tariq McDonald who ducked out of bounds after an 11-yard gain. On the following play, the junior signal-caller and sophomore tight end Todd Heap connected for 20 yards, advancing the ball to the Bruin 49 with 49 seconds showing on the Sun Devil Stadium scoreboard.

The rest, as they say, is history, giving ASU a victory that will be talked about in Tempe for some time.

"I couldn't feel my legs," said Goodman, a walk-on. "I had to hold for the extra point, and Stephen Baker had to scream in my face."

"It's all about heart," said Richard Williams, who threw two blocks and took out three players on the final play for ASU. "I try not to think about the fact that I'm only 170 pounds."

GAME NOTES: J.R. Redmond's 185 rushing yards moved him past Ben Malone into eighth place on ASU's career rushing list...this was Redmond's second career three-touchdown game. The other came against North Texas on Sept. 19, 1998 when he recorded three rushing TD's...UCLA holds the all-time series advantage 11-6-1, but ASU emerged victorious in five of the past six meetings...Delvon Flowers has scored three touchdowns on the season while only being involved in 19 total offensive plays.

1999 Review

Notre Dame 48, Arizona State 17

Notre Dame Stadium

Attendance: 80,012

Weather: 66 degrees, cloudy and drizzle

Jarius Jackson threw for four touchdowns, tying a Notre Dame record, and rushed for one as Notre Dame handily beat Arizona State, 48-17.

The Sun Devils (2-3) did all they could to help Jackson along, committing six turnovers, five of them in the first half. Five fumbles and three interceptions summarize what went wrong for ASU.

"This wasn't about a difference in the talent level," said J.R. Redmond. "We had the upper hand early and shot ourselves in the foot."

"Guys started falling apart. You could see it. There wasn't any finger-pointing, but there was a lot of frustration," captain Erik Flowers said. "All year, we've been killing ourselves."

The Irish struggled in the first quarter, unable to capitalize on Arizona State's first two turnovers. But after Stephen Baker missed a 24-yard field goal attempt, Jackson drove the Irish 80 yards in six plays, hitting Bobby Brown for a 42-yard touchdown pass with 11:06 left in the second quarter to begin the onslaught.

On Arizona State's next play, AJani Sanders intercepted Ryan Kealy's pass at the 28 and returned it for a touchdown untouched. The play was similar to Sanders' interception return for a touchdown in last year's meeting, a 28-9 Irish win, in which he returned a Kealy pass 25 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter, also to put the Irish up 14-0.

Things just got worse from there for the Sun Devils. Kealy drove Arizona State deep into Irish territory and hit Todd Heap for 23 yards to the 12-yard line. But Heap fumbled into the end zone and Deke Cooper recovered it for Notre Dame. Jackson made Arizona State pay for its fourth turnover, scrambling 44 yards to the Sun Devils' 6 before he rolled out right and threw left to tight end Dan O'Leary, who eluded the only defender in the area and strutted into the end zone as the Irish went up 21-0 with 7:13 left.

"I tried to get a couple of extra yards and got hit from behind and didn't expect it," said Heap, who did all he could to try to lead the Sun Devils. He had eight receptions for 100 yards.

Three plays later, Cooper, who had two fumble recoveries in the first half, intercepted Kealy's pass at the Notre Dame 43 and returned it to the 25. Jackson hit Joey Getherall on the next play for a 25-yard touchdown pass, and the Irish capped off a scoring splurge in which they put 27 points on the board in just 5:24.

Notre Dame rolled up 211 more yards of offense in the second half and outscored ASU 21-17.

ASU didn't score until late in the third quarter on a Gerald Green one-yard run. A five-yard pass from Griffin Goodman to Brian Jennings with 48 seconds left in the game resulted in another touchdown, and the Sun Devils got three points earlier on a Stephen Baker 45-yard field goal.

Kealy was 18-of-30 for 196 yards and three interceptions before he was yanked in the fourth quarter. Arizona State leading rusher J.R. Redmond rushed for 63 yards on 13 carries before he was pulled in the third quarter with a sore shoulder.

"We are taking responsibility for the way we played," said Snyder. "This team was really excited about being here and they wanted to play a great game. It's extremely disappointing for all of us."

"We will bounce back from this," said Adam Archuleta. "Something this team has to learn is that bad things are going to happen but you must have to be oblivious to them. We're going to recover. We've got to trust our coaches and trust our team."

GAME NOTES: ASU's six turnovers gave it 18 for the season...the loss was the worst for ASU since a 31-0 loss at USC in 1995...Notre Dame led 41-7 heading into the fourth quarter...Notre Dame scored five offensive touchdowns in 5:35 in the first half.

Arizona State 28, Washington 7

Husky Stadium

Attendance: 72,789

Weather: 56 degrees, sunny and clear

It was an odd place to start the season over. But when ASU beat Washington on a beautiful Saturday afternoon at Husky Stadium, the fact that the Sun Devils have failed there in four previous visits apparently wasn't on anyone's mind.

Led by junior quarterback Ryan Kealy, who passed for two touchdowns in the second half, Arizona State took advantage of six lost fumbles by Washington for a 28-7 victory in the loud Husky Stadium.

In a game that could possibly define whether the postseason remained a viable goal for the two teams, ASU played as if their season's future depended on it, whereas Washington fizzled out after their first score.

"We've had our backs against the wall in two league games and we found a way to win, so maybe that's what we need," said Bruce Snyder after the game, referring to the UCLA and now the UW game. "In fact, we all (the whole Pac-10) have our backs to the wall."

"Nobody gave us any credit coming up here," said linebacker Adam Archuleta, had four tackles for losses of negative 19 yards. "I think we proved that if we do what we're supposed to do and play hard we can play with anybody."

Kealy, who hadn't finished a game this season because of injuries, had scoring passes of three yards to tight end Kendrick Bates and 24 yards to Tariq McDonald to break open a tight game in the second half.

"The important thing that what happened tonight came from within. We really found strength from each other," said Kealy. "Our confidence level did nothing but grow as the game went on."

The Huskies started off strong as they took the opening kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown. Washington took a 7-0 lead with 4:32 gone on Marques Tuiasosopo's 23-yard scramble. But it was downhill from there. Arizona State's defense stymied Tuiasosopo and Washington's option attack from that point on as the Huskies had just 153 net yards rushing.

ASU's offense was successful even without J.R. Redmond for much of the game. However, he was instrumental in helping set up the Sun Devils first touchdown run.

ASU gained 22 yards on a play that called for Davaren Hightower at quarterback. Hightower gave the ball to wide receiver Tariq McDonald who faked the run and passed to Redmond. This set up a 10-yard touchdown run early in the second quarter, the first of flyback Terrelle Smith's career.

With that run the Sun Devils would score 28 straight points after trailing 7-0. Kealy was 15 of 28 for 194 yards and two touchdowns. Gerald Green took over for Redmond and finished with 18 carries for 82 yards, another solid performance on artificial turf.

ASU's tight ends also saw action as nine of the team's 16 receptions were by tight ends, including Kendrick Bates' catch in the end zone.

Arizona State led 10-7 at halftime as the Huskies lost three fumbles in the second quarter. After Smith's 10-yard scoring jaunt, freshman linebacker Solomon Bates' hit on Hurst caused a fumble that lineman Jewell Samilton recovered at the Sun Devils 40. Arizona State drove 51 yards for Baker's 27-yard field goal at 8:36 of the second quarter.

The Sun Devils turned a fumble by punt returner Joe Jarzynka into a 22-yard field goal by Stephen Baker with 3:14 gone in the second half for a 13-7 lead. Jarzynka's fumble gave Arizona State the ball on the Washington 20.

Arizona State then took a 21-7 lead with its second touchdown of the game with eight seconds to go in the third quarter. After Quincy Yancy blocked John Anderson's 46-yard field goal attempt, the Sun Devils drove 47 yards in seven plays before Kealy's 3-yard touchdown pass to Bates on the next-to-last play of the third quarter. Kealy passed to Todd Heap for a two-point conversion.

While the offense clicked, the game was really defined by the defense. ASU's defense had five sacks and 11 tackles for loss and helped out with the Huskies' seven fumbles, six of which ASU recovered.

"We broke them," linebacker Solomon Bates said. "We killed their spirit."

The defense's finest moment came in the third quarter. With ASU up 13-7 and 5:02 remaining in the period, Washington made it down to fourth-and-goal at the Sun Devils' one-yard line. The Huskies' Willie Hurst was unable to score, held by Bates, Courtney Jackson and Adam Archuleta.

Before playing ASU, Hurst had put together back-to-back 100 yard games. The Sun Devils only allowed him 66 yards with no touchdowns.

Arizona State turned Washington's fifth lost fumble into a touchdown in the first minute of the fourth quarter for a 28-7 lead. Hurst lost his second fumble of the day on a vicious hit by Alfred Williams and the ball was recovered by cornerback Kareem Clark at the Washington 24. Hurst was knocked out of the game with a concussion. On the next play, Kealy passed to prep teammate McDonald at the goal line for a touchdown with 47 seconds gone in the fourth quarter.

"They came into the game and played with urgency and played inspired football," Washington head coach Rick Neuheisel said. "You don't have six fumbles in a contest and call that intensity."

"It was a tremendous victory," Snyder said. "I just believed it was going to happen sometime. I just didn't know when it was going to be. They didn't lose faith in themselves...that is what I appreciate."

GAME NOTES: The Sun Devils (3-3 overall, 2-1 Pac-10) ended a three-game winning streak for the Huskies (3-3, 2-1)...Arizona State had lost four games in a row in Seattle...Arizona State bounced back after losing 48-17 at Notre Dame last week...Kealy completed 15-of-28 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns with two interceptions...Tuiasosopo was 19-for-26 for 206 yards and no interceptions but did lose two fumbles...the 7 points by Washington was the fewest it had scored in Husky Stadium in 16 seasons.

Arizona State 33, Washington State 21

Weather: 94 degrees, clear

If football games had titles, the Arizona State vs. Washington State game would have been named A Tale of Two Halves.

J.R. Redmond ran for three touchdowns and gained 102 of his 165 rushing yards in the second half as Arizona State rallied for a 33-21 victory over the Cougars on Parents' Weekend.

In the first half, Washington State came out and confidently marched 80 yards in eight plays to take a 7-0 lead on the first drive of the game. Running back Deon Burnett scored on an 11-yard run. The Cougars then took a 14-0 lead after quarterback Steve Birnbaum hit Leaford Hackett on an 11-yard touchdown pass at the 4:51 mark of the first quarter as the Cougars looked like a fresh team who had taken advantage of the bye week.

ASU finally got on the board with a 37-yard field goal by sophomore Stephen Baker at the 1:37 mark of the first quarter after a 10-play, 64-yard drive. ASU found itself in the familiar position of trailing after the first quarter, 14-3. The Cougars had 130 yards of offense in the quarter and had racked up nine first downs.

"I wasn't pleased at all with the way we started," said head coach Bruce Snyder. "We weren't in sync in the first half. The defense led the comeback."

ASU notched a touchdown at the 10:35 mark of the second quarter when J.R. Redmond rushed two yards to cap a seven-play, 60-yard drive. Redmond had back-to-back runs of 16 and 13 yards to open the drive as ASU closed the gap to 14-10.

The Cougars (2-5, 1-3) came right back with a 13-play, 65-yard drive in 4:20 as had a one-yard run to make it 21-10 with just 6:15 left in the second quarter.

Stephen Baker notched another field goal, this one from 48 yards away, as the Sun Devils trailed at the half 21-13.

"I thought at halftime we were lucky to be down by eight points," said Snyder.

A message got across at halftime as ASU immediately took the second-half kickoff and went 59 yards in 11 plays. Todd Heap's 15-yard grab on third down led the way as ASU cut the lead to 21-19.

The Cougars stopped the 2-point conversion attempt, but ASU forced the Cougars to a three-and-out and Kealy capped the next drive with a go-ahead throw to Heap, then found Heap in the end zone again for a conversion that made it 27-21 with 7:10 remaining in the third.

Redmond had a career-high 35 carries, and his longest run was for 25 yards. Along with his play, the key to Arizona State's 23 unanswered points was a short passing game featuring tight end Todd Heap. Heap, with no catches at halftime, finished with five, and his four catches in the third quarter were essential to the comeback.

Redmond scored an insurance TD with 7:04 left in the game, and Erik Flowers and Adam Archuleta threw Birnbaum for 28 yards in sacks to stop the Cougars' final possession.

ASU's defense kept the Cougars scoreless for the remainder of the game. Washington State had only 32 yards in the second half. Birnbaum was only 2-of-8 for 15 yards in the second half. While ASU's Ryan Kealy finished 20-of-34 with 203 yards and one touchdown. The Cougars had just 32 yards of offense in the second half.

"We came out in the second half and executed," said Kealy, who moved into fifth on the ASU career passing list. "You can feel the electricity when we're ready, and we were ready."

In the fourth quarter Redmond scored again on a three-yard run to finish the game out. Redmond ended up with a career-high 35 carries and rushed for 165 yards and three touchdowns.

"We made plays and controlled the ball," said Redmond, who had 20 rushes for 102 yards in the second half. "We kept the ball moving and gained six or seven yards a pop. Kealy was on target and it really worked for us today."

"He (Redmond) played probably the best game I have seen him play this year," said WSU linebacker Steve Gleason. "He looked like he was pretty healthy, and he came out with a lot of determination. I take my hat off to him. He played a great game."

"I'm really proud of these guys," Snyder said. "They did a great job and really rallied in the second half."

GAME NOTES: The win was Bruce Snyder's 50th in Pac-10 play...Kealy moved into fifth-place on the ASU career passing list...Redmond moved into fifth place on the ASU career rushing list...Quincy Yancy blocked a field goal for the second straight game...Stephen Baker had a 51-yard field goal nullified by a penalty...ASU scored points in every quarter...ASU held WSU scoreless in the second half...Adam Archuleta led the defense with 13 total tackles...including three behind the line of scrimmage...Erik Flowers had two sacks...Tariq McDonald led ASU with six catches for 57 yards...ASU was 7-of-16 on third down...WSU was just 1-of-6 on third down in the second half.

Oregon 20, Arizona State 17

Attendance: 45,445
Weather: 65 degrees, sunny

Oregon quarterback Joey Harrington threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to Marshaun Tucker with nine seconds remaining to give the Ducks a wild 20-17 comeback victory over an injury-riddled Sun Devil squad at Autzen Stadium.

ASU went into the game without two of its top defensive players, tackle Junior Ioane and safety Willie Daniel. During the game, the Sun Devils lost tight end Todd Heap (back), cornerback Kareem Clark (hip), linebacker Solomon Bates (knee), safety Craig Kooztz (shoulder) and wide receiver Tariq McDonald (ankle). All are starters.

And then the team found it would be without star tailback J.R. Redmond, who served a one-game NCAA-imposed suspension. Losing Redmond was like playing without two starters, as the senior was expected to play safety with all of the injuries.

"If you look in that locker room tonight, there's still a pretty strong heart beating," said Head Coach Bruce Snyder. "I'm terribly hurt by the loss, but I'm really proud of how we played the whole game. We were warriors."

Not only were the Sun Devils without those above, but others such as offensive lineman Victor Leyva and flyback Terrelle Smith played through injuries.

ASU had taken a 17-13 lead after senior tailback Gerald Green's 1-yard leap into the end zone with 1:04 left in the game. But Harrington completed passes of 3, 16, 17 and 14 yards to drive Oregon to the ASU 29 with 15 seconds remaining. Harrington, who replaced ineffective starter A.J. Feeley to star the second half, hit Tony Hartley on two straight passes for 31 yards for a first down at the Sun Devils' 29. After an incompletion, Harrington hit Tucker near the right front corner of the end zone and Tucker tumbled in for the touchdown.

Tucker ran a post corner route against left cornerback Nijrell Eason to make Harrington's catch. Eason was playing cornerback because Courtney Jackson had moved to safety to fill in a hole created by injuries to four of the top five players at that position.

"It hurts really bad," Eason said, who met reporters after the game and respectfully answered the questions regarding the final play. "Not for yourself, but for the rest of the team. It really hurts."

Eason had actually slipped on the final play, but the junior did not use that as an excuse.

"Yes, I did," said Eason when asked about slipping on the artificial turf. "But that doesn't matter. I got beat."

But ASU refused to use their injuries as an excuse for the way the game ended.

"To say we played hard and lost is not what we're interested in," Snyder said. "We should take no solace in how we played."

Despite Tucker's moment, the Sun Devils turned in a fine away-game performance. ASU held the Pac-10's highest scoring team and the nation's eighth-ranked offense to a mere three points at halftime and 18 points under their season average. The Ducks were averaging 37.9 points a game and had scored 72 points against Nevada early in the year.

Oregon started the scoring in the first quarter after Josh Frankel kicked a 24-yard field goal. ASU tied it, also with a 24-yarder by sophomore Stephen Baker in the second quarter.

After the half, Frankel hit another field goal for 34 yards. ASU's Delvon Flowers broke into a 20-yard run to put the Sun Devils up 10-6. However, the Ducks' K. Howry scored on a 5-yard pass from Harrington to take a 13-10 lead into the fourth quarter. Harrington finished 12-of-21 for 148 yards and two touchdowns, while Reuben Droughns rushed for 188 yards on 37 carries.

Sun Devil Ryan Kealy was 11-of-27 for 152 yards. Flowers dashed for a season high 161 yards in place of Redmond. ASU (4-4; 3-2) got 207 yards rushing and one touchdown apiece from Flowers and Gerald Green.

Both starting quarterbacks and offenses struggled in a first half that ended 3-3.

Feeley was 9-of-25 for 134 yards and an interception while Arizona State's Ryan Kealy was just 4-of-16 for 54 yards and an interception in the first half. Kealy finished 11-of-27 for 152 yards.

Oregon drove inside the ASU 40-yard line six times, but only managed the 24-yard field goal by Frankel. ASU's 24-yarder by Baker came with nine seconds left in the half.

Courtney Jackson notched 13 total tackles in his stint at safety, while Erik Flowers had three tackles behind the line of scrimmage for negative-12 yards. Mason Unck (11 tackles), Adam Archuleta (11 tackles) and Craig Kooztz (10 tackles) all had double-digit takedowns. Jackson and Eason each had interceptions, while the Sun Devils posted nine pass breakups.

GAME NOTES: Baker continued his streak as he has hit six straight field goals...ASU notched its second straight 200-yard rushing game...ASU played its third straight game without giving up a fumble...Oregon had 502 yards of total offense...Oregon had 92 offensive plays, while ASU had just 69...ASU had 12 penalties for 91 yards...Oregon won the time of possession battle, 36:12 to just 23:39 for ASU...ASU was 7-of-16 on third down...walk-on Patrick Wilson saw significant time at safety and had seven total tackles...junior cornerback Kenny Williams broke up three passes...ASU started 10 underclassmen on offense and eight on defense...ASU's first four drives resulted in punts...Oregon was just 3-of-10 on third down in the first half.

Arizona State 26, USC 16

See J.R. run ... see J.R. catch ... see J.R. play defense. Arizona State senior J.R. Redmond did all of the above against USC, starting at safety while starring in the backfield during the Sun Devils' 26-16 road victory.

At tailback, Redmond carried 34 times for 149 yards and notched his third three-touchdown game of the season. On the other side of the ball, the Carson, Calif., native made his first career defensive start due to a rash of injuries in the ASU secondary and recorded four unassisted tackles.

"We have one of the best football players in America," said Arizona State Head Coach Bruce Snyder. "Whenever he's playing, we are better."

It took some time for Redmond and the Sun Devil defense to settle in as the Trojans scored the game's first touchdown. On USC's second drive of the game tailback Chad Morton carried the ball four times for 27 yards, including a two-yard touchdown run, to give the home team a 7-0 lead.

ASU would answer on its ensuing possession with a nine play, 80-yard drive capped by a Ryan Kealy to Todd Head touchdown strike. That pass was set up in part by a 31-yard run from junior tailback Delvon Flowers which advanced the ball to the Trojan 36.

The score remained knotted at seven until the early stages of the second quarter. Set up at his own 19-yard line, Trojan quarterback John Fox threw an out pattern which was read perfectly by Sun Devil cornerback Kenny Williams. Williams jumped in front of the opposing receiver and took the pass 30 yards the other way to the USC 1-yard line.

On the next play Redmond took the ball up the middle for his first score of the game. However placekicker Stephen Baker missed the ensuing extra point attempt, leaving ASU with a precarious 13-7 advantage.

USC would have its own problems kicking the ball between the uprights as David Newbury missed a 47-yard attempt that would have brought his team within three at the 9:47 mark of the second quarter.

Taking over at their own 30, ASU would get a pair of first downs and before facing a fourth-and-one situation at the USC 40. Instead of trying to grind out a yard, Snyder instructed Kealy to go over the top to Heap, who rumbled all the way to the 3-yard line.

"We knew they were expecting the run," said Heap, who had seven receptions for 100 yards. "I just got by the safety. Kealy threw a great pass, and I got up and got it."

"On the next play, Redmond again found paydirt. Trying to recover from the earlier missed extra point, Kealy attempted a two-point conversion but his pass fell incomplete. Nonetheless, the Sun Devils held a 19-7 lead and the game's momentum.

After each team proceeded to go three-and-out on its next possession, the Trojans began to feel a sense of urgency. Operating from his own 14, Fox hit Windrell Hayes for 56 yards on the longest play of the game. That set up a 29-yard field goal attempt by Newbury, who connected and atoned for his earlier miss. USC would have to be content heading into the locker room trailing 19-10.

Both defenses would clamp down during the third quarter and early stages of the fourth as neither team scored. The Sun Devils repeatedly went to their workhorse Redmond, who piled up yardage and ate away at the clock in front of over 50 family members and friends in attendance. However, with 9:15 to play in the fourth, Kealy attempted a rare pass which was intercepted by Ennis Davis and returned 30 yards down the right sideline and into the end zone. Newbury missed the extra point, leaving his team down 19-16.

After thwarting ASU on its next possession, Southern California began a drive from its own territory and faced a third-and-15 with 6:30 remaining. Mike Van Raaphorst, substituting for an ineffective Fox, had his pass tipped by ASU's Ryan Reilly and hauled in by reserve defensive end Mike Pinkard. The redshirt freshman returned the errant pass 35 yards to the USC four-yard line for an apparent game-sealer. But a goal-line stand by the Trojans followed by a missed field goal by Baker (his second of the game) gave the home team reason for hope.

However, the Sun Devil defense continued its aggressive play the next time USC touched the ball, forcing the Trojans to punt. Kealy then made up for his earlier interception by connecting with Richard Williams for 31 yards. Redmond did the rest of the work, rushing for 14 yards on each of the next two plays. He found the end zone for a third time on his final carry to insure victory over the Trojans and keep Arizona State's Rose Bowl hopes alive.

Game Notes:

- The victory over USC was Arizona State's third in its past four games.
- The Sun Devils surrendered only 56 points during that span (14.0 ppg).
- Todd Heap recorded his second 100-yard receiving game of the season.
- J.R. Redmond notched the seventh multiple-touchdown game of his career.
- Redmond was named Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts.

Stanford 50, Arizona State 30

November 13, 1999

Sun Devil Stadium/Frank Kush Field

Attendance: 53,663

Weather: 91 degrees

It was Arizona State's homecoming game, but Stanford made itself right at home and easily rolled to a 50-30 victory over the Sun Devils. With the loss, ASU eliminated itself from the Rose Bowl, but it put Stanford one win away from its first trip to Pasadena in 28 years.

Cardinal quarterback Todd Husak was 20-of-35 for 311 yards with four touchdowns to four different receivers. Add into that fullback Casey Moore's two scores and it is easy to understand why Stanford's offense came into the game ranked No. 2 in the nation.

ASU also put up good numbers, as quarterback Ryan Kealy was 24-of-46 for 324 yards and three touchdowns, two passing and one rushing. But too many of ASU's mistakes marred a few bright performances, such as Davaren Hightower's punt return for a 78-yard score, Todd Heap's seven catches for 97 yards or Richard Williams' four catches for 77 yards and a touchdown.

Instead the Sun Devils are left to mull over tight end Kendrick Bates' fumble in the third quarter that Cardinal Willie Howard returned for a touchdown, or a high snap on a punt that resulted in a safety for Stanford. ASU also muffed a punt, had a field goal blocked and Kealy's one interception led to Stanford's scoring on the next play.

"We helped them so much; we just self-destructed," Sun Devil Head Coach Bruce Snyder said. "Then the lead got out of hand and we never established that we owned the line of scrimmage."

Stanford got on the board early and often, forcing Arizona State to play catch-up from the outset. On the game's first possession, the Cardinal capped a methodical 15 play, 80 yard drive with a Husak to DeRonnie Pitts touchdown pass at the 9:25 mark of the first quarter. The senior wide receiver was Husak's favorite target during the opening drive, catching three passes for 28 yards including the six-yard score.

The Sun Devils would respond on the ensuing possession with a Stephen Baker field goal, set up in large part by a 25 yard J.R. Redmond run.

However, Stanford's high-powered offense and ASU's penchant for allowing big plays would be exposed the next time the Cardinal touched the ball. Thirty-three seconds and two plays was all the visitors needed to pull ahead 14-3. Husak connected with Moore for 22 yards, then found a wide-open Dave Davis for a 58 yard TD strike.

In the second quarter, Arizona State's defense would clamp down, but untimely mistakes would help Stanford maintain its lead. On the second play of the quarter, Kealy's had a pass intercepted by Andrew Currie and returned to the ASU 6. Husak then flipped a screen pass to Moore, who rumbled over Sun Devils Adam Archuleta and Courtney Jackson and for the score.

Down 21-3, Arizona State needed a score on its next possession; instead, it got a snap that went over punter Nick Murphy's head into the end zone. Instead of risking a Cardinal recovery for a touchdown, Murphy wisely batted the ball out of bounds, conceding a two-point safety.

The Sun Devil defense then got a much-needed stop on Stanford's next possession, forcing the Cardinal three-and-out. On offense, ASU showed its first signs of life since its opening drive. Facing a fourth-and-three, Arizona State made a gutsy call to go over the middle to Todd Heap, who picked up 15 yards. After a couple productive runs by Delvon Flowers, Kealy scrambled in the end zone to bring his team within 13 at 23-10.

After Stanford retaliated with a field goal, ASU made its second special teams blunder of the quarter when Baker's field goal was blocked by Dave Davis.

However, the Sun Devil special teamers would redeem themselves when Hightower took a punt return 78 yards for a touchdown with 1:27 to play in the half and send the home crowd into a frenzy. Despite all the miscues, Arizona State headed into the locker room down only 26-17.

The Devils began third quarter play with the ball and the momentum, but proceeded to go three-and-out. Husak continued to have the hot hand, hitting All-Pac-10 receiver Troy Walters for gains of 18 and 19 yards to set up a Casey Moore one yard scoring run.

Once again facing a crucial possession, the ASU offense committed another costly mistake. On third down, Kealy hit senior tight end Kendrick Bates, who had the ball stripped by linebacker Mark Stockbauer. Stanford defensive end Willie Howard picked up the loose ball and went 22 yards to give his squad a convincing 40-17 lead at the 8:35 mark.

An impressive Kealy to Richard Williams 32 yard touchdown strike gave Arizona State some life on its next trip down the field, but the home team was forced to play catch up the rest of the way.

"Once they got that big lead ... we needed to throw the ball," ASU offensive lineman Scott Peters said. "We had to go out and match their points."

Husak pushed his squad's lead back to 23 with his fourth touchdown toss of the game, this time finding All-Pac-10 receiver Troy Walters on a 27 yarder with :25 to go in the third.

The Sun Devils refused to go down without a fight at the start of the fourth quarter as Kealy hit Davaren Hightower, recently converted from tailback to flanker due to injuries, on an 18 yard TD pass. However, a fumbled punt return by Hightower on the ensuing Stanford possession and a late Cardinal field goal dashed any hopes of a miraculous comeback by ASU.

"Disregard the score," Snyder said. "The performance is what is so painful."

Game Notes: Husak's four touchdown passes were a career high

• The 50 points scored by Stanford were the most surrendered by ASU at home since a 1994 loss to UCLA

• Kealy's five-yard run into the end zone during the second quarter was the first rushing touchdown of his career.

1999 Review

Arizona State 42, UofA 27 Saturday, November 27, 1999 Sun Devil Stadium/Frank Kush Field

Attendance: 68,102

Weather: 68 degrees, clear

The Arizona State football team said Aloha with a triumphant 42-27 win over the Arizona Wildcats that garnered the Sun Devils an invitation to play in the Jeep Aloha Bowl in Hawaii Christmas Day.

The win was ASU's first victory over the UofA in three years and its fifth in the past 18 games. The win put ASU at 6-5 overall and 5-3 in the Pac-10 Conference. The bowl game will be the Sun Devils' third bowl game in four years, head coach Bruce Snyder's third bowl in eight tries and his fourth winning season in five years.

"After the game, I stood in the locker room and said, 'Let's just feel this for 30 seconds,'" Snyder said. "I'm terribly proud of this team."

The rivalry showdown was as intense as ever and big plays were made by both teams. ASU started the scoring first after quarterback Ryan Kealy threw a 51-yard touchdown pass to Richard Williams at 11:14 in the first quarter. Arizona then took a 14-7 lead after getting two 80-yard touchdown plays with an 80-run by Trung Canidate and an 80-yard pass from quarterback Keith Smith to Dennis Northcutt.

The Sun Devils didn't let the Wildcats' big plays shake them though as ASU marched 87 yards in 10 plays, with Kealy hitting Williams for a 39-yard pass and Delvon Flowers rushing for 22 yards to set up a 4-yard touchdown run by Flowers that tied the game at 14-14 going into the half.

Arizona's Sean Keel missed a 42-yard field goal at the end of the second quarter, an omen of what was yet in store for the Wildcats. ASU came out looking even stronger in the second half and put together a 38-yard touchdown run for Flowers' second score of the day. Flowers finished the game 15 carries for 106 yards.

On the Sun Devils' next drive Snyder called for a play the team had waited for three years to use. ASU made it 28-14 after a field-goal fake led to a Kealy-to-Todd Heap 28-yard touchdown pass. Heap finished the game with seven receptions for 170 yards, a touchdown and a school record. Heap's 50 receptions are the most by a tight end in a single season in Sun Devil history.

"I think trick plays are fun and important in big games, but they are what I call high-yield and high-risk and can easily blow up in your face. Our guys were just ready to play," Snyder said.

Arizona put the score at 28-20 after Northcutt returned a punt by Stephen Baker for an 81-yard score with 1:37 left in the third quarter. As if Northcutt's touchdown didn't hurt the Sun Devils enough, Kealy was sacked in the series before which led to a right knee injury that kept him out for the remainder of the game.

In the fourth quarter backup quarterback John Leonard threw his first career touchdown pass to Williams, a 45-yarder to put the Sun Devils up 35-27. The game was all ASU from that point on and J.R. Redmond ended his last game at Sun Devil Stadium in style as he ran through the Wildcats for a 10-yard score with 1:53 left in the game.

Williams finished the game with six catches for 149 yards and two scores, while Redmond had 23 carries for 116 yards and one touchdown.

Game Notes:

- The 558 yards of total offense ASU collected was a season high
- With Todd Heap (7-170) and Richard Williams (6-149) both going over 100 yards against UA, it marked the second time in consecutive games against UA that ASU had two 100-yard receivers (last year Kenny Mitchell 9-170 and Craig Spann 9-108)
- ASU finished the '99 campaign with its fourth winning season in five years and its third bowl berth on four years

Aloha Bowl – Wake Forest 23, ASU 3

December 25, 1999

Aloha Stadium

Attendance: 40,970

Weather: 80 degrees and fair

Christmas in paradise turned out to be anything but merry for Arizona State, which fell to Wake Forest 23-3 in the Aloha Bowl on Dec. 25, 1999. The Sun Devils, rewarded with the trip to Honolulu after trouncing rival Arizona in the regular season finale, finished the year with a 6-6 record.

The Aloha Bowl was a tale of two halves, with the first playing itself out as a defensive struggle. The Demon Deacons set the tone on the game's first possession, forcing ASU three-and-out.

Setting up at its own 25, Wake quickly advanced the ball into Sun Devil territory thanks to three first-down passes from quarterback Ben Sankey. All-ACC running back Morgan Kane then broke off his longest run of the game, a 26-yard burst down the left side to the five-yard line. Arizona State was able to thwart the drive with a 16-yard sack by freshman linebacker Mason Unck as the Deacons were forced to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Matthew Burdick.

Burdick would miss a 47-yard attempt later in the first quarter in Wake Forest's only other serious scoring chance of the half.

Meanwhile ASU found its offense stuck in neutral until the opening stages of the second quarter, when junior quarterback Griffin Goodman, starting his first Division I game, connected with tight end Brian Jennings for 11 yards. Three sizeable gains by J.R. Redmond later, the Devils found themselves at the Wake Forest 30. However like the Deacons earlier, ASU had to settle for a field goal as Mike Barth sent one through the uprights from 46 yards out to knot the score at three.

That's where it would remain at the half, obviously to the dismay of both teams' offensive coordinators.

In the third quarter Wake Forest took advantage of a big play on special teams to get its offense in gear. ASU, forced three-and-out on its first possession of the half, had the ensuing punt by Nick Murphy blocked by the Deacons' Melvin Chalmers and downed at their own 36. Wake drove all the way to the seven yard line before Burdick chipped in a 24-yarder.

The ASU offense then appeared to receive its wake up call when Redmond powered his way for 38 yards on a critical third-and-three situation to advance the ball to midfield. On the next play, reserve tailback Gerald Green scampered to the Wake 35, but the drive would stall when newly-inserted quarterback John Leonard was sacked by Bryan Ray. Barth then missed a 42-yard field attempt which would have knotted the score at six.

The Demon Deacons took over at their own 24. Four plays later Sankey connected with wide receiver Jimmy Caldwell over the middle. The son of Wake Forest Head Coach Jim Caldwell split the secondary and raced 56 yards to put his team ahead 13-7 with 4:13 remaining in the third.

From that point on the Deacon defense would clamp down, surrendering just three more first downs and not allowing the Sun Devils to advance past midfield.

"We did not make enough plays to win this game," ASU Head Coach Bruce Snyder said. "Wake Forest also did a great job in not allowing us to make plays. We just couldn't get any rhythm."

On offense Wake continually fed the ball to Kane, who finished with 83 yards, and increased the lead to 20-7 with his dive over the goal line at the 11:11 mark of the fourth quarter.

A late field goal by Burdick, his third of the game, would ensure Wake Forest (7-5) of its first winning season since 1992.

Arizona State, which racked up 558 yards of total offense against Arizona, managed just 164 in the Aloha Bowl. Redmond was responsible for 89 of those, and finished his stellar collegiate career as ASU's third all-time leading rusher.

Game Notes:

- ASU's third bowl appearance in the past four seasons
- ASU's three points were its fewest since a 1995 game against USC
- Redmond finished his collegiate career with 3,223 rushing yards
- Ten Sun Devils, including quarterback John Leonard and safety Kenny Williams, contracted food poisoning the night before the game
- ASU starting quarterback Ryan Kealy did not participate in the Aloha Bowl due to a torn ACL suffered in the regular season finale against Arizona

Media Information

Sun Devil Media Relations Office

Under the supervision of Assistant Athletic Director for Media Relations Mark Brand, Associate Sports Information Director Doug Tammaro, Assistant Sports Information Directors Sean Moore, Rhonda Lundin, Will Phillips, Jeff Evans, Intern Ben Alkaly and undergraduate student interns Ben Fishbane, Brian Laesch, Justin McLean, Erika Nottingham, Kristen O'Halloran, Randy Policar and Andy Wright, the Sun Devil media relations office strives to serve as intermediary between Sun Devil athletics and the media and general public in the most cooperative and professional manner possible.

Credentials

Outlets who held credentials for the 1999 Sun Devil home football season need only contact Doug Tammaro at 480-965-5799 to renew for 2000.

First-time requests should be made in writing on appropriate letterhead as soon as possible, but no later than two weeks before the desired game.

Direct correspondence to Doug Tammaro, Associate Director for Media Relations, Intercollegiate Athletics Complex, Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona 85287-2505.

Every effort will be made to mail credentials so wading through "will call" lines on game day can be avoided.

Mid-Week Practices

Generally, the Sun Devils practice from 4-6 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday. All practices are open to the media. Players and coaches are usually available for brief interviews after practice.

Mid-Week Interviews

ASU head coach Bruce Snyder asks that all interview requests with coaches and student-athletes be channeled through the media relations office for the convenience of all.

Road Game Credentials

Requests for credentials to ASU road games should be made through the media relations director of the host school. Mark Brand also should be notified of your travel intentions in order to confirm credentials requests with opponent sports information directors.

Parking

Press parking is located in Structure 5, a parking garage directly south of Sun Devil Stadium. A desire for parking passes should be stated in the credential(s) requests.

Sun Devil Stadium Press Box

The state-of-the-art Sun Devil Stadium press box, in just its eighth season of use, is one of the premier facilities of its kind in the nation. The fully air conditioned box is located atop the upper deck of the west side of the stadium. The press box is one level, with the exception of an open photography deck on the roof. The main writer's area is located at midfield and to the right of the elevator. Booth space flanks the large central working area. A separate eating area is to the right of the elevator, directly behind the working press area. Rest rooms are to the left of the elevator. Direct-dial telephones are located at approximately every other seat.

Will Call

"Will Call" for Sun Devil home football games is located at the south end zone ticket office. It opens one and one-half hours before kickoff.

Meals

A complimentary meal and soft drinks are served to media members beginning one and one-half hours before kickoff.

Press Box Services

Olson Statistical Services will again provide all statistical information in the Sun Devil Stadium press box. The normal play-by-play account, halftime statistics, final statistics, game notes, and coaches' quotes will be distributed. Also, a play-by-play account of down and distance will be provided verbally over the press box public address system and over a hard line for radio and television. Scores of other games are also available.

Photographers

Sideline access is restricted to working photographers from media outlets according to NCAA rules. On game day, photographers must show their credential to the attendant at the southwest end zone in order to secure a second credential. Both credentials must be worn for sideline access.

Postgame Interviews

The Sun Devil weightroom is utilized for post-game interviews for ASU players and coaches. Head coach Bruce Snyder and requested student-athletes will be available to the media for as long as necessary following a brief "cooling off" period immediately after the final gun sounds. ASU's locker room is closed. Those desiring interviews with the opposing coach and players should proceed to the north end of Sun Devil Stadium to the visitor's locker room.

InfoConnection

The Pacific-10 Conference, in its continuing effort to provide the media with comprehensive, timely and up-to-date information, subscribes to the fax-on-demand system called InfoConnection. The InfoConnection system allows members of the media to receive via fax machine media releases in all sports. Information is 24-hour accessible, and all that is needed is a fax machine.

For complete information on the system and to receive the catalog, call the Pac-10 offices at 925-932-4411.

Press Access

The press gate is located at the southwest corner of Sun Devil Stadium. The elevator to the press box is situated on the west side of the stadium at the main concourse level.

Telephones

Approximately 60 telephones are available to the media in the seating area of the press box. All telephones are for credit card or collect calls only. In addition, three pay telephones are located in the rear of the press box for private telephone calls. To install telephones in the Sun Devil Stadium press box, contact US West at 1-800-603-6000. Radio stations installing phones for broadcasts should specify the usage by indicating the need for a radio loop for broadcasting and should use Mark Brand's name as the contact.

Real-Time Data Rights

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of Arizona State's rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and your agreement to abide by any restrictions Arizona State may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by Arizona State may result in revocation of press credentials. Arizona State reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the Internet.

As part of the package between ABC Sports, Fox Sports Net and the Pac-10 Conference, Arizona State will make several appearances on television in 2000. Three games in the 2000 season are already slated for national television. They are the season-opener at San Diego State on ESPN2, the Sept. 30 game at UCLA on FoxSportsNet and the season-finale on Nov. 24 at Arizona on FoxSportsNet. The Sun Devils made eight live television appearances in 1999, including four national telecasts. In the last four years, ASU has been on TV 32 times.

ASU begins its third season of expanded Sun Devil coverage on Fox Sports Net Arizona. Tom Dillon and Doug Plank bring several Sun Devil games into more than 1.2 million homes in Arizona and New Mexico on a Sunday replay, if not live. Fox Sports Net Arizona also carries a bi-weekly Sun Devil magazine show, "Running With the Devils." Fox Sports Net Arizona is the regional partner for the Fox Sports Net's live Pac-10 game of the week. Those live games air at either 3:30 or 7:15 p.m. (PT).

The Sun Devil Sports Network

Radio

Few things in sports are more exciting than a touchdown call from the home team's radio play-by-play broadcaster. As the exclusive broadcast group of Arizona State Athletics, the Sun Devil Sports Network brings ASU fans each Sun Devil touchdown.

The Sun Devil Sports Network is anchored by the strongest AM signal in the state, ASU's flagship station, SportsRadio 550 KGME. In addition, the coverage of Arizona State football reaches all of Phoenix, the Flagstaff and Los Angeles markets, plus most of the state of Arizona.

Led by the "Voice of the Sun Devils," Tim Healey, the Sun Devil Sports Network team of broadcasters brings over 30 years experience in covering ASU Athletics.

Pac-10 Conference

Pac-10 Bowl Game Arrangements/Selection Procedures 2000-2001

College football entered a new era in 1998 as the Pac-10, Big Ten and Rose Bowl became associated with the Bowl Championship Series.

For this season, the Pac-10 champion will take its accustomed place in the Rose Bowl, unless it is ranked as one of the top two teams in the nation at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, the Pac-10 Champion would play in the National Championship Game, which is to be played in the FedEx Orange Bowl this season. Should the Pac-10 Champion be ranked one or two and go out to play in the National Championship Game at the FedEx Orange Bowl, the Rose Bowl will fill that berth with another team from the Bowl Championship Series pool. That could be a second Pac-10 team, but would not necessarily be so.

Regardless of the disposition of the Pac-10 Champion, a second Pac-10 team may be selected for an at-large berth in the Bowl Championship Series in any given year. Pac-10 agreements with its other bowl partners provide for that occurrence.

Agreements are in place with the Culligan Holiday, Wells Fargo Sun, Jeep Aloha and Jeep O'ahu bowls to place four Pac-10 teams in bowl games after the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl or the National Championship Game.

Following is a summary of Pac-10 bowl agreements and selection procedures for the 1999-2000 season.

1. Rose Bowl - The Pac-10 Champion goes to the Rose Bowl, unless such Champion is ranked number one or two in the nation at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, it would play in the National Championship Game in the FedEx Orange Bowl.
2. Culligan Holiday Bowl - After the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl (or BCS Championship Game), the Culligan Holiday Bowl receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Culligan Holiday Bowl has the right to select from between or among the tied teams.
3. Wells Fargo Sun Bowl - After the Pac-10 champion to the Rose Bowl (or BCS Championship Game) and a second Pac-10 team to the Culligan Holiday Bowl, the Wells Fargo Sun Bowl receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Wells Fargo Sun Bowl has the right to select from between or among the tied teams.
- 4/5. Jeep Aloha Bowl and Jeep O'ahu Bowl - After the berths in the Rose, Culligan Holiday and Wells Fargo Sun Bowls are filled, Bowl Games of Hawaii, consisting of the Jeep Aloha Bowl and Jeep O'ahu Bowl, receive the next two highest remaining teams in the Pac-10 standings. Bowl Games of Hawaii, in consultation with the Conference and ABC Sports, will determine which Pac-10 team is assigned to each game.
